BANK TO SEND RFC FINAL PLEA FOR SELF RULE

Continental Board to Meet Today.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Directors of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company will meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon to draft a final plea to the Reconstruction Finance corporation against the appointment by that body of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Walter J. Cummings as chairman of the bank's board of directors.

JESSE H. JONES.

This meeting has been called for the purpose of hearing the report of the special committee on recapitalization which was named to select a chairman and to give the directors as a whole the opportunity to issue further orders to this group.

On Sunday the committee will make another trip to Washington to meet Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the RFC, and other administration officials in a last attempt to prevent the Cummings appointment.

Jones Is Cummings Sponsor.

Meanwhile it was learned yesterday that despite Mr. Jones' repeated assertions that the RFC would not interfere in the management of banks in which the RFC buys preferred stock, it is Jones who has sponsored Cummings and it was Jones who balked the election by the directors of George A. Ranney, vice chairman of the Commonwealth Edison company and former treasurer of the International Harvester company.

The first indication that the Reconstruction Finance corporation had a candidate for the job of chairman of the Continental bank came on Nov. 16, when the members of the directors' committee charged with finding a new chairman were in Washington conferring with Chairman Jones.

"Have you ever thought of Walter Cummings?" Jones asked the directors.

They admitted that they hadn't and the subject was dropped temporarily. Two or three weeks later, however, the directors, in session in Chicago again had occasion to confer with Jones on this subject—this time by long distance telephone. Again the chairman of the RFC inquired whether the directors had considered Cummings.

Ranney Is Eliminated.

During this time Mr. Ranney, the directors' candidate, was rapidly being eliminated by the dealing of cards which at that time were not visible to the directors of the bank.

On Oct. 13 the directors had agreed to accede to the administration's demand that the bank's capital stock be increased. They voted to sell $50,000,000 of preferred stock to the RFC and to write down the outstanding common stock from $75,000,000 to $25,000,000, thereby giving the RFC two-thirds of the total voting rights.

They took this step on the oral assurance from Jones that the RFC would not use its stock ownership as an excuse to interfere with the management of the bank. The bank's incorporation papers, it was agreed would have to be amended to make possible the preferred stock issuance. Various amendments were agreed upon by the RFC and the directors and were to be submitted to the stockholders at a special meeting on Dec. 20.

The directors were assured by the RFC—again verbally—that in case other big banks later were given more liberal terms on their sale of preferred stock to the RFC the terms for the Continental bank would be revised so that it, too, would benefit by such liberal terms.

No Hint of Opposition.

The directors held several meetings between that time and the day of the stockholders' meeting, Dec. 20, and were in frequent communication with Chairman Jones and other officers of the RFC. They received no hint that they were to be "cracked down" upon.

As late as Dec. 12 they conferred with Jones personally, again receiving verbal assurance that there would be no RFC interference with the management of the bank. Jones was in Chicago that day to address the annual meeting of the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

On the morning of Dec. 20 the direc

ALDERMEN ASK CITY'S WILL ON LIQUOR CONTROL

Urge a Referendum at April Primary.

MAYOR TO CONFER

Another attempt to settle the argument between Mayor Kelly and Gov. Horner on the liquor control bill will be made today. Mayor Kelly left for Springfield last night. Meanwhile Gov. Horner reiterated his stand for abolition of the saloon and seven Republican senators wired President Roosevelt urging him to intervene. Page 4.

The city council yesterday went on record in favor of a referendum at the April primary that would permit Chicagoans to express their opinions on questions of liquor control that have arisen since the repeal of prohibition. The action was in line with the stand taken by Mayor Kelly on Tuesday. The mayor said he would rather have a referendum than to agree at this time to a legislative measure for a state liquor commission, such as that now pending in Springfield.

The resolution advocating a referendum, introduced at the council meeting by Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th], was adopted by unanimous vote. It directs the committees on license and judiciary to hold public hearings to get the views of various groups, and afterwards to prepare questions of public policy on different phases of liquor regulation. When the questions have been formulated the council can by ordinance authorize their submission to the voters.

Ald. Arvey Explains Plan.

"Meanwhile," said Ald. Arvey, "we should continue in effect our existing liquor ordinance, amending it from time to time as its faults are disclosed, to avoid a state of chaos that would result from the mushroom opening of thousands of retail liquor establishments.

"Whatever control methods are adopted will affect vitally the residents of Chicago, and they should be permitted to express their ideas. Personally, I favor a saloon on a business street with the interior open to the public gaze instead of the speakeasies that exist in cities where state liquor commissions are in control. The public by April will have had a reasonable time to observe the effect of repeal and know its mind."

"Since there has been some confusion on this subject," said Ald. John S. Clark [30th], "I want to make it clear that this is not a question of saloons but a question of home rule. The matter of saloons can be debated after the city gets home rule."

Recalls Democratic Platform.

"The Democratic party platform carried a provision declaring for municipal home rule," said Ald. James J. McDermott [14th]. "That plank is just as sacred as the one declaring against the return of the saloon."

Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th] summed up the issue of home rule versus state dictation in these words:

"After all, the responsibility created by repeal in so far as it affects the residents of Chicago rests with the mayor and the aldermen."

Undoubtedly, according to the aldermen, one of the principal questions of public policy in an April referendum would be whether Chicagoans want home rule in liquor matters, even though the legislature already had acted. Other questions, it was said, probably would include the conduct of saloons, whether there should be drinking at tables or at bars, and with or without food.

Resolution Asks Home Rule.

A second resolution unanimously adopted by the council asked the legislature to give Chicago "full and unrestricted authority to license and regulate the sale of liquor" within its own boundaries. This resolution was submitted by a group of ten aldermen.

A third resolution, introduced by Ald. Henry Sonnenschein [22d], was referred to the license committee. It asks that the state give Chicago the right to set up a city liquor control commission that would have full authority to issue and revoke liquor licenses.

After considerable debate Ald. O. E. Northrup [19th] got the council to approve a new dry district. This is the area bounded by Stewart avenue and 97th, 103d and Morgan streets. It is the sixth dry district approved.

A petition for another dry district was referred to the license committee.

[Copyright: 1934: By the New York Times.]

MONTE CARLO, Jan. 3.—Just after number thirteen came up at one of the roulette tables in the Casino during the height of play this afternoon a croupier went insane. In a frenzy he grabbed two handfuls of 10,000 franc chips, threw them in all directions, and began laughing wildly and clapping his hands like a child.

A "suicide brigade" suddenly appeared from a blind door in the wall and dragged the frantic man away. Meanwhile customers were diving for the 10,000 franc chips and a number of them were not recovered. Another croupier stepped up, called for bets, and within a few moments play was resumed.

Nazis Imprison Man for Selling Goods Too Cheaply

Ask U. S. Aid for European Export Trade

Convinced that return of prosperity and re-employment must be accomplished largely through stimulation of private enterprise, The Tribune on Christmas day inaugurated a new policy. Instructions were sent to Tribune foreign correspondents in all parts of the world to begin immediately the seeking out of information which will aid the United States in the recovery and extension of foreign markets for its agricultural and industrial products.

Here are the first two of the series of dispatches, in which, at various times during this year, Tribune men will tell of foreign trade conditions and possible openings for American business.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 3.—When Secretary of State Cordell Hull returns to Washington from his South American travels, he will find on his desk an important letter from the American Chamber of Commerce in London. The letter asks the help of the state department in saving American export trade from the effects of the new British customs policy, which is making the export of American goods to this country more difficult and in some cases impossible.

This is the policy of adding all costs to invoices and assessing duties on the selling values in England instead of, as is the American customs practice, on the wholesale price in the country of origin. In other words, American tariffs are levied on the invoice price f. o. b. England, while in England tariffs are levied on c. i. f. and a lot of other things when landed in England.

Blow at American Goods.

This bears particularly heavily on American firms with their own offices and selling staffs in England, to whom goods are often consigned. In a recent case a great steel company was forced to submit to having added to its invoiced price on goods shipped direct to the customer in England, an added value calculated to cover the costs of the office and selling force in London.

It would not be so bad, either, if the practice were consistent or if fair warning were given when a change is contemplated. The British customs treat each shipment individually and the importer does not know what he will have to pay until the appraisers get through. The effect of this is that although British tariff rates look small in comparison with American rates, when these extras are added to the

A SOLDIER WANTS TO DO DUTY, BUT CAN'T AFFORD IT

Philip Keeler, 30 years old, a private in the 3d Field artillery at Fort Sheridan, whose regular army pay is $17.85 per month, sent word to the crime commission yesterday that he wants to do his duty but he can't afford round trips to Chicago at $1.25 each to testify against three robbers.

Keeler was a watchman in a store at 1751 West 95th street until the latter part of last October. One night three robbers entered and obtained about $150 after threatening to kill him. The three were arrested later the same night, while looting another store. They gave their names as Charles Kelly, William Calipoy, and Oscar Nyquist. Keeler identified two of them as the robbers who threatened him.

The prisoners were indicted and after obtaining a change of venue from Judge Walter Steffen to Judge Grover C. Niemeyer their trials were set for Jan. 8. Private Keeler told the crime commission that he made two trips to the Criminal court, at his own expense, and is scheduled to appear again Jan. 8. He was advised that he must pay his own transportation as in criminal cases in Illinois witnesses receive neither pay nor mileage.

WILLS BREWERY STOCK TO W.C.T.U. HEAD FOR BIBLE

Denver, Colo., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Five shares of stock in a brewing company, to be used as a Bible marker, was the bequest to Mrs. Adrianna Hungerford, Colorado president of the W. C. T. U., by Charles F. Hoeckel, in his will, filed today.

The will explains that the bequest was made "because Mrs. Hungerford insisted on the district attorney once putting me in jail for printing a liquor list."

Diggers Miss 50 Bushels of Potatoes; Rain Doesn't

Arcadia, Cal., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Albert Angus, rancher, recently had his potatoes dug. Last week the diggers went home. Over the week-end there were torrential rains—the most severe in 57 years of weather bureau history. Then the rain stopped. Angus discovered Jupe Pluvius had dug up 50 bushels of potatoes the diggers missed.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO JOINT SESSION

"I come before you at the opening of the regular session of the 73d congress, not to make requests for special or detailed items of legislation; I come, rather, to counsel with you, who, like myself, have been selected to carry out a mandate of the whole people, in order that without partisanship you and I may coöperate to continue the restoration of our national well-being and, equally important, to build on the ruins of the past a new structure designed better to meet the present problems of modern civilization.

Affects Entire Nation.

"Such a structure includes not only the relations of industry and agriculture and finance to each other, but also the effect which all of these three have on our individual citizens and on the whole people as a nation.

"Now that we are definitely in the process of recovery, lines have been rightly drawn between those to whom this recovery means a return to old methods—and the number of these people is small—and those for whom recovery means a reform of many old methods, a permanent readjustment of many of our ways of thinking and therefore of many of our social and economic arrangements.

Must Go Forward.

"Civilization cannot go back; civilization must not stand still. We have undertaken new methods. It is our task to perfect, to improve, to alter when necessary, but in all cases to go forward. To consolidate what we are doing, to make our economic and social structure capable of dealing with modern life is the joint task of the legislative, the judicial, and the executive branches of the national government.

"Without regard to party, the overwhelming majority of our people seek a greater opportunity for humanity to prosper and find happiness. They recognize that human welfare has not increased and does not increase through mere materialism and luxury, but that it does progress through integrity, unselfishness, responsibility, and justice.

Sacrifices and Benefits.

"In the last few months, as a result of our action, we have demanded of many citizens that they surrender certain licenses to do as they pleased in their business relationships; but we have asked this in exchange for the protection which the state can

TELLS MONEY POLICY; WANTS LASTING NRA

Old Regime Gone, Congress Hears.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Amid scenes of tumultuous acclaim rarely witnessed in the venerable capitol President Roosevelt, appearing today before a joint session of the houses of the Seventy-third congress, read a message sketching the progress of his recovery program and defining the aspirations of the New Deal.

He proclaimed his resolve, with the coöperation of congress, to push forward the establishment of a new social and economic order upon the lines already laid down by the legislation creating the NRA, the AAA, and other collectivist institutions evolved by the bloodless revolution of which he acknowledges himself the leader.

Where Opinions Divide.

Only a few individualists, according to the President, are opposing the development of the collectivist régime which is to accomplish a redistribution of the national income.

"Now that we are definitely in the process of recovery," Mr. Roosevelt said, "lines have been rightly drawn between those to whom this recovery means a return to old methods—and the number of these people is small—and those for whom recovery means a reform of many old methods, a permanent readjustment of many of our ways of thinking, and therefore many of our social and economic arrangements."

Greeted with Applause.

When he entered the chamber of the house the President was received with a wave of applause, in which the Republican senators and representatives to a man joined their Democratic colleagues, who were loosing cheers punctuated by the rebel yell. When he concluded his twenty-one minute address the President was applauded by all the Democrats and not a few Republicans. In interviews afterward fulsome praise of the message was voiced by Democrats, mild criticism by some Republicans.

The impression one carried from the scene was that here is a President to whom congress is disposed to accord every chance to make good his confident undertaking to pull the country out of the depression. At the pinnacle of his popularity Mr. Roosevelt, circumstances seemed to indicate, will obtain pretty nearly everything he wants from congress. "Give the President a chance" is the popular refrain.

Crowds Around Capitol.

Enormous crowds inside and outside of the capitol were attracted by the decision of Mr. Roosevelt to follow the precedent of Woodrow Wilson in reviving the custom of personal delivery of messages which had been ignored from the time of John Adams.

The message Mr. Roosevelt read was far different from the customary annual message reporting "the state of the Union." The President indulged in no elaborate review of conditions and treated the recovery effort only in the most general terms. Nor did he make any specific recommendations of legislation such as his predecessors were wont to incorporate in the annual message. These Mr. Roosevelt is reserving for a short special message on each topic or for initiation in congress without any formal recommendation at all.

What Message Indicates.

The purposes he did shadow forth in his message may be summarized as follows:

1. Permanent government supervised industrial organization along the lines of the NRA.
2. Continuation of the experiment to raise the purchasing power of farmers along the lines of the AAA.
3. Devaluation of the dollar and establishment of a managed currency.
4. Stabilization of the monetary unit in foreign exchange by international agreement.
5. Removal of marginal lands from cultivation.
6. Decentralization of industry from urban centers to rural regions.
7. Tariff readjustments that will preclude "large favorable trade balances by any one nation."
8. Report to congress status of war debts owed the United States.
9. Prevention of evasion of the "spirit and purpose" of the tax laws.
10. Regulation of speculation.
11. Federal aid to suppress banditry, lynching, and kidnaping.
12. Relief of unemployment through "publicly supported work."
13. Organization of consumers to

In explanation of his dollar depreciation policy the President contented himself with a single sentence, in which he said that his gold purchase operations have "the twofold purpose of strengthening the whole financial structure and of arriving eventually at a medium of exchange which will have over the years less variable purchasing and debt paying power for our people than that of the past."

Thus he renewed his proposal of a commodity dollar, the value of which will be variable, while the level of commodity prices remains virtually constant.

That there have been unsuccessful negotiations to bring about a stabilization of the dollar in foreign exchange by international agreement was disclosed by implication when he said "certain of our sister nations" have been found "so handicapped by internal and other conditions" that they could not enter into such an arrangement. This refers particularly to Great Britain and France, both of which rejected recent suggestions of stabilization made by American monetary authorities. That such advances were being made a month or more ago was denied at the time by administration officials.

Philosophy of Ne wDeal.

All through the message ran the thread of the philosophy of the New Deal. Equally important as recovery from the depression, said the President, is to "build on the ruins of the past a new structure designed better to meet the present problems of modern civilization." The new deal in business has been brought about, Mr. Roosevelt explained, by causing business men "to surrender certain licenses to do as they pleased," in consideration of protection against "exploitation by their fellow men or by combinations of their fellow men."

Under the new dispensation "reasonable profits can be earned while at the same time protection can be assured to guarantee to labor adequate pay and proper conditions of work." The aim is to eliminate cut throat competition from industry, while preventing combinations in restraint of trade.

The NRA is a temporary institution limited by law to a life of two years, but the President looks upon it as "a permanent feature of our modern industrial structure" that will be continued "under the supervision, but not the arbitrary dictation of government itself."

Would Salvage Some Devices.

From the old individualistic order of unrestricted capitalism, the President would save "useful mechanical invention, machine production, industrial efficiency, modern means of communication, broad education." In the new order there is no room for "the unnecessary expansion of industrial plants," which leads to overproduction; "the waste of natural resources," such as unregulated production of oil; "the exploitation of the consumers of natural monopolies," such as electric power; "the accumulation of stagnant surpluses," of farm products, for example; "child labor and the ruthless exploitation of all labor; the encouragement of speculation with other people's money." These, said the President, have been destroyed in the economic cataclysm they caused, and they must not be allowed to spring up again.

Almost every paragraph of the address was greeted with tremendous applause and there was an outburst of cheers in addition when the President emphasized that Finland is the only debtor that has paid in full up to date. At this, there was a general turning of eyes to the diplomatic gallery, where M. Laboulaye, ambassador of France, leading defaulter, was placidly listening.

Malefactors of Great Wealth.

In some respects the New Deal, as outlined by the President, resembled the square deal of his famous fifth cousin. Those whom President Theodore Roosevelt dubbed "malefactors of great wealth," President Franklin D. Roosevelt pilloried for "living off their neighbors by the use of methods either unethical or criminal."

The President referred specifically to the disclosures before the senate banking and currency committee of rich and powerful financiers who "evaded the spirit and purpose of our tax laws," enriched themselves at the expense of their stockholders and the public and through reckless speculation with their own and other people's money, "injured the values of the farmers' crops and the savings of the poor."

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE READ TO CONGRESS

"I congratulate this congress upon the courage, the earnestness, and the efficiency with which you met the crisis at the special session. It was your fine understanding of the national problem that furnished the example which the country has so splendidly followed. I venture to say that the task confronting the first congress of 1789 was no greater than your own.

"I shall not attempt to set forth either the many phases of the crisis which we experienced last March, nor the many measures which you and I undertook during the special session that we might initiate recovery and reform.

Federal Credit Fortified.

"It is sufficient that I should speak in broad terms of the results of our common counsel.

"The credit of the government has been fortified by drastic reduction in the cost of its permanent agencies through the economy act.

"With the twofold purpose of strengthening the whole financial structure and of arriving eventually at a medium of exchange which will have over the years less variable purchasing and debt paying power for our people than that of the past, I have used the authority granted me to purchase all American produced gold and silver and to buy additional gold in the world markets.

"Careful investigation and constant study prove that in the matter of foreign exchange rates certain of our sister nations find themselves so handicapped by internal and other conditions that they feel unable at this time to enter into stabilization discussions based on permanent and world-wide objectives.

"The overwhelming majority of the banks, both national and state, which reopened last spring are in sound condition and have been brought within the protection of federal insurance. In the case of those banks which were not permitted to reopen, nearly 600 million dollars of frozen deposits are being restored to the depositors through the assistance of the national government.

Lauds Recovery Measures.

"We have made great strides toward the objectives of the national industrial recovery act, for not only have several millions of our unemployed been restored to work, but industry is organizing itself with a greater understanding that reasonable profits can be earned while at the same time protection can be assured to guarantee to labor adequate pay and proper conditions of work.

"Child labor is abolished. Uniform standards of hours and wages apply today to 95 per cent of industrial employment within the field of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

"We seek the definite end of preventing combinations in furtherance of monopoly and in restraint of trade, while at the same time we seek to prevent ruinous rivalries within industrial groups which in many cases resemble the gang wars of the underworld and in which the real victim in every case is the public itself.

Council of U. S. Industries.

"Under the authority of this congress, we have brought the component parts of each industry together around a common table, just as we have brought problems affecting labor to a common meeting ground.

"Though the machinery, hurriedly devised, may need readjustment from time to time, nevertheless I think you will agree with me that we have created a permanent feature of our modernized industrial structure and that it will continue under the supervision, but not the arbitrary dictation, of government itself.

"You recognized last spring that the most serious part of the debt burden affected those who stood in danger of losing their farms and their homes. I am glad to tell you that refinancing in both of these cases is proceeding with good success and in all probability within the financial limits set by the congress.

"But agriculture had suffered from more than its debts. Actual experience with the operation of the agricultural adjustment act leads to my belief that thus far the experiment of seeking a balance between production and consumption is succeeding and has made progress entirely in line with reasonable expectations toward the restoration of farm prices to parity.

Would Balance Buying Power.

"I continue in my conviction that industrial progress and prosperity can only be attained by bringing the purchasing power of that portion of our population which in one form or another is dependent upon agriculture up to a level which will restore a proper balance between every section of the country and every form of work.

"In this field, through carefully planned flood control, power development and land use policies, in the Tennessee valley and in other great watersheds, we are seeking the elimination of waste, the removal of poor lands from agriculture and the encouragement of small local industries, thus furthering this principle of a better balanced national life.

"We recognize the great ultimate cost of the application of this rounded policy to every part of the Union.

"Today we are creating heavy obligations to start the work and because of the great unemployment needs of the moment. I look forward, however, to the time in the not distant future when annual appropriations, wholly covered by current revenue, will enable the work to proceed with a national plan.

"Such a national plan will, in a generation or two, return many times the money spent on it; more important, it will eliminate the use of inefficient tools, conserve and increase natural resources, prevent waste, and enable millions of our people to take better advantage of the opportunities which God has given our country.

Discusses World Affairs.

"The delegation representing the United States has worked in close cooperation with the other American republics assembled at Montevideo to make that conference an outstanding success.

"We have, I hope, made it clear to our neighbors that we seek with them future avoidance of territorial expansion and of interference by one nation in the internal affairs of another.

"Furthermore, all of us are seeking the restoration of commerce in ways which will preclude the building up of large favorable trade balances by any one nation at the expense of trade debits on the part of other nations.

"In other parts of the world, however, fear of immediate or future aggression and with this the spending of vast sums on armament, and the continued building up of defensive trade barriers, prevent any great progress in peace or trade agreements.

Out of Europe's Politics.

"I have made it clear that the United States cannot take part in political arrangements in Europe, but that we stand ready to coöperate at any time in practicable measures on a world basis looking to immediate reduction of armaments and the lowering of the barriers against commerce.

"I expect to report to you later in regard to debts owed the government and people of this country by the governments and peoples of other countries. Several nations, acknowledging the debt, have paid in small part; other nations have failed to pay. One nation—Finland—has paid the installments due this country in full.

"Returning to home problems, we have been shocked by many notorious examples of injuries done our citizens by persons or groups who have been living off their neighbors by the use of methods either unethical or criminal.

Unethical and Criminal.

In the first category—a field which does not involve violations of the letter of our laws—practices have been brought to light which have shocked those who believed that we were in the past generation raising the ethical standards of business.

They call for stringent preventive or regulatory measures.

"I am speaking of those individuals who have evaded the spirit and purpose of our tax laws, of those high officials of banks or corporations who have grown rich at the expense of their stockholders or the public, of those reckless speculators with their own or other people's money whose operations have injured the values of the farmers' crops and the savings of the poor.

"In the other category, crimes of organized banditry, cold blooded shooting, lynching and kidnaping have threatened our security.

"These violations of ethics and these violations of law call on the strong arm of government for their immediate suppression; they call also on the country for an aroused public opinion.

"The adoption of the 21st amendment should give material aid to the elimination of those new forms of crime which came from illegal traffic in liquor.

Tells Relief Plans.

"I shall continue to regard it as my duty to use whatever means may be necessary to supplement state, local and private agencies for the relief of suffering caused by unemployment.

"With respect to this question, I have recognized the dangers inherent in the direct giving of relief and have sought the means to provide not mere relief, but the opportunity for useful and remunerative work.

"We shall, in the process of recovery, seek to move as rapidly as possible from direct relief to publicly supported work and from that to the rapid restoration of private employment.

"It is to the eternal credit of the American people that this tremendous readjustment of our national life is being accomplished peacefully, without serious dislocation, with only a minimum of injustice, and with a great, willing spirit of coöperation throughout the country.

Disorder Called Un-American.

"Disorder is not an American habit. Self-help and self-control are the essence of the American tradition—not of necessity the form of that tradition, but its spirit. The program itself comes from the American people.

"It is an integrated program, national in scope. Viewed in the large, it is designed to save from destruction and to keep for the future the genuinely important values created by modern society.

"The vicious and wasteful parts of that society we could not save if we wished; they have chosen the way of self-destruction.

"We would save useful mechanical invention, machine production, industrial efficiency, modern means of communication, broad education.

Opposes Undue Expansion.

"We would save and encourage the slowly growing impulse among consumers to enter the industrial market place equipped with sufficient organization to insist upon fair prices and honest sales.

"But the unnecessary expansion of industrial plants, the waste of natural resources, the exploitation of the consumers of natural monopolies, the accumulation of stagnant surpluses, child labor, and the ruthless exploitation of all labor, the encouragement of speculation with other people's money, these were consumed in the fires that they themselves kindled; we must make sure that as we reconstruct our life there be no soil in which such weeds can grow again.

"We have ploughed the furrow and planted the good seed; the hard beginning is over. If we would reap the full harvest we must cultivate the soil where this good seed is sprouting and the plant is reaching up to mature growth.

Thanks Congress Members.

"A final personal word. I know that each of you will appreciate that I am speaking no mere politeness when I assure you how much I value the fine relationship that we have shared during these months of hard and incessant work.

"Out of these friendly contacts we are, fortunately, building a strong and permanent tie between the legislative and executive branches of the government.

"The letter of the constitution wisely declared a separation, but the impulse of common purpose declares a union. In this spirit we join once more in serving the American people."

'SOCIALISTIC!' IS BRITISH VERDICT ON ROOSEVELT

Praise and Mild Criticism Greet Message.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 4.—[Thursday.]—Praise and mild criticism of President Roosevelt's efforts to overcome the depression in the United States are voiced by the London press in editorial comments on his message to congress.

Commenting on the President's "boldness and resourcefulness of reforming leadership without parallel in the history of his office," the conservative Daily Telegram says:

"He has the country behind him in his effort at reconstruction and drastic change such as no President hitherto has dreamed of—such as involves, indeed, a new conception of the President's office and functions of federal administration.

Sees Program As Socialism.

"Whatever view may be taken of the soundness of this article or that in the catalogue of his experimental measures, it is easy to feel on reading his message how directly it must go to the heart of a spirited and sensitive people. With so much to show for the first phase of his term, Mr. Roosevelt may well have the confidence that he proclaims in continuance of their support.

"The President's declared intention of strengthening the present regulation of all industry by codes under federal supervision, and making it a 'permanent feature' of American economic life, comes near enough to Socialism to be pardonably mistaken for it.

"It is yet very far from being proved that the American spirit, as it has been known for generations past, will continue to accept such expedients as these and others as semi-revolutionary when the clouds of depression finally are dissipated."

Sees Lesson for Britain.

"What a lesson Mr. Roosevelt, the hero of the nation, teaches the rulers of this country," the Express declares. "At home he pursues a policy of bold, resourceful and unceasing war on poverty and unemployment. Abroad he seeks peace with all nations, keeping an absolute determination to stay clear of quarrels which may deflect the American people from the task of reconstruction."

The liberal News-Chronicle, commenting on the President's plans for agriculture and unemployment and his castigation of speculators and tax dodgers, states:

"Here is the voice of a reformer whose words will doubtless be echoed with approval today in millions of American homes. They are, indeed, brave words which embody a message equally applicable on this side of the Atlantic.

"Yet the devil of doubt prompts the question whether the declarations of Roosevelt the reformer may not defeat the more immediate projects of Roosevelt the recovery worker.

"In short, can America with its traditions of highly individualistic, not to say lawless private enterprise in industry and its great lack of trained professional civil service, be induced to accept the degree of state control over its social and economic structure which Mr. Roosevelt clearly proposes, without the risk of paralyzing its capacity to achieve recovery on existing capitalistic lines? In the light of the message, his long run policy seems likely to carry his administration much further in the direction of socialism than most Americans have yet begun to realize."

Referring to Mr. Roosevelt's gold policy, the London Times says "he can hardly expect other countries to seek currency agreements so long as the American monetary policy is still in the experimental stage."

Concerning Mr. Roosevelt's desire to avoid large favorable trade balances built up by one nation at the expense of another, the Times intimates that the United States itself has been a serious offender in that respect.

"If this sound principle could be put into general effective practice," the Times says, "international trade would soon begin to recover."

Berlin Hails Message.

BERLIN, Jan. 4.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—President Roosevelt's message to congress was given wide prominence in Berlin morning newspapers, which hailed his utterances against the world's "armament delusions."

The Berliner Tageblatt said: "It is now clear America will look on with crossed arms to see how the play of powers in Europe regulates itself."

Referring to economic measures, the Vossische Zeitung said they meant "a cold revolution without constitutional changes."

"Roosevelt's position before congress is almost unshakeable," the paper said, "because he has proved he was able to master his problems."

The Lokal Anzeiger said: "The principles Roosevelt has adopted are the same as those applied to the fatherland since a year ago."

Excerpts from President's Address

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

RECOVERY.

"It is our task to perfect, alter when necessary, but in all cases to go forward."

"The unnecessary expansion of industrial plants, the waste of natural resources, the exploitation of the consumers of natural monopolies, the accumulation of stagnant surpluses, child labor, and the ruthless exploitation of all labor, the encouragement of speculation with other people's money, these were consumed in the fires that they themselves kindled; we must make sure that as we reconstruct our life there be no soil in which such weeds can grow again."

NRA.

"We have made great strides towards the objectives of the national industrial recovery act, for not only have several millions of our unemployed been restored to work, but industry is organizing itself with a greater understanding that reasonable profits can be earned while at the same time protection can be assured to guarantee to labor adequate pay and proper conditions of work."

FINANCES.

"The credit of the government has been fortified by drastic reduction in the costs of its permanent agencies through the economy act."

"Certain of our sister nations find themselves so handicapped by internal and other conditions that they feel unable at this time to enter into stabilization discussions based on permanent and world-wide objectives."

BANKS.

"The overwhelming majority of the banks, both national and state, which reopened last spring, are in sound condition and have been brought within the protection of federal insurance. In the case of those banks which are not permitted to reopen nearly 600 million dollars of frozen assets are being restored to the depositors through the assistance of the national government."

MORTGAGES.

"Refinancing in both of these cases (farms and homes) is proceeding with good success, and in all probability within the financial limits set by the congress."

AGRICULTURE.

". . . .The experiment of seeking a balance between production and consumption is succeeding and has made progress entirely in line with reasonable expectations toward the restoration of farm prices to parity."

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF.

"I shall continue to regard it as my duty to use whatever means may be necessary to supplement state, local, and private agencies for the relief of suffering caused by unemployment."

"We shall, in the progress of recovery, seek to move as rapidly as possible from direct relief to publicly supported work, and from that to the rapid restoration of private employment."

FOREIGN DEBTS.

"I expect to report to you later in regard to debts owed the government and people of this country by the governments and peoples of other countries."

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

"We have, I hope, made it clear to our neighbors (American republics) that we seek with them future avoidance of territorial expansion and of interference by one nation in the internal affairs of another."

What Press of Nation Has to Say About Roosevelt Message

Editorial comment on the President's message by papers throughout the country follows:

Atlanta Constitution [Dem.]—The message is an historic reminder of the fact that under the Roosevelt administration the country has entered upon a new era and that the "New Deal" offers a hope for the American people that seemed impossible of attainment a year ago.

Boston Herald [Rep.]—Mr. Roosevelt gave word that he has every intention of making permanent those governmental devices which many of his friends have heretofore regarded as emergency measures. The majority of Americans are still wholeheartedly behind the administration, but their support depends on its individual acts and policies, not on a grandiose conception of a reordered civilization.

Dallas News [Ind. Dem.]—Throughout the whole address is that constant assumption that national recovery is already on the way, and the government and the people are firmly united in coöperation for the completion of the "new structure." It is a popular address—really given to the people, not to congress—and should win hearty popular support. In view of his many compliments to congress that body should, in gratitude, "eat from his hand."

Des Moines Register [Ind.]—So far as the general tone and drift of the message can be safely interpreted they tend again to place Roosevelt with the moderate liberals. He declared for reform as well as recovery. There is in his attitude a hint of agreement with those old world theorists, some of the Socialists and some Fascists, who insist that if capitalism as a whole is not indeed obsolete and unworkable at least the philosophy of "nineteenth century liberalism" is obsolete and unworkable.

Los Angeles Times [Rep.]—In his strictures against private greed and unethical and unlawful practices on the part of those in positions of trust the President is sound. Evaders of tax laws, high officials of banks and corporations who have grown rich at the expense of stockholders and the public deserve excoriation, but the remedy for the situation needs to be carefully considered. The President suggests none. If he leaves the question to the discretion of congress a remedy may be evolved which is worse than the disease.

New York Times [Ind. Dem.]—The high confidence which the President expresses in the improvement already attained and in the larger future gains which he believes to be certain will be hailed throughout the country as a true and timely message at the present juncture.

On two subjects he was expected to speak definitely. One is tariff reduction and foreign trade. But here he limits himself to saying little more than that "all of us are seeking the restoration of commerce." Still more important is the question of the administration's monetary policy. About this he limits himself to stating the fact that he had made use of the authority given him to buy all gold and silver produced in the United States and also to purchase "additional gold in the world market." But about the effects of that policy, or his purpose to pursue it or else drop it, he gave congress and the country no information whatever.

In the present difficult situation he undoubtedly does well to approach congress in a heart-to-heart fashion, unburdened by facts or figures.

What is far more important is the unmistakable encouragement given to the sound money advocates in the nation and the discouragement given to the left wing radicals among his advisers. While these indications are couched in general terms, are indeed rather hints than statements, there can hardly be a question of the general drift of the utterance.

On the monetary issues the speech is notable as much for what it does not say as for what it does. Dissatisfaction with present price levels is reiterated, but no emphasis is placed upon monetary measures for securing a rise.

Philadelphia Inquirer [Rep.]—The President is moving in the direction of government ownership and operation as opposed to private ownership. He is looking to the time when annual revenues will be sufficient to meet expenditures for this purpose. His appeal to congress is for support. The message throughout breathes the air of confidence.

Portland Oregonian [Rep.]—The matters that most stand out in the message are the President's prediction that present codification of industry will be a permanent feature of our industrial life, and his appeal, which may be read between the lines, to the courts to uphold the constitutionality of doubtful phases of the recovery laws. The former is pure prophecy, whose truth time alone will disclose. The latter is an appeal as unprecedented as are the laws that call it forth.

San Francisco Chronicle [Ind. Rep.]—For the "money changers in the temple" there are strong intimations of castigation to come. The President expressed a feeling that they are not worth saving. He does not think they need to rebuild in the rebuilding of the rest of America, and yet, granted everything that he says about them, does any one, even the President's professors, know how we are going to get along without them and without the services they perform, which are as essential as some of their practices have been wicked?

AAA SEEKS TO MAKE CATTLE BASIC PRODUCT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—As the ground work for the AAA's prospective program to control production on the dairy farm, Chairman Marvin Jones [Dem., Tex.] of the house committee on agriculture today introduced a bill making cattle a "basic commodity" under the farm adjustment act.

The agricultural adjustment administration, it was understood, requested Mr. Jones to seek the inclusion of cattle in the list of "basic" farm products, so that a related program for the beef and dairy industries could be worked out. Dairy products were included as "basic commodities" in the original farm adjustment act.

"The cattle industry has probably suffered as much or more from low prices than any other industry in America," said Mr. Jones. "The inclusion of cattle as a basic commodity would give the department of agriculture broad powers to work out a program suited to the industry."

WOULD TRIPLE IMPORT DUTIES OF DEFAULTERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Countries in default more than 10 per cent on their debts to the United States would be compelled to pay triple import duties under terms of a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Harold Knutson [Rep., Minn.].

Such legislation, Knutson said, would make it necessary for defaulting countries to settle their obligations if they would "continue to enjoy the American market."

France was cited as the "worst offender," and for that reason Knutson said he was "amazed at the administration's recent action in doubling her shipment of alcoholic beverages to this country." It would seem, he said, "there are too many Americans wearing French decorations." He said the United States was capable of producing as good or better vintages in California and New York.

TRADE SUSPENDS FOR CITY TO TUNE IN ON PRESIDENT

Radios Are in Demand in the Loop.

Chicago business men by the thousands expressed their interest in President Roosevelt's message to congress yesterday by crowding around radios and listening attentively to the broadcasting of the address.

Along La Salle street concern as to the terms of the message was especially marked, as the crowds assembled in brokerage offices and other places where radios were available. Tickers and blackboards were deserted for a time as the financial world listened to the chief executive's voice.

In the Chicago Stock exchange business was practically at a standstill for a while, and in the Chicago Board of Trade many members left the pit for their own offices to listen to the message.

The crowds also gathered in lobbies of hotels and calls for room radios were so heavy that the supply was exhausted before noon. In the Hotel Sherman lobby a crowd of nearly 200 stood or sat around a radio loud speaker from which the convening of congress was being broadcast. There were city hall and county building officials in the crowd as well as hotel guests and others.

Requests for installation of room radios in the Palmer House were so numerous that all those available were gone by 1 o'clock, according to Chief Electrician Sig Chakow. At the Stevens hotel, the requests for radios were also numerous, it was reported.

Private clubs also tuned their radios to the presidential broadcast, attracting throngs of interested members who maintained an attentive silence while the President spoke. Groups gathered in the Traffic club, the Interfraternity club and in many other reception rooms where radios had been set up.

FROCK COATS, BACK SLAPS AT CAPITAL SHOW

Congressmen, Senators Meet with Whoops.

BY JOHN HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—With old home week whoops and back slapping [that was in the house, of course], and with frock coated bows and handshakes [as befitted the more elegant senate], the first regular session of the 73d congress got under way today.

There was excitement and the press and shuffle of crowds about the gallery doors; for President Roosevelt was to revive the practice of appearing in person to deliver his message.

There was solemnity at the convening of the national legislature in these critical times.

Miss Old Spirit.

But old timers professed to miss somehow an assured, an earnest, perhaps even a self-respecting spirit that used to pervade opening days. They thought they detected the effect of the predictions that have been going round, that this session, like last spring's special session, is to see congress little more than an official floodgate, to pass or not to pass at the President's command.

If that spirit was there it did not show itself as the eagerly expected hour came—1:37 p. m. by the house of representatives' clock, and President Roosevelt, leaning upon the arm of his son, Jim, made his arduous, courageous way up the specially built ramp to the reading desk just before the speaker's rostrum. As one, senators, representatives, gallery spectators came to their feet. Handclapping mingled with cheering in a welcome such as few Presidents have received on a similar occasion.

Clear Decks for Action.

The President's appearance, of course, was the high point of a congressional day given over to the preparatory, perfunctory matters that have to be got out of the way before congress can settle down to business.

In addition to the President's appearance, another element made notable the whacks of the gavel with which Vice President Garner and Speaker Henry T. Rainey of Illinois brought senate and house to order. Other presidents in the past have delivered their messages in person. But this was the first session to meet, by virtue of the 20th amendment to the constitution, on Jan. 3, instead of on the first Monday in December.

Noon—or as they put it in congressional resolutions, "12 o'clock meridian"—was the hour of meeting.

Resembles Church Social.

As the house members gathered, the sound and scenic effect was somewhere between a church sociable and a prize fight. Greetings were yelled across the chamber. The political pump-handle handshake—right hands clasped, left hands grasping the right elbow of the vis-à-vis—was going strong. Children, wives, and best girls were scattered here and there in the members' seats. Joe Monaghan, the "baby congressman" from Montana, had his bride of a week next to him; they held hands and the congressman's arm kept stealing along the back of Mrs. Monaghan's chair.

Promptly when the clock hands stood straight up together, Speaker Rainey mounted the rostrum. A cutaway set off the famous white crown of hair and black Windsor tie.

"The house will be in order," commanded Mr. Rainey.

"The Monkey House."

The house obeyed long enough for Chaplain James Shera Montgomery to offer the opening prayer. But the "Amen" was a signal for the commotion to begin all over again. Reading Clerk Chaffee tried to call the roll. Speaker Rainey pounded. "No wonder they call it the 'monkey house,'" grumbled a reporter in the press gallery.

"Mr. Speaker, we can't hear a word," came the plaintive wail from somewhere out of the tumult.

In adition to the speaker's, Illinois had at least two other cutaways. Democratic Adolph Sabath strolled here, there, and everywhere ladling out greetings. Republican Fred Britten breezed into the door, a gardenia resplendent in his buttonhole. Still another morning coat adorned Bert Snell of New York, suave Republican leader of the house. Willie Upshaw, the die hard dry, swung in on his crutches, cadavorous as always—needing only the crêpe trimmed plug hat to make him the perfect picture of the late old man prohibition. Over on the Republican side, Bob Bacon, Jim Wadsworth, and Ham Fish, all of Nw York, and Ohio's Bolton, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, form a politically significant group. On the Democratic side, Joe Byrns of Tennessee, majority leader; "Muley" Doughton, ways and means chairman; Pou of North Carolina, oldest house member, and Judge Sumners of Texas, judiciary chairman, are deep in formidable counsel.

393 Members Present.

The roll call ends; there are 393 members present.

They get down to offering resolutions. Leader Byrns offers one to notify the President that the house is ready to receive any communication he may be pleased to make. Solemnly, Messrs. Byrns, Doughton, and Snell, as the committee of notification, go out to seek the President.

"Communications" come next. There is applause as the clerk reads a copy of the certificate by which Utah's recent repeal convention wrote the end to prohibition. There is more applause as another certificate signed by Gov. Henry Horner attests Illinois' ratification of the child labor amendment.

As solemnly as they went out the committee of notification returns.

"The committee," Mr. Byrns avers, "has done its duty. The President will be pleased to deliver his message in person at 1:30 o'clock post meridian."

Lewis Arrives Early.

Meanwhile, the senate has been getting under way. New York's "Bob" Wagner, intimate of the President and chairman of the NRA's national labor board, is the first in the chamber. Second is Illinois' J. Hamilton Lewis, famous whiskers and all, and splendid in cutaway coat, brown pants, brown necktie, brown shoes, fawn colored spats and waistcoat.

There is handshaking here, too, and of the pump handle variety; but by no means are there any shoutings or any wives or children on the floor. One can't rule out as easily, though, Smith Wildman Brookhart, lately senator from Iowa; and he is on hand like a ghost haunting the scenes where he used to orate about Wall street.

New senators are sworn in: Gibson of Vermont, taking the seat of the late Senator Dale; Hatch of New Mexico, replacing Senator Bratton, who was appointed to the federal bench; O'Mahoney of Wyoming, succeeding the late Senator Kendrick; and Byrd of Virginia, filling out the term of Senator Swanson, now secretary of the navy.

Cabinet Is Present.

Then a recess is taken until it is time to parade in decorous double file, led by Col. Ed Halsey, secretary of the senate, and Chesley W. Jurney, sergeant-at-arms, into the house chamber for the joint session to listen to the President.

The cabinet, too, is at the joint session. Assistant secretaries represent cabinet officers who are absent; Henry Latrobe Roosevelt represents the navy; Under Secretary Phillips the state department, and Assistant Secretary Dickinson, commerce. Henry Morgenthau Jr. makes his first public appearance as full-fledged secretary of the treasury.

House Doorkeeper Joe Sinnott is running around excitedly, clapping his hands, sending pages scudding up the aisles. Then suddenly he is very calm as he takes his stand and intones, "The President of the United States."

Diplomatic Gallery Jammed.

Even the diplomatic gallery is jammed. M. Skirvirsky, chargé d'affaires of Russia, is on hand to listen to him who finally recognized his government. Ambassador De Laboulaye of France is there to listen to what Mr. Roosevelt has to say about those debts. German Ambassador Hans Luther is also interested in anything international; so is the Rumanian minister, Charles Davila; and a large contingent from South American embassies and legations, among them Ambassador Espil of Argentina, are an eager audience for any pronouncement concerning Latin-American relations.

The President turns and smiles at Speaker Rainey and the Vice President as he takes his stand at the reading table. He smiles gravely at the tumult of applause which rolls down about him. He begins his message.

Senator Tom Connally of Texas leads the applause for the statement on monetary policy; he's been one of the loudest for devaluation of the dollar. Senator Vandenburg, Michigan Republican, sits with head tilted, quizzically critical; Senator Fess of Ohio, another Republican, sucks his teeth in grim disapproval. Louisiana's Huey Long is lumpish, self-satisfied, and quiet for once.

At the President's reference to Finland's lone debt payment, Senator Pittman smiles. Senator Fletcher, chairman of the subcommittee which brought out the revelations concerning banks and the methods of high-financing, catches a yawn in the middle as the President excoriates the practices of Wall street; he, too, smiles.

Dignified, the senators march out.

Alone again, the house works up to its normal pitch of noise and bustle. New house members are sworn in. And the 73d congress is once more under way.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Among the congressional views were the following:

VICE PRESIDENT GARNER—The President's message is not only statesmanlike and a comprehensive review of the situation, but it has the admirable Roosevelt an element all through it. We can only wish him Godspeed in his work.

HENRY T. RAINEY, speaker of the house [Dem., Ill.]—The President's message is inspiring, and in general terms sets out what already has and what will be accomplished.

Speech Rapped, Praised.

SENATOR DAVID A. REED [Rep., Pa.]—I am disappointed that the President gave us no inkling of his currency policy.

SENATOR JAMES COUZENS [Rep., Mich.]—I am particularly delighted with it, always having been a left winger. I am glad to see the President is leaning in that direction.

SENATOR DUNCAN U. FLETCHER [Dem., Fla.]—It was a great message.

SENATOR JOSEPH T. ROBINSON of Arkansas, Democratic senate leader—The President's message clearly defines the general conditions which require further legislation and actively reviews the progress which has been made toward recovery.

New Policies Unrevealed.

SENATOR CHARLES L. M'NARY of Oregon, Republican senate leader—He failed to describe the future policies I know he entertains.

JOSEPH W. BYRNS, house majority leader [Dem., Tenn.]—The people realize there will be no return to the old order.

Snell Attacks Money Phase.

REPRESENTATIVE BERTRAND H. SNELL [Rep., N. Y.], leader of the house minority—The President did not take us into his confidence. I took it from his message that the reason currency stabilization failed was that the other countries were not ready for it. That is contrary to information heretofore given to the public.

Censure by Vandenburg.

SENATOR ARTHUR H. VANDENBURG [Rep., Mich.]—The suggestion that we shall stabilize as soon as Europe is ready is refreshing. Our prime need is stability and confidence. I agree emphatically to the plea for cooperation between the executive and the legislator. I disagree emphatically with any suggestion of a union between the two. In that direction lies permanent bureaucracy and dictatorship. I completely share the President's faith in America.

SENATOR J. HAMILTON LEWIS [Dem., Ill.]—The great advantage of the message was its appeal to the public creed of a new political faith.

SENATOR HENNETT C. CLARK [Dem., Mo.]—I am not in agreement with all the things he said about national planning, but I think that in many essential respects it was a great message.

Raps "Pleasing Platitudes."

SENATOR L. J. DICKINSON [Rep., Ia.]—It was a pleasing bunch of platitudes. I am still for the constitution. I will vote to give the President no more power.

Wants Congress Power Restored.

SENATOR ARTHUR R. ROBINSON [Rep., Ind.]—No wonder the President expressed such a liking for congress and the way it has worked with him. At the last session congress turned over its powers, almost completely, to the executive. I am hoping that these powers, so recklessly abdicated, will be reclaimed during the coming session.

SENATOR HUEY P. LONG [Dem., La.]—It sounded all right to me. There weren't many details in it. I disagree with the President on the economy act. It was a mistake we passed that measure. I am reintroducing my bill for the redistribution of wealth.

SENATOR W. G. McADOO [Dem., Cal.]—The President's message struck a high note and will be well received by the country.

Reason for Strong Navy.

REPRESENTATIVE FRED A. BRITTEN [Rep., Ill.]—I thought the highlights of the President's message were, first, his association of bankers and bandits, and, second, his lack of optimism in the ultimate pesos of the world. With his superior position he knows more about world conditions than we do, and in view of his statement it behooves this congress to maintain the navy at the highest level of efficiency.

SENATOR SIMEON D. FESS [Rep., Ohio]—It was an optimistic report. I regret that conditions do not justify that sort of report.

Capper Approves Message.

SENATOR ARTHUR CAPPER [Rep., Kas.]—Though a Republican, I must praise a message so fine and statesmanlike. I was encouraged by his reference to agricultural policies and his emphasis on the fact that the farmers' price level must come up still higher.

SENATOR HENRIK SHIPSTEAD [Farmer-Labor, Minn.]—I liked the message, especially its nonpartisan appeal.

REPRESENTATIVE JAMES WADSWORTH [Rep., N. Y.]—The feature of the President's message which in my judgment stands out above all others is that declaration to the effect that the present emergency program governing industry and agriculture shall become the permanent policy of the United States. That declaration should give pause to every thoughtful citizen.

LAND BUYING PLAN LAUNCHED BY GOVERNMENT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—The first phase of the Roosevelt administration's colossal plan to buy all submarginal farm lands so as to put them out of cultivation is to be launched immediately with 25 million dollars allotted from the federal easy money fund for public works, it was announced today.

Details of the land buying program were not made known in the announcement of the public works allotment. The plan, however, is being worked out by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Rexford Tugwell, its chief sponsor.

The 25 million dollar fund, regarded as only the first portion of an ultimate expenditure of upwards of half a billion, is to be spent by the Federal Surplus Relief corporation, which enjoys broader powers than any of the other emergency agencies of the New Deal.

NINE WOMEN IN 73D CONGRESS; SETS A RECORD

Eight Representatives and One Senator.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—A few years ago, when Nick Longworth was speaker of the house, he was perplexed one bright morning when four lovely ladies showed up as bona fide members of congress.

But he welcomed them gallantly as "gentlewomen of the house." That set the tempo. Instantly every congressman became a knight with a plumed hat.

Today, when the 73d congress met in joint session, nine businesslike women mingled with the men. And the men were so far removed from the knighthood stage that they even dared to contest the right of one woman, the Widow Kemp of the 6th congressional district, Louisiana, to take the seat made vacant by the recent death of her husband, Bolivar Kemp. So far has politics progressed since women got the vote.

Sets Record for Women.

Today's nine sets a woman's record. Of this number one, Hattie Caraway of Arkansas, our only lady senator, was back with the same black shawl over her shoulders; a brand new marcel in her hair.

Eight women walked into the house chamber. Five went to the Democratic side; three to the Republican. Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, dean of the women's delegation, was bedecked in orchids. Her two Democratic colleagues who sat through the special session, Virginia Jenckes of Indiana, and Kathryn O'Loughlin McCarty of Kansas, had the regulation quota of shoulder bouquet.

Isabella Greenway, rich and beauteous widow from Arizona, had the distinction of having Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt linger in the gallery, long after the President had left for home, in order that she might see her close girlhood friend sworn in. Mrs. Greenway's young son, Jackie, shared a seat with her; was the first to congratulate her.

Flowers for Husband's Statue.

Before going to the chamber for the ceremony Mrs. Greenway tarried in the statuary hall of fame to place a bunch of pink roses at the foot of a statue of a tall rough rider. It was the statue of her husband, the late John C. Greenway.

The other Democratic lady, Mrs. Kemp, her reddish hair shining effectively above her widow's black, sat in the back row and talked a lot to friends. On a resolution from the Louisiana delegation her contest with J. Y. Sanders goes to committee. And Mrs. Kemp does not go into office, yet.

Across the aisle, in Republican territory, genial Florence Kahn of California wore no flowers, but she got the most handshakes. Her colleague, Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, was a mass of smiles and gardenias. Marian Clarke, widow of John D. Clarke, the New York congressman recently killed in a motor accident, was timid and tremulous as she walked up to the rostrum to be sworn in.

Mrs. Roosevelt in Gallery.

Up in the gallery three of the nation's important wives and one widow were watched by many. Number one of the group was Mrs. Roosevelt, who sat in the front row of the special gallery and heard her husband read his speech. You couldn't really see Mrs. Roosevelt very well. For she held her granddaughter, Sistie on her lap, and her grandson, Buzzie, on the lap of his mother, Mrs. Curtis Dall, kept bobbing up and down. Both youngsters clapped their hands vigorously whenever any senator clapped. They were busy.

Number two wife was Mrs. Jack Garner, festive in furs and flowers, and absent for a few hours from her typewriter. Wife number three, Mrs. [Speaker] Rainey, also played hooky from her husband's office long enough to dash upstairs, edge into the crowds and, by standing on tiptoe, get a look at her spouse; her perfectly good seat, in the center of the speaker's row, she had given to the famous widow, Alice Roosevelt Longworth.

Mrs. Longworth in Blue.

Mrs. Longworth, all in blue with touches of silver, leveled her lorgnette at everybody, including her cousin, Eleanor, in the gallery directly.

O, yes, some of the cabinet wives were there: Mrs. Harold Ickes, Mrs. George Dern, Mrs. Henry Morgenthau Jr., and Mrs. Henry Wallace.

Ruth McCormick Simms and her husband, Albert, both once congress members, slipped into the back of the room; were greeted by many old friends.

And high up in the special gallery for the elect stood Miss Frances [Robbie] Robinson, secretary to NRA's Gen. Johnson. And maybe that didn't give the gals something to talk about.

House Will Start Work on Liquor Revenue Bill Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—As its first act of the new session, congress tomorrow will reach out for the federal revenues made possible by the repeal of prohibition.

The administration's liquor tax bill, estimated to bring 470 million dollars a year into the treasury, will be taken up in the house of representatives immediately after the President's budget message has been read.

The senate, following the reading of the budget message, will probably stand in recess until Monday, in order to give the house time to pass the liquor taxation legislation.

$2 Per Gallon Tax.

As reported today by the house ways and means committee, the bill provides new taxes of two dollars per gallon on hard liquors, five dollars per barrel on beer and from ten to forty cents per gallon on wine, depending on the alcoholic content.

"In the opinion of your committee," the report stated, "the rates proposed in the bill will return the maximum amount of revenue without incurring the dangers of perpetuating illegal liquor traffic by excessive rates."

Representative Joseph W. Byrns, [Dem., Tenn.], majority floor leader in the house, declared today he foresaw no opposition to the liquor tax legislation and predicted it will be speedily passed, almost certainly by the end of this week.

Amendments seeking both to raise and lower the rates now carried in the measure are expected to be offered, he said, but the house leadership feels confident that no change will be made in the bill.

Dispute Over Quality.

While the congress was preparing to reap the financial benefits of legal liquor, Joseph H. Choate Jr., head of the federal alcohol control administration, denied that the government liquor control board is failing to prevent the manufacture and sale of poor quality liquors at high prices.

His statement followed reports current today that the FACA is at war with Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Rexford Tugwell, food and drug law champion, who is insisting on immediate and drastic enforcement of the rigid labeling and bottling requirements written by him into the distillers' code.

Mr. Choate emphasized that the FACA has no control whatever over the sale of liquor at retail and that any such regulation is a matter for the states to handle. Most of the complaints regarding poor quality liquor, he said, involve retail and not wholesale trade.

Promises Federal Watchfulness.

"There seems to be a widespread impression that in the legal sale of liquors the public is being victimized by poor quality (including downright frauds) and high prices, and that the federal government is doing nothing about it," the federal liquor czar said.

"The FACA's powers extend only to the producer and wholesaler. It can and will, when it gets definite information which will enable it to pass intelligently on the complex problems involved, prescribe and enforce honest and informative labeling by the makers.

"It can drive out of the legitimate field distillers and rectifiers who produce fraudulent or unwholesome liquors," he continued. "It can do something to prevent illicit manufacture. But it can do nothing to prevent the crooked retailer from cheating his customers by fraudulent substitutions and the like. The FACA has not yet received a single specific complaint of the sale of adulterated or unwholesome liquor by any particular producer or wholesaler."

Expect 470 Million Yield.

The 470 millions per year expected from the new liquor taxes will be made up, according to members of the ways and means committee, by the collection of 300 millions from the $2 tax on liquor, 160 millions from the $5 a barrel tax on beer, and 10 millions from the graduated tax on wines.

The new rate on "hard" liquors represents a 90 cent per gallon increase over the present rate of $1.10 per gallon. The proposed new beer tax is the same as that now imposed on beer of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content and applies to all beer, regardless of its volume of alcohol. The present $6 a barrel tax on beer of more than 3.2 per cent is repealed.

The wine taxes proposed in the new tax bill are 10 cents a gallon on wine of less than 14 per cent alcoholic content; 20 cents on wine of between 14 and 21 per cent alcohol; 40 cents on wine between 21 and 24 per cent, and the $2 "hard liquor" rate on all over 24 per cent. The rates for each of the three percentage categories are raised by 6 cents, 10 cents, and 15 cents per gallon, respectively.

Champagne Rate Lowered.

In the case of champagnes, however, the present rate of 90 cents per gallon is lowered to 40 cents; and in case of artificially carbonated wines and liquors and cordials, the rate is dropped from 40 cents to 20 cents a gallon.

In addition to the rates on newly manufactured liquors, the bill provides a floor tax on all commercial stocks of liquor amounting to the difference between the present rate, already paid, and the rate put into effect by passage of the new tax bill.

It also provides for a "drawback" of $2 per gallon on all liquor produced in this country for export abroad, in order to encourage the domestic manufacturers of liquor to compete in foreign trade.

KELLY TO SEE HORNER TODAY ON RUM TANGLE

Liquor Question May Be Settled at Parley.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—One more attempt for an agreement between Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly of Chicago on a liquor control law will be made tomorrow. The Chicago mayor is on his way tonight to Springfield for another conference with the governor, seeking to break the deadlock in the senate which threatens the passage of any state liquor law.

Gov. Horner said tonight that he had received word—from Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton, it was disclosed later—that Mayor Kelly will be here in the morning. Upon the outcome of the talk between the two, it is believed, depends senate concurrence in the house bill providing for a limited degree of state control over local licensing, which Mayor Kelly has insisted should be a matter for home rule.

Opposes "Individual Service."

Gov. Horner said that he was "all the way" with President Roosevelt in reference to the abolition of the saloon and that he was in favor of an amendment introduced today by Senator Wilbur H. Hickman [Dem., Paris] which would prohibit individual service over the bar.

He also said that he had requested Lieut. Gov. T. J. Donovan and a number of senators who conferred with him this evening to tighten up the restraints against lobbyists. Although, he said, he had received no definite news concerning the "little black bag," he intimated that there have been too many representatives of the distillers and the brewers inside the brass rails supposed to protect the legislators from outside influences.

He expressed both interest and amusement when he was told seven Republican senators joined in a telegram to President Roosevelt urging him to intervene in the Illinois situation.

Text of Message.

"The Illinois legislature," the appeal to the President read, "is hopelessly deadlocked over the passage of a liquor control law. The Cook county Democratic members of the senate, under the leadership of the Nash-Kelly organization, insist upon the open saloon, unrestricted except as to purely local political control. This statement can be immediately verified by your staff.

"Gov. Horner and Democrats of the rest of the state, in association with the Republican minority members of the legislature, are insisting upon state control of liquor traffic and abolition of the saloon, as promised in the national platforms of both major political parties and as advocated by you as President of the United States.

"The impasse is so serious that we are convinced that the matter should be called to your attention.

"We believe that some direct expression or other action from you at this time is necessary and fully justified by existing circumstances to safeguard the people of Illinois and other states from the saloon and other evils of a practically uncontrolled liquor traffic.

"We are now in session and are hopeful that you will help us at this time to carry out your wishes and ours on this subject without delay."

200 Amendments; a Record.

Today's proposals for amendments carried the total well beyond the 200 mark—an all time record breaker, according to the old timers. The one considered the most important, because it was believed to have resulted from the conference of Chicago Democratic senators in Mayor Kelly's office in Chicago on Tuesday, came from Richey V. Graham, president pro tempore, the leader of the Chicago Democratic bloc. In effect it was to carry out the home rule idea by limiting appeals to the state commission from Chicago to protests against refusal of licenses.

DENIES DEALINGS IN WHISKY BY ESTATE OF LEANDER M'CORMICK

Robert Hall McCormick, manager of the estate of Leander J. McCormick, denied yesterday that the estate has at any time had any dealings in whisky or held any whisky warehouse certificates, as was charged in a suit for $450,000 filed against the estate on Tuesday in the Circuit court by H. B. Loewenstein, representative of a New York liquor syndicate.

The suit charges that the estate refused to fulfill a contract to sell warehouse certificates for 150,000 cases of whisky at $42.50 a case. Mr. McCormick said yesterday that the estate had had no connection with the offer of the whisky, which had been made in a private capacity, he said, by Charles J. Donnelly, cashier of the estate and a co-defendant in the suit.

"The estate has at no time had any whisky certificates and has at no time dealt with them in any way," said Mr. McCormick. "I have been informed by Mr. Donnelly that he was approached by certain interests in Louisville to help them dispose of some whisky that they had in storage and that he tried to do so for them with the hope of securing their concern as a tenant of the estate.

"With this in view, he put them in touch with certain persons in Chicago, who, being unable to come to an agreement with the Louisville interests, are threatening Mr. Donnelly with suit for breach of contract. There is nothing whatsoever to support such a suit."

Mr. Donnelly said yesterday that the estate had apaprently become involved in the suit because he wrote a letter concerning the liquor deal on the estate's stationery.

Beverly West, Sister of Mae, Weds Her Manager

Beverly West, sister of Mae West, was married yesterday to her theatrical manager, Vladimir Balkoff. The ceremony was performed by Judge Joseph Sabath in the apartment of Mrs. Florence Barrete, a friend of the West sisters, in the Congress hotel. Present for the wedding was the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Balkoff, who came from Paris for the ceremony.

'Help Wanted' Sign Shows in New York; It's No Gag

New York, Jan. ?.—(AP)—The old time sign, "Laborers Wanted," appeared today on a snow removal truck in front of city hall. And the sanitation department said it was no gag. Snow shovelers are really scarce.

EVANSTON RUM LAW FACES ITS 1ST COURT TEST

The first step toward a legal test of Evanston's liquor ordinance was taken yesterday with the issuance of warrants by Judge Harry H. Porter of the Evanston Municipal court charging two chain drug stores with selling whisky without prescriptions. The stores named in the warrants, obtained by Policeman Edward Fitzgerald, are the Walgreen store at 534 Main street and the Liggett store at 1900 Central street.

The Evanston liquor ordinance, passed last month, declares illegal the sale of liquor above an alcoholic strength of 3.2 per cent, except medicinal liquor sold on prescriptions. Penalty for violation of the ordinance is fixed at fines ranging from $10 to $200.

ALDERMEN ASK CITY'S WILL ON LIQUOR CONTROL

Vote for Referendum at April Primary.

Signed by 200 persons it asked that no liquor be sold in the territory bounded by the south side of 63d street, Maryland avenue, 67th street and the west side of the Stony Island avenue.

Action was deferred on a proposed amendment to the zoning law. This would require that new saloons gain the consent of the owners of a majority of the property in a square block before allowed to open in a commercial district within 125 feet of a residential district.

License Applications at 5,635.

Applications for city liquor licenses numbered 462 yesterday, bringing the total so far to 5,635. Less than a thousand more applications are expected, the police estimating that about 6,500 licenses will be taken out. On the west side, the police reported, some 60 saloonkeepers who have been operating under the old 3.2 beer licenses said they were going to quit. In the southeast section of the city more than 60 saloons were closed summarily for not having licenses.

A survey conducted by the legislative division of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce and made public yesterday indicates that Illinois business interests favor a state liquor control commission as sponsored by Gov. Horner, according to Walter Williams, president of the chamber of commerce.

U. S. URGES OLD DRY LAW CASES SHALL BE TRIED IN COURTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—(AP)—The department of justice in a brief filed in the Supreme court today took the position that all persons charged with violating the National Prohibition act before repeal should be prosecuted.

The brief, presented by Solicitor General Biggs, held that the adoption of the 21st amendment did not release from punishment those charged with violating the Volstead act or with conspiracy to violate it.

The question was presented to the high court in an appeal by the government from the decision of the federal district court for the middle district of North Carolina which had dismissed indictments charging Byrum Gibson and Claude Chambers with violating the National Prohibition act. The appeal has been set for argument in the Supreme court on Jan. 15.

HELD ON COUNTERFEITING CHARGE.

Ellsworth, Wis., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Herbert R. Crawford, 40, of Austin, Minn., and Joe Pollard, 23, of Elmira, Mo., are being held here while federal authorities investigate counterfeiting charges against them.

ALDERMEN O. K. REFERENDUM ON CITY RATE FIXING

The city council yesterday passed a resolution calling for a referendum election in April, 1935, to give the city the power to fix fair rates for utility services. The resolution was introduced by Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th], Jacob M. Arvey [24th], James B. Bowler [25th], John S. Clark [30th], and Oscar F. Nelson [46th].

The act which established the Illinois commerce commission provides that cities may assume certain powers now given the commission, including the right to determine fair rates, if a majority of the voters at a mayoralty election so signify by a referendum vote.

Before the proposition may be placed on the ballot, however, a petition must be presented to the board of election commissioners bearing the signatures of registered voters equal to a quarter of the votes cast in the last election for mayor. The resolution was introduced as the first step in circulation of the petition.

SALOON SHOOTING BRINGS CLASH OF POLICE CAPTAINS

CRIMINAL COURT.

William Joseph, Julius Irwin, and Arthur Kasallis, robbery, sentenced to one year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

A controversy developed between two police captains yesterday over a shooting early in the day in front of the Two Bit club, a second floor saloon at 1219 North Clark street, and the question of filing charges against two detectives who were in the saloon when the shooting took place.

The detectives are Sergts. Thomas Kelly and James Penny of the Hudson avenue station. Capt. Thomas Condon, supervising captain on the north side, held a conference with Capt. Martin O'Malley, commanding the Hudson avenue district, and said later that he had ordered charges filed afainst the detectives before the civil service commission.

At the same time Capt. O'Malley said he did not intend to make any charges. Kelly and Penny were working last night.

Mail Thief Is Captured.

The shooting resulted in the capture of Jerry Quinn, alias Healey, ex-convict and confessed mail thief. Quinn had ten letters in his possession when he was arrested on the charge of shooting Eugene Trupp, 31 years old, 4435 Malden avenue. He admitted he had stolen the letters from hall mail boxes in Oak Park. Police learned that he had served a federal penitentiary sentence for the same offense.

The shooting took place sometime between 2 and 4 a. m. The exact time was indefinite, as were many other details of the affair. Trupp, who was employed at the World's Fair last summer, said that he had bought a drink in the place and, when leaving, had found Quinn fighting with a woman on the sidewalk.

He interfered and Quinn shot him, Trupp charged. The woman vanished after the shooting and police have been unable to find her.

O'Malley Closes Saloon.

Capt. O'Malley ordered the saloon closed after the shooting, when he discovered that it was operating without having applied for a city license. Detectives Kelly and Penny told their superior officers that they saw a light in the place and entered to find out if it was operating after the 1 a. m. closing hour.

They were talking to Arthur Zuibeck, one of the operators of the Westminster hotel, in which the Two Bit club is situated, when they heard the shot outside, they said. When they left the building they found that a police squad had already caught Quinn.

Quinn had been living at 149 North Le Claire avenue under the name of T. J. Healey.

TWO MONKEYS ESCAPE TRUCK; BITE A PURSUER

Two stage monkeys escaped from a truck in front of 359 North Clark street yesterday and in a half hour of freedom gave the district an exciting time. John Mehorezyk, 14521 Jefferson street, Blue Island, an employé of the Central Cold Storage company at 350 North Dearborn street, was bitten on the leg by one of the fugitives when he tried to capture them.

The monkeys had been left chained in the truck with a black bear while their owners, Jack and Myrtle Jackson of Australia, went into a photographic studio at the Clark street address. The Jacksons are appearing in a neighborhood theater.

Somehow the monkeys slipped their chains, left the truck and strolled over to the shipping platform of the cold storage company in Dearborn street. There Mehorezyk was bitten. A Chicago avenue police squad was summoned, while the monkeys ambled about the platform eating the yolks of a couple of dozen eggs which they took from an open crate.

The police, unable to trap the agile fugitives, called for aid from the Lincoln park zoo, but by the time Edward Robinson, an ape expert, and Steve Williamson, a lion specialist, arrived from the zoo the monkeys had been taken in charge by their owners, the Jacksons.

Negro Slain, His Pal Shot in Attempted Holdup

One Negro was killed and his companion was seriously wounded last night at 47th and State streets by William Hornell, who told police that the Negroes had tried to hold him up. The dead man was identified as James Lawrence, 29 years old, 2035 South Michigan avenue. His companion, Andrew Griffin, 27 years old, of the same address, was taken to the Bridewell hospital with a bullet wound in his back.

BANDITS SHOOT OWN COMRADE IN ROBBERY MIXUP

Flee After They Are Foiled in Holdup.

A bandit was accidentally shot by two of his own companions yesterday afternoon when they mistook him for one of their intended victims in a holdup at the Olof Jackson & Son Coal company, 1807 North Sawyer avenue.

Leaving one man at the wheel of their car, the three robbers ran toward the office just a few minutes after a Brinks express truck had departed with the day's receipts. Two men ran to the rear door and one sought to enter the front.

Lock Doors on Bandits.

However, Frank Nagle, the manager; Morgan Cuttingham, a salesman, and Olof Jackson, head of the company, who were in the office, had seen the bandits approaching with drawn revolvers. Nagle bolted the rear door and Cuttingham locked the glass paneled door leading to the cashier's office, which is inside the main office.

The bandit at the front door became enraged when he found his entrance cut off and he threatened Cuttingham, whose form he could see behind the glass, that he would shoot through the door if it wasn't opened. He waited a moment and then fired four shots which narrowly missed the men inside.

Bandits Shoot Companion.

Alarmed by the shooting at the front of the office, the two men at the rear gave up their attempts to get in there and ran around the building. As they ran toward their car their companion emerged from the front entrance with his revolver in his hand.

Apparently mistaking him for an enemy the two men opened fire and dropped their confederate in his tracks. He apparently was wounded several times. The two men who shot him then ran down the street, turned into an alley and escaped. The driver of the bandit car, however, ran to the aid of his fallen companion, placed him in the automobile and sped away.

JURY SELECTION GOES SLOWLY IN INSURANCE CASE

Selection of a jury to try seven defendants on a charge of conspiracy to obtain $1,555,000 by false pretenses moved slowly yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge Benjamin P. Epstein. At the close of the day's session only four jurors had been chosen. It was thought that completion of the jury might require the rest of this week.

The seven defendants, among whom are Attorney John H. S. Lee and Machir J. Dorsey, once wealthy insurance operator, are alleged to have been responsible for a mortgage deal that threw the Security Life Insurance company, the Northern States Life Insurance company and two affiliated companies into receivership.

The other defendants are Bertram Day of Indianapolis, Edwin Hult, John W. Seids, C. Edwin Johnson, and Harry Huttig.

The victims, as he named them, were John Panfield, 19 years old, a roomer in his home at 5019 North Malvina avenue; his 3 year old daughter, Betty Ann, and his 10 month old son, John Jr. He killed the trio, Piotrowski declared, when he found his wife, Ann, 28 years old, in the embraces of the boarder. Mrs. Piotrowski was beaten and was reported in a critical condition today in the Belmont hospital.

Suggests Rival as Slayer.

The bodies of the children and the unconscious form of the mother were found in the Piotrowski home early last evening when the husband, accompanied by another CWA worker, entered it. Piotrowski, assuming an air of great sorrow, reported to the police.

Panfield, he said, was missing and must have been the killer of the children and the attacker of his wife.

But Capt. Ptacek of the Irving Park police district was not convinced by his story. He questioned the foreman on the job where Piotrowski was employed and learned that he had been away between noon and 3 p. m. After trying in vain with different falsehoods to account for the elapsed time, Piotrowski made a full confession.

"I went home to see the kids," he said. "Panfield was there with my wife. They were making love to each other; I saw them through a window. When I went in I got a shotgun barrel and beat them both. Panfield ran from the house and I continued to beat him. He fell in a field near the house. I thought both were dead.

Tells of Slaying Children.

"Then I hit Betty Ann and killed her, too. The baby was in the kitchen and started squalling, so I drowned him in a tub of water. Then I started thinking how to get rid of suspicions. I wiped the fingerprints off the gun barrel. I went back to work and thought that if I made a report in the evening, like I did, nobody would suspect me."

A search of the weed grown prairies near his home, in which he said he had tossed the body of Panfield, failed to disclose the corpse. A new search is to be made today.

PECK PROBATION PLEA DENIED BY FEDERAL JUDGE

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday denied a motion for probation in behalf of Ralph L. Peck, attorney and former president of the First National Bank of Palatine, who is under sentence to serve 18 months at Leavenworth prison and pay a fine of $2,000 for embezzling $25,000 from the bank. Peck, who is 60 years old, recently was denied a review by the United States Supreme court.

Attorney M. L. Gallagher, representing Peck, termed the penalty a "death sentence" in view of the age and physical condition of his client. The attorney also read letters from Gov. Horner, Abel Davis, and Frank J. Loesch, head of the Chicago crime commission, to the effect that Peck had been a man of good chnracter.

Judge Barnes, in denying the motion, said that the court owed a duty to society as well as to the defendant. The judge said that he did not feel that he should nullify the ruling of the higher courts by admitting Peck to probation. The defendant will be taken to Leavenworth this week.

KILLS SELF IN SECOND ATTEMPT.

Albert Weismantel, 48 years old, whose attempt to commit suicide in his room at 3842 Irving Park boulevard was frustrated Sunday by another roomer, who snatched a gas hose from his mouth, was more successful yesterday. He was found dead after having taken a quantity of poison.

AVIATOR LANDS FLAMING PLANE IN 'MIRACLE' DIVE

Raoul Cote, 23 years old, racing pilot of Kankakee, was in a critical condition last night at St. Joseph's hospital in Joliet after he had brought his flaming plane to a landing in a field five miles southwest of Joliet.

Cote, who has appeared in a number of racing events and who won second place in the Henry L. Doherty trophy race a year ago in Miami, Fla., appeared at the Joliet Municipal airport to make the required flights to renew his lapsed pilot's license.

Takes Fire in Air.

He took off in a Warner powered Simplex low wing monoplane on the first of a series of tests. As the plane reached an altitude of 160 feet it burst into flames. There was insufficient altitude for Cote to use his parachute, so he side-slipped in an effort to keep the flames away from the cockpit and brought the plane to a landing in a field a mile from the airport. Airmen said the fact that he was able to bring the plane to earth without being burned to death was little short of miraculous.

The flyer climbed from the burning plane and walked to meet a rescue party. He was taken to the hospital, where physicians said he was critically burned about the head and shoulders.

Officials at the airport said they were unable to determine what had caused the plane to catch fire. It was believed, however, that the fire was started by a bursted gas line, a backfire, or sticking valve.

Resident of Kankakee.

Cote lives with his father, Joseph Cote, at 294 South 5th avenue, Kankakee. He has competed in a number of racing events during the last few years, but the Doherty trophy was the only major event in which he was successful. In that race he won $500 by finishing second in the race from Daytona Beach to Miami.

1,100 UNION PLUMBERS REPAIRING CITY WATER SYSTEM ON CWA PAY

Oscar E. Hewitt, city commissioner of public works, announced yesterday that 1,100 union plumbers have been put to work on the water bureau's CWA project. The plumbers are making a house to house canvass of the city, inspecting and repairing home water systems. The bureau's plan is to stop the waste of 200 million gallons of water daily in Chicago. Mr. Hewitt said the CWA would employ 2,800 plumbers before the project is completed March 1.

More than one billion gallons a day are pumped by the city's municipal water stations, Mr. Hewitt said. A survey revealed last December that 20 per cent of the pumpage is wasted because of defects in the system.

Repairing these defects is the only project in the city using CWA labor on private property. The civil works administration pays all the labor costs and half of the material costs. Chicago pays the other half of the material cost, and its share is estimated to be $550,000. The labor cost to the federal government will be 3 million dollars. The city also assumes the liability insurance while the men are employed. The saving to the water bureau in coal, electricity, supplies, and labor upon completion of the project has been estimated at $363,000 annually.

Prosecution to Be Pressed if Recount Proves Frauds

Joseph W. Badenoch, head of a group of citizens who on Tuesday asked County Judge Jarecki to order a recount of all votes cast in Cook county in the general election of Nov. 8, 1932, yesterday announced that the petitioners also are going to press criminal action against all election officials who are shown to have taken part in election frauds if the petition is granted.

"It was the fraud disclosed in the Samuel Heller-Erwin J. Hasten recount that caused us to file the petition," said Mr. Badenoch. "We know that only 374 out of the 3,153 precincts in the county were counted in that contest and as a result 17 jail sentences have been meted out and 20 persons fined.

"In the complete recount, we believe, many other frauds would be uncovered. All those who through ballot box stuffing strike at the basis of government must be punished."

Will Ask Prosecution.

The petition which was presented in behalf of the group to Judge Jarecki on Tuesday morning contained no mention of criminal action. Mr. Badenoch yesterday said the group which he heads will seek the co-operation of the state's attorney as well as election officials in prosecuting those who may be shown to be guilty of fraud if the recount is carried out.

Judge Jarecki on Tuesday announced that he would hear attorneys representing the petitioners on Jan. 12.

National, state and county offices were filled in the November, 1932, election. Only a few Municipal court judges might be affected by changes in the final returns of votes cast, it was conceded by election officials yesterday. All other office holders won by margins of 50,000 or more votes which were considered safe since the recount is not expected to disclose frauds sweeping enough to upset such leads.

Twelve Municipal court judges were elected, the lowest of the first twelve in the official returns being Judge Hasten, who was unseated by Judge Heller after their recount contest. The complete recount might also seat either August G. Urbanski or John Sbarbaro, both of whom were only 28,000 votes below the eleventh of the twelve elected judges.

The city council yesterday authorized a transfer of funds amounting to $10,000 by the board of election commissioners to pay Attorney John F. Cashen Jr., who prosecuted the election frauds discovered during the Heller-Hasten recount.

ESCORT BATTLES BANDITS TO SAVE GIRL; SHOT TWICE

Charles Hausman, 24 years old, 2511 North Crawford avenue, was shot and seriously wounded late last night when he battled with two Negro robbers on the lake front at Monroe street. The gunmen escaped.

Hausman was seated in an automobile with Miss Evelyn Christiansen, 1521 South Kildare avenue, when the robbers appeared. They demanded money and Hausman surrendered the small amount he carried. He resisted, however, when the pair attempted to drag the girl from the car. The robbers shot him and fled.

At St. Luke's hospital, where he was taken, it was said that one bullet had penetrated Hausman's abdomen and another had struck his head. His condition was described as critical. Miss Christiansen went to the hospital and later to the Second police district station to tell her version of the attack.

JOHN E. CASSIDY WILL BE ILLINOIS NEW DEAL CHIEF

Peoria Lawyer Is Slated for Director.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—The proconsul for the New Deal in Illinois is to be a little known though well rated lawyer of Peoria, John E. Cassidy.

Mr. Cassidy has been selected by administration advisers, it was reported today, to act as state director in Illinois for the national emergency council, and, if his appointment is approved as scheduled, he will come into great powers in the direction of recovery activities in his state.

State directors are to be named in each of the 48 states, and their duties, as prescribed by the President, will give them jurisdiction over disputes arising in the administration of the NRA and the AAA. The directors will also preside over bureaus formed to disseminate information on all federal activities in the states, and citizens will be directed to make all applications for information on the various phases of the new deal to these bureaus.

Announcement Expected Soon.

Announcement of the appointment of most of the state directors is expected to be made within a week or two. It was learned that recommendations of directors for 24 states are on the President's desk, awaiting his approval, and Mr. Cassidy's name is reported to be among the 24.

Because of the influence which these directors will wield, the President has directed Frank C. Walker, acting director of the national emergency council, and Postmaster General James A. Farley, political major domo of the administration, to exercise the greatest care in selecting state directors.

It has been hinted that in some states political leaders have been permitted to nominate the directors, and this has given rise to criticism that the President may intend to build up an independent political machine, with the state nuclei centered in the emergency council directorships.

May Mean New Lineup.

While patronage matters will continue to be the special prerogatives of senators, it is deemed certain here that the state directors will be conferred with by the administration in all important matters affecting the states, and perhaps also, though quietly, in major political appointments.

In this connection, the nomination of Mr. Cassidy to head the federal recovery program in Illinois, if it can be considered at all in a political light, would seem to add flavor to the recurrent rumors that the President would like to see a new lineup in the Democratic leadership in Illinois.

Mr. Cassidy's selection, if it goes through as now scheduled, might be in line, it is said, with the idea of a "Roose-cratic" organization in Illinois. For it is learned here that Mr. Cassidy's name was suggested by the administration leaders and was not proposed by the regular Democratic state organization.

Not Picked by Senators.

The senior senator, James Hamilton Lewis of Chicago, had little more than an acquaintanceship with Cassidy, and Senator William Dieterich, the downstate member, knew him but slightly better. However, both senators, it was learned, have acceded to the administration's desire that Mr. Cassidy should be named.

According to administration advisers an insistence was laid down to both senators that if Mr. Cassidy for any reason should prove unacceptable the eventual choice for the state directorship will in no case be a member of the Chicago Democratic organization.

The reason give for this, it was learned, was the supposed desire of the President and Mr. Walker to keep partisan politics out of the activities of the national emergency council. There is no secret about the fact that the President is wary of the Nash-Kelly-Horner entente in the state and city party organization.

Distrust of Chicago Politicians.

To some degree this distrust of the Chicago politicians existing in the President's mind is said to date back to the sanitary district scandals, but Illinoisans are inclined to put among the other reasons the fact that the Illinois leaders stood out against Mr. Roosevelt in the convention at Chicago until his nomination had been assured by other support.

It is believed that the President and his political advisers would welcome an opportunity to promote a new political deal for Illinois. In this connection it should be said that he has frequently expressed full confidence in both Senator Lewis and Senator Dieterich.

NEW HEAD OF STATE EMERGENCY COUNCIL WORLD WAR VETERAN

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—John E. Cassidy, 38, attorney, mentioned as the probable Illinois director of the national emergency council, is a native of Ottawa, Ill. He is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame law school.

He was admitted to the bar, but before starting practice entered the military service. He was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry. He went to France in January, 1918, and was assigned to the 101st machine gun battalion of the 26th division.

After the war he was employed by the Aetna Life Insurance company as an attorney in Chicago and later was sent to Peoria. He resigned and entered private practice.

Politically Mr. Cassidy has always been active in the Democratic party, but has held no elective office except that of delegate for the 16th congressional district to the Democratic national convention in Chicago in 1932 and as a wet delegate at large to the repeal convention at Springfield last July.

Several months ago he was appointed attorney for the Home Owners' Loan corporation for the Peoria district. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus and of the American Legion, as well as of the Peoria Bar association.

He is married and the father of six children.

OUSTS 8 DONNE HOLC MEN; MORE HEADS MAY FALL

Prosecution Is Held to Be Unlikely.

Eight appointees of William G. Donne, including a department head, were ousted from the pay rolls of the Home Owners Loan corporation yesterday by William H. McNeal, special HOLC representative from Washington, who then intimated that other heads of departments would also lose their jobs. Mr. McNeal immediately made three appointments himself.

Meanwhile it was learned that no criminal prosecution will result from the federal investigation of charges of graft and mismanagement in the Chicago office of the government corporation. Although the inquiry has not been completed, no indictable offenses have been uncovered so far, and one official said he believed none would be revealed.

Will Act Downstate.

In connection with Mr. McNeal's intimation that other jobholders will be fired, he said that downstate offices "need some improvement." He declared these will be taken care of in due time.

Edward P. Devlin, a south side politician, one of the eight removed yesterday, was taken out of his $2,400 job as head of the repair department without comment.

Three of the men were former employés of the Central State Appraisal company in which Donne's brother-in-law was a stockholder and which got half of all the appraisal work at higher rates than paid other companies. They were given HOLC jobs by Donne on the day he resigned from office. They were Harry Lauderdale, 2392 Milwaukee avenue; Thomas Tierney, 4718 Beacon street, and Clarence Olson, 9841 South Damen avenue.

Two Get New Jobs.

Two of those ousted, D. T. Busa and Richard Walsh, had been moved from the appraisal department to new departments last month, "apparently to forestall dismissal for inefficiency," according to Mr. McNeal. John Barren, 1033 North Dearborn street, and Thomas Nolan, 215 South Troy street, were "dismissed for the good of the service."

Earl H. Waterman, 6039 South Union avenue, was appointed head of the repair department to succeed Devlin. Alexander Clifford of 886 Spruce street, Winnetka, was appointed supervisor of preliminary appraisers, a new position. The third appointment by the Washington representative was that of David C. Elliott, 8607 Throop street, who was placed in the adjustment department.

Mr. McNeal said at least twenty men will be added to the staff of preliminary appraisers this week to move pending loan requests.

Conference Next Week.

Regarding the local criminal investigation of the home loan office it was said that a conference will be held early next week between United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green and Melvin Purvis, agent in charge of the division of investigation of the department of justice. At that time it will be officially decided whether or not the evidence uncovered warrants further action.

The consensus of federal officials, however, was that "the local office of the HOLC may have been mismanaged, and political favoritism may have been practiced, but so far there is no evidence of criminality."

SHOT; ASSAILANT FLEES.

Andrew Banda, 29 years old, 8351 Burley avenue, a Mexican, was shot and probably fatally wounded yesterday by another Mexican, who escaped after the shooting. The attack occurred in an alley near 88th street and Buffalo avenue.

PAPERS IN 35,000 CIRCUIT COURT CASES MISSING

Clerk John E. Conroy of the Circuit court yesterday told the finance committee of the county board that documents in 35,000 cases are missing from the court files. The committee voted to appropriate $1,200 to erect a guard rail and steel cage to prevent lawyers and others from removing the documents.

County Commissioner Daniel Ryan suggested that the loss of the documents be called to the attention of the Chicago Bar association and that a judicial investigation be undertaken.

Files of 700,000 cases are kept in the clerk's office. Mr. Conroy said in the past there has been no adequate protection for the files.

REVEAL HARVEY POLITICIANS ON CWA PAY ROLL

Sewer Job Hookups Bared as They're Ended.

The new sewer project in the city of Harvey, which is to cost $730,000 and to which the CWA is contributing $535,982, is being conducted under new management. Frank D. Chase, state director for the Civil Works administration, yesterday announced that he had removed the group of Republican politicians who have been in charge and said that full supervision would be taken over by his own force.

There has been dissatisfaction in Harvey, it was reported, over the conduct of the sewer construction, for two principal reasons. One is that too many familiar political names were on the pay roll; the second is that the local management purchased its materials without giving Harvey business men sufficient opportunities to bid.

Chase Action Seen as Remedy.

Mr. Chase's action, which included cancellation of the purchase contracts so far made, is expected to remedy both conditions.

Investigation yesterday disclosed that the Haines family was one of the most prominent on the pay rolls. Arthur Haines, who is president of the Calumet Union drainage district No. 1, was a foreman at $7.40 a day. He also rented a truck at $9.50 a day to Paul G. Robinson, a county engineer, who is also the Harvey city engineer and was supervisor of the sewer project. This truck was driven by a son of Haines.

Other Haineses on the roll were Walter, a brother of Arthur and collector for Thornton township, a position that pays $6,000 a year. He was a foreman at $7.40 a day and so was Joseph Haines, another brother, who resigned a job with the Whiting corporation to take over his foremanship.

Charge "High Pressuring."

The Haines family members yesterday admitted their connection with the pay rolls. Previously Andrew Nelson and Fred Duckrow, fellow members with Arthur Haines on the drainage district board, declared that Haines had drawn up a resolution transferring the sewer from the district's control to that of the city of Harvey. They added that Haines and Mayor Frank Bruggeman of Harvey had "high pressured" them into assenting to this proposal.

Investigation also disclosed that the management of the sewer project as a partnership went along with a previous business association of the principals. Mayor Bruggeman, Walter Haines, and Engineer Robinson, it was said, are all interested in the operation of a roadhouse on 147th street in Harvey.

A Factory Established.

To forward the sewer work the managers set up a factory in Harvey, in which they manufactured eight foot concrete tiles. In charge of this factory was placed William Voss, a grocer and a city commissioner of Harvey. Mayor Bruggeman said yesterday that Voss was a good factory man and was serving without compensation.

It was through this factory that most of the purchased materials passed. The materials were of two kinds, those for making the concrete tile forms and those for the tiles themselves. Complaints were made that the form materials were purchased in Berwyn. As for the sand and cement, one prospective Harvey bidder declared he was notified on Dec. 18 that bids to furnish these would be accepted and that on Dec. 20 the supplies began to roll in by the carload from a Chicago concern.

"I had no chance to get my bid in," said the complainant.

Chase to Push Work.

Mr. Chase indicated that the sewer project, which is designed to employ 1,462 men, would go ahead. He added that there might be a delay of perhaps 48 hours to determine whether the engineering is correct, but that no delay beyond that time was expected.

The Harvey political leaders said last evening they had not been notified as yet that they are not in charge.

Director Chase announced during the day that 10,000 CWA workers in Cook county are to be shifted from the work they are now doing to other projects regarded as more important. Reassignments, it is expected, will be complete tomorrow.

Orders were issued for 14 new projects and for 34 supplemental works, which altogether will employ 1,591 persons.

BANK TO SEND RFC FINAL PLEA FOR SELF RULE

Continental Directors Will Meet Today.

tors of the bank met in advance of the stockholders' session to find a bombshell tossed into their midst. Only a few hours before they were to present their proposed sale of preferred stock to the stockholders for approval of the latter they were suddenly presented with new and more drastic demands by the RFC.

The RFC, they discovered, at the last minute demanded a new amendment to the incorporation papers. This amendment would give the RFC absolute power at any time to hire and fire directors and to set the salaries of any and all officers and employés.

Considered Emergency Move.

Under the terms originally agreed upon this power would devolve upon the RFC only in case the bank should fail to pay dividends on the preferred stock or if it should fail to make regular payments into the sinking fund for retirement of the preferred.

Thus did Chairman Jones pull his ace out of the hole at the propitious moment and effectively block the directors' move to name Ranney chairman of the board. The stringent new amendment was inserted in the articles of incorporation and duly voted upon by the stockholders. With the RFC empowered to set Ranney's salary that body was in a position to make the amount so low that Ranney could not afford to accept.

During all this time the directors had received no definite word from Washington that George Ranney was unacceptable to the administration, nor any definite instruction that Cummings should be chosen.

At one time an administration official had dropped the hint that Ranney was frowned upon because of his utility connections. The directors had replied that Ranney had only been with the Chicago utility companies for a few months, and that he had been drafted for that job as part of the new deal in the Chicago utilities following the departure of Samuel Insull. They replied also that Cummings had more extensive utility connections than Ranney.

Members of Committee.

The committee of directors charged with the duty of finding a suitable candidate for the chairmanship, was composed of Sewell Avery, L. A. Downs, Alfred Cowles, William F. Hayes, Chauncey B. Borland, and Col. A. A. Sprague. James R. Leavell, as president of the bank, and Herman Waldeck, as vice president, were named to cooperate with this committee.

Mr. Avery, who is president of Montgomery Ward & Co., served as a member of the committee until Dec. 20, when the RFC "cracked down" with its new demands. Then he resigned as a protest against this unlooked for interference.

The committee offered the chairmanship to Ranney on Nov. 14, and on Nov. 21 wrote to the federal reserve board and the RFC for their approval of this choice. The federal reserve board replied that while it had no voice in the selection of officers of member banks, it thoroughly approved of the appointment of Ranney.

Chairman Jones Replies.

On Dec. 20, more than a month later, the directors received this letter from Chairman Jones of the RFC:

"I assumed from our conversations here and also discussions with officers of the bank at different times that names would be suggested for our consideration before definite action on the part of the board.

"No doubt the gentleman mentioned [Raneny] is an excellent man or you would not have considered him. However, I think nothing further should be done about it for the present. With best wishes, sincerely yours,

"JESSE H. JONES."

Other names of possible candidates were mentioned to the RFC, but were frowned upon. "These men are too theoretical," one official complained. Those who were "too theoretical" included Gov. Harrison of the Federal Reserve bank of New York and Gov. R. A. Young of the Federal Reserve bank of Boston, former governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis and a former chief national bank examiner.

Whether the RFC will use its stock holdings to elect new directors at the annual meeting on Jan. 12 the present directors have not been informed. Unless the RFC sends in its proxies there can be no quorum.

Asks More Directors.

Recently the recapitalization committee sent to Chairman Jones a list of nineteen directors to be chosen at the annual meeting. Jones complained that the full twenty-five permitted under the banking act of 1933 should be named and asked the directors to submit additional candidates. He made no suggestions concerning the additional six men to be named, however.

The directors who urged the election of George Ranney as chairman took the stand that he would be the best man for the job. They pointed to his years of experience as treasurer of International Harvester and his successful handling of the credits and funds of that corporation as particularly qualifying him for the position. On Dec. 26 Ranney asked the directors to withdraw his name as a candidate.

MILK COMPANIES TO PARLEY WITH FARMERS TODAY

Seek Means to Cut Retail Price to 9c a Quart.

Chicago milk companies controlling some 90 per cent of the city's milk sales, failing to obtain an agreement with union labor officials on a proposed reduction in wages in a meeting at the Midwest Athletic club late Tuesday night, were scheduled to negotiate today with officials of the Pure Milk association, bargaining agency of 18,000 farmers.

The companies are reported to be trying to save enough on the cost of milk and of its distribution to enable them to cut retail prices from 11 to 9 cents a quart. A thirteen hour meeting with representatives of union labor, ending early yesterday morning, failed to bring any support for such a move from the milk wagon drivers or the inside dairy plant workers.

To Discuss Cream Market.

The session with the farmers today is expected to be held behind closed doors in the Hotel La Salle. While both the farmers' and the milk company spokesmen declined to discuss the issues to come before the meeting, it was learned that the cream market is to occupy their attention, along with the milk market. No proposals for a reduced farm price for milk at this time are expected by the farmers.

Meanwhile all dairies which have tried to comply with the terms of the government milk marketing agreement, which was abrogated on Monday, are reported to be sticking to the retail price of 11 cents a quart. Considerable milk is being sold at 8 and 9 cents a quart by the cut rate concerns, it was said.

Labor Fights Wage Cut.

Organized labor intends to continue its resistence to any efforts to cheapen the cost of distributing milk, according to L. G. Goudie, president of the teamsters' joint council, which is negotiating with the companies on behalf of the milk wagon drivers.

"We are still at loggerheads," Goudie said yesterday. "The employers did give us an offer of an $8 a week cut instead of the originally proposed $10 cut, but that is still so far away from anything we can consider that it means little."

The milk companies are understood to have taken the position that the present scale of $40 a week cannot be maintained in the face of declines in sales. Either the men must accept a reduced minimum wage, with higher commissions, or it will be necessary to reduce the number of routes and carry more units of dairy products on each route, the employers have indicated.

The city council yesterday directed its committe on health, at the request of Ald. David L. Sutton [8th], chairman of the committee, to increase the number of milk inspectors employed by the city and to charge the expense of their salaries to the dairy farmers whose premises they inspect. Ald. Sutton told the council that the present force of 18 inspectors is inadequate, but said that the expense of added inspection should be borne by the farmers.

CRA APPROVES MERGER OF CITY PARK SYSTEMS

Reports Big Savings Probable.

Members of the executive committee of the Chicago recovery administration, created by Mayor Kelly to effect governmental economies, yesterday unanimously pledged themselves to support the park consolidation program up for passage by referendum at the city election of April 10. A bill proposing merger of city park systems subject to the referendum was enacted by the legislature last June.

Under the bill all park districts in the city are to be placed under the control of a board of five commissioners to be named by the mayor subject to the approval of the city council. The appointments are to be arraigned so that one post will be filled each year.

Gives Favorable Report.

A favorable report on the bill was made to the executive committee by Prof. A. R. Hatton, chairman of a sub-committee on park consolidation. He hailed the referendum as the first chance to be given citizens of Chicago to untangle the snarl of local governments.

"The program promises more systematic development of our parks, is a distinct step toward home rule, affords a more responsible park government and will effect great economies," Prof. Hatton said. "While it might be more sweeping, it gives a great deal.

"It has been estimated expenses of operating parks will be reduced by 10 and 15 per cent. Instead of separate police departments, maintenance, engineering, and recreational divisions in the three major boards and the 19 smaller units there will be centralized departments for all parks.

Campaign Planned.

"In the case of two of the units appointments would be made locally rather than by the governor. Responsibility fixed in five men would deter pay roll padding, swollen expenditures, and evils found in the recent administration of the west parks."

The executive committee voted to undertake a campaign of education to win support of voters at the referendum. The campaign will be carried through affiliated organizations of the CRA.

The committee was cheered by a report from the sanitary district announcing support of the CRA declaration against levying for principal and interest of unsold bonds. The committee had held such levies by the district, forest preserves, and south park board to be unnecessary in view of the fact the bonds were unsold.

ARREST RELIEF CLIENTS WITH $4,000 IN BANK

Steve Scilapis, 55 years old, 1737 Arcade place, and his wife, Angeline, 40 years old, were arrested yesterday on the complaint of relief authorities who discovered that although he had been subsisting on public charity at intervals since 1917, they had $4,000 in a bank. They were booked at the detective bureau on a charge of obtaining valuable goods by false pretenses.

FINED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING.

Joseph Talbert, 26 years old, 5737 Kenmore avenue, a salesman, who drove an automobile into a parked car early Monday in Judson avenue in Evanston, was fined $5 for reckless driving yesterday by Municipal Judge James H. Corcoran.

NEEDY ARTISTS' SAMPLES CROWD OFFICE OF PWAP

Four to Get Commissions for Portraits.

Paintings and sculpture crowded the public works art project headquarters in the Field building at 135 South La Salle street yesterday to be judged by the technical committee under the direction of Edgar Miller. Approximately 300 needy artists in the Chicago region on the PWAP pay roll have been working on ideas expressing the "American scene" appropriate for use in public buildings. Mr. Miller, said at least four of the artists will be given commissions to paint portraits. Among the subjects probably will be William Bogan, superintendent of schools, and Mayor Kelly.

Suggestions for artistic decorations in public schools were made yesterday by Mrs. Walter Brewster, president of the Public School Art society and wife of the regional director of the PWAP, a subsidiary of the CWA, after a visit to four schools.

Plans Lane High Mural.

At the Lane Technical High school, Addison and Western avenues, it was decided that a mural painting should be placed over the proscenium arch and one in the foyer of the main entrance on Addison street. Decorative panels depicting sports events were suggested for two schools for truant boys, the Moseley school, 2348 South Michigan avenue, and the Montifiore school, 461 North Sangamon street. An artistic drinking fountain modeled by a modern sculptor was requested by the Spaulding School for Crippled Children, 1628 West Washington boulevard.

Mrs. Brewster said every school in the city will probably receive at least one painting from her society.

Everything from Mrs. O'Leary's cow done in wood to the cotton fields of Dixie in oils, and lion cubs in a frieze plaster cast were seen in the PWAP offices.

Football Favored Subject.

Two of the favored subjects for either mural or easel treatment were the great American sport of football and the machine age. "To the artists," said Mr. Brewster, "the machine is one of the most characteristic things of our age. No wonder they enjoy portraying their impressions of its power."

By noon today artists whose work has been judged acceptable will be notified to continue and complete their ideas for further consideration.

Others on the committee acting as judges are Chester Johnson, Frances Foy, Edmund Giesbert, Carl Buehr, Jean Crawford Adams, John Storrs, Rudolph Ingerle, and Emil Zettler.

Mrs. Lowden Recovering After Pneumonia Attack

Mrs. Frank O. Lowden, wife of the former governor of Illinois, is recovering at her home in Oregon, Ill., from a serious illness of pneumonia. Her physician, Dr. Lamburtus Warmolts, said last night that the condition of Mrs. Lowden had improved greatly in the past two days and that the improvement should be maintained.

THE RIGHT AND WRONG ABOUT COLDS!

Facts It Will Pay Every Person to Know!

A "COMMON COLD" sounds like a trivial thing, but the "Common Cold" yearly, directly or indirectly, takes more lives and causes more illness and—more expense—than any other single ailment to which human flesh is heir.

The sad part of it is that much of the misery caused by colds is due to carelessness or ignorance in treating colds.

A cold, it should be borne in mind, is nothing trivial nor anything to treat lightly.

A cold, as your doctor will tell you, is an internal infection, resulting from a germ attack. In other words, a cold, regardless of the locality of the symptoms, is something lodged within the system.

Everything but the Right Thing!

The failure of many people to recognize the internal or inward character of a cold results in much mistreatment of colds. More often than not, people do everything but the right thing to a cold.

They rub pungent greases on their chests; they inhale stinging vapors; they swallow all kinds of preparations which, for seven months of the year, are good for everything but colds and which suddenly become "good also for colds" when cold weather sets in.

Many of these methods are good as far as they go—but the trouble is, they don't go far enough! They don't get at a cold from the inside which a cold, an internal infection, requires. The great danger is that, putting too much confidence in these methods, a cold may progress to the point where it becomes a matter for heroic measures.

Recognizing the apparent nature of the "Common Cold", it becomes obvious that a cold calls for a remedy that is expressly a cold remedy and one that is internal in treatment.

Such a remedy is Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine!

It is expressly a cold remedy and not good for a number of other things as well. It is internal treatment and it is complete in effect. In other words, it does the four things the relief of a cold calls for.

The Necessary Fourfold Effect

First of all, Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine opens the bowels gently but effectively, the first step in dislodging a cold.

Second, it combats the cold germs and fever in the system.

Third, it relieves the headache and grippy feeling.

Harmless As It is Effective!

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is absolutely safe to take. For more than forty years it has been the standard cold and grippe tablet of the world, the formula always keeping pace with Modern Medicine.

Every druggist in America sells Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine, 30¢ and 50¢. Good druggists—druggists who have the interests of their customers at heart—won't try to sell you a substitute for the sake of a little more profit.

Let no cold claim you as a victim! At the first sneeze or chill get Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine on the job. Taken in time, it will usually expel a cold overnight—and therein lies safety!

16 Bodies Recovered; Pit Still Holds 120.

DUX [Duchov], Czechoslovakia, Jan. 4. — [Thursday.] — (AP) — Fire started early today in the "Nelson III." coal mine, where a fearful explosion yesterday trapped 140 miners in the workings.

One hundred and twenty men still in the mine faced certain death, relief experts feared, if they had not already been killed by poisonous gases. The flames started shortly after midnight, almost seven hours after rescue crews began frantic efforts to reach the imprisoned men.

No Chance to Proceed.

Sixteen bodies have been recovered, and four exhausted and stupefied survivors climbed 1,000 feet to the surface before smoke and flames issuing from the doomed galleries forced a halt to rescue efforts. Until the fire is smothered there will be no further chance to proceed.

The toll of death, including the bodies recovered before the fire, was almost certain to be 136. Among the bodies recovered was that of a washerwoman employed in the shafthead. The four miners who escaped by climbing to the surface were too stupefied from the effects of gas and by exhaustion to talk.

Ten members of rescue parties, overcome by gas and smoke, were taken to hospitals. Fire companies, gendarmes and citizens from the whole countryside gathered at the scene.

May Have Been Dynamite.

Belief was expressed that the explosion may have been due to the ignition of an underground store of dynamite. So strong was the blast all houses in this city of 13,000 shook and it appeared the whole mine had caved in.

Dux lies in a rich coal field in the extreme northwestern part of Czechoslovakia. It is 35 miles northwest of Prague and besides its mines has important glass factories. The Nelson III. is the second largest mine in the north Bohemian coal district. It normally employs 750 men, but recently only 400 have been working in three shifts.

SEIZE ESCAPED JOLIET CONVICT AT DAD'S WAKE

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 3.—(AP)—A man identified by officials as an escaped convict from the Joliet penitentiary and three others were arrested by state police tonight during a gun fight at a house in nearby Divernon, Ill., in which a wake was being held.

The police were led by Chief L. M. Taylor and T. P. Sullivan, head of the state bureau of criminal identification. The escaped convict seized was Pete Samuiloff, 28, while a companion, believed to be Ray Regan, also wanted for completion of a term at Joliet, fled in a shower of bullets.

Officers said they were wanted for the holdup in a single day of two banks at Cullom, Ill.

Ten officers surrounded the house on a tip that Samuiloff and Regan would be there to attend a wake for the former's father, Andrew Samuiloff.

Bomb Exploded in Cigar Store in Rogers Park

A black powder bomb exploded last night in the doorway of a cigar store at 6817 North Clark street shattered windows in the store and caused damage estimated at $100. Rogers Park police, who were unable immediately to learn the name of the store's owner, started an investigation.

3 Children Burn to Death in Arkansas Farm House

Paragould, Ark., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Three small children of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hartsoe, farmers, were burned to death today when fire destroyed the home in which they had been left alone.

GRANTED DIVORCE

Mrs. Marguerite Ellsworth.

Mrs. Marguerite Ellsworth, 24 years old, 814 North Lawler avenue, was granted a divorce yesterday when she told Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude that she was almost constantly besieged by bailiffs with garnishee orders against her salary as a stenographer because her husband, Clair, continually signed notes he couldn't pay. She said he pretended he was a big business man with many duties, though he was actually unemployed most of the time. In instructing Attorney Harry X. Cole to draw up a decree, Judge Trude refused the husband permission to visit his daughter, Nancy, 3 years old, whose custody was granted the mother, until he contributes to the child's support. Mrs. Ellsworth waived alimony.

SURPRISE MOVE BY DEFENSE IN WYNEKOOP CASE

Would Suppress Part of Evidence.

Notice was served on the state's attorney yesterday that attorneys for Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, accused of the murder of her daughter-in-law, Rheta Wynekoop, on an operating table in the Wynekoop home on Nov. 21, will ask Judge Joseph B. David today to impound all articles taken from Dr. Wynekoop's home by the police and to suppress any evidence unlawfully obtained.

Attorneys W. W. Smith and Frank J. Tyrrell, representing Dr. Wynekoop, who is 64 years old, filed the petition yesterday. They stated that she is suffering from high blood pressure, heart trouble, and other ailments. She is held in the county jail. Attorney Smith asked Judge David to delay the trial, but the judge answered that the defendant and her lawyers should be ready for trial a week from today.

Calls Procedure Unusual.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, who is in charge of the prosecution, declared the defense action to be unusual in a criminal case of this kind. If granted, it would first make available to defense lawyers every bit of evidence to be used by the state against the woman physician. If the motion to suppress any evidence "unlawfully obtained" were to be granted, according to the defense lawyers, the state could use none of the articles taken from the Wynekoop home at 3406 West Monroe street, as none was taken with a legal process.

List Articles Seized.

The defense lists as among the articles taken from the home the following. Three tubes of morphine, several hand towels allegedly soaked with blood, a revolver, a bullet taken from a wall, a bottle of chloral hydrate, an ether mask, other drugs, Rheta's clothing, the operating table on which her body was found, pillows, sheets, a waste basket and its contents, surgical gowns, letters, cancelled checks, bank statements, Rheta's wedding ring, a wedding ring belonging to Rheta's husband, Earle, who did not live with his wife and his mother; photographs, and miscellaneous belongings of the Wynekoops.

Prosecutor Dougherty, it is understood, will resist the defense motions.

Burglars Rob Apartment of Attorney Edward Wolfe

Burglars entered the apartment of Edward Wolfe, 5008 West End avenue, an attorney, who was a lieutenant in the air service during the war, and obtained jewelry valued at $175.

FALSE RUMORS ABOUT SCHOOLS STIR TRUSTEES

Board to Take Steps to Check Propaganda.

Purveyors of misinformation regarding the board of education were assailed by the school trustees at their meeting yesterday. The attack was precipitated by the visit of a delegation of mothers who had been erroneously informed that the school kindergartens were to be abandoned.

"I'm utterly disgusted with the cunning propaganda going around that the board intends to discontinue the kindergartens," said Trustee Irwin Walker. "There has never been any thought of so doing.

"After talking to these mothers we discovered that a school teacher had told them the kindergartens would be destroyed. As long as certain people attempt to undermine the healthy condition of the school system the children and parents are going to suffer. These gossiping fishwives are all parasites living on propaganda in which there is not one ounce of nourishment."

Calloused to Attacks.

Trustee Joseph P. Savage declared that the situation was only a concentrated attempt to stir up agitation. He said he had become calloused to attacks which always fizzled out like a wet firecracker.

"I'm for bringing in every teacher who starts these rumors," said Trustee Ernst Buehler, vice president of the board. "I'll make the charges myself. If we can't have coöperation around here we'll have elimination.

"There's only one thing we want to do," declared Savage, "and that is to balance our budget. There will be a big deficit in the educational fund and we are asking the legislature to furnish us with additional revenue. It is most important for the public to know that the board hasn't the power to produce the revenue."

The school board has asked Gov. Horner to include in his call for a third special session of the legislature a measure that will allow liquor revenues to be apportioned to the school districts.

Mrs. W. S. Hefferan disclosed that some teachers object to the word "liquor" and suggested that "beverage" be substituted. The board passed her resolution asking for an increase in the state common school fund which now amounts to $10,500,000 annually.

Distribute Warrants Today.

James B. McCahey, president of the board, announced that the distribution of 1933 tax anticipation warrants to the teachers in lieu of cash for their services in the last half of April, 1933, would start today. The warrants, in denominations of $25 and $50, bearing 6 per cent interest, will be given out at the headquarters at 128 North Wells street. The pay day amounts to $1,950,000.

Confidence that the school board and the city would satisfy bond principal obligations to a total of $20,200,000 now falling due was expressed yesterday by City Controller Upham. The city's refunding bonds will be given to bondholders for the other securities up to 15 million dollars, and the banks are expected to purchase tax warrants for the remainder.

"The obligations will be met and the credit of the two governments will not be impaired," said Upham. "We have certain days of grace, such as 120 days in New York state and 60 days for the postal savings, in which to make the payments."

Deposit Total of 12 Million.

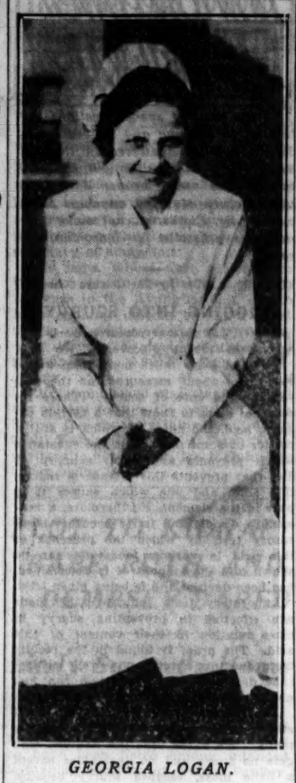
Frank McNair, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, who is handling the matter for the banks, said that investors had now deposited a total of 12 million dollars in bonds. He said that it was possible that the 15 million dollar goal would be reached by the end of the week.

The school board at its meeting formally accepted the contract with the federal public works administration for a free grant of $1,326,000 to be used in constructing school buildings in Chicago. Work has already been resumed on the completion of the Lane, Steinmetz, Wells, and Phillips High schools and the Senn High school addition. Besides the government cash the contractors will be given $4,500,000 worth of tax warrants for the work done.

Minnesota House Votes $25,000 for 1934 Fair Here

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 3.—(AP)—An appropriation of $25,000 for the Minnesota exhibit at the 1934 A Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago was approved by the Minnesota house today, 41 to 39. The bill will come up for final action at an early date.

NURSE IS MISSING



GEORGIA LOGAN.

Miss Georgia Logan, 22 years old, a student nurse at the Cook County hospital, was reported missing to police yesterday. She was last seen Monday night at 8 o'clock when she reported off duty to go to the nurses' home four blocks away at 1808 West Jackson boulevard. She never reached the home. She was described as about 5 feet 4 inches tall, with brown hair and eyes and an olive complexion. Her sister, Jean, is a graduate nurse at Grant hospital. The sisters' parents live at McKeesport, Pa.

ASSESSOR JACOBS CROSS-EXAMINED IN TAX CUT CASE

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $422,122, making a total of $99,278,990 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28, 1933. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for four years follow:

Jan. 3	$ 3,552	$ 25,659
Uncollected	15,777,680	42,103,410
	1930.	1931.
Jan. 3	$ 184,433	$ 208,478

The day's collections of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $10,611.

Assessor J. L. Jacobs spent yesterday afternoon on the witness stand before County Judge Jarecki. He was under cross-examination by Attorney Daniel S. Wentworth in the Chicago Real Estate board's suit for a 15 per cent cut on 1931 building assessments for owners of homes and small flat buildings.

He told of the technical qualifications of his staff and the members of his advisory committees. He testified that the 1931 reassessment reduced the base rates for the first sixteen classes in the assessment manual, including homes and small flat buildings, from an average of $5.31 per square foot of building area to an average of $4.83 per square foot, a reduction of about 9 per cent.

Attorney Wentworth asked why, in determining base rates for homes and small flats, a contractor's profit of 1 to 10 per cent had been included as part of the cost, while such profits had not been included as part of the costs of larger buildings for assessment purposes. Assessor Jacobs said that he would have to refer that question, as well as several others put to him, to his technical staff. The hearing was then adjourned to be reopened this morning in his office, where members of his staff will be heard.

COUNCIL GIVES JOBS BACK TO 48 INSPECTORS

The city council yesterday passed a resolution instructing Police Commissioner Allman to replace 50 temporary police clerks who have been doing license inspection work with 48 civil service license inspectors and supervisors, whose jobs were abolished as one of the economy moves by the late Mayor Cermak in 1932. The civil service employés recently obtained a writ of mandamus instructing the city to give them back their jobs. The court order provides that they shall receive any unexpended balance from the appropriation for paying the police clerks, who receive lower pay.

"ALIMONY ROW" FILLING UP AGAIN AFTER HOLIDAYS

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Attendants at the Cook county jail yesterday revealed that "alimony row" is filling up again after a holiday period of small population. Twenty men now are confined there on the technical charge of contempt of court for refusal or inability to pay alimony.

The vacancies left by those who were released by judges after holiday reconciliations or compromises with their wives, attendants said, are being filled rapidly by other ex-husbands, some of them old-timers.

Among these is John Ganchos, 40 years old, of 5419 West 30th street, Cicero, who served six months in the county jail in 1931, returning three weeks ago in time for the holidays. He owes $1,100 to his former wife for the support of two children, a girl 12 years old and a boy 11 years old.

$50 Refused by Wife.

"The last time the deputy sheriffs came to serve me with a subpoena I was leaving the house with a dinner pail for a new job," said Ganchos, a carpenter's helper by trade. "Her lawyers wanted me to go to jail, however. I offered $50, which was all I could borrow."

Ganchos was divorced on grounds of cruelty by his wife four and one-half years ago.

"I know she's had three divorces since then," he said. "I married one and one-half years after our divorce. A widow with five children, my second wife was. I've supported them ever since."

Another Old Timer.

Clarence Gustafson, 32 years old, of 2718 North Mozart street, is another old timer in alimony row. He entered the jail last May 11, but was released on June 26 last on his promise that he could go to work. He drove a truck until September, he said, when he lost his job and could no longer make payments to his wife, Lucille.

"I made a cash settlement of $800 on her at the time of our divorce, Dec. 4, 1930," Gustafson said. "She was awarded $8 for the support of our daughter, Arlene, now 8 years old."

Among the first timers in alimony row is Maj. William Ogden Johnson, 41 years old, of Wilmette, who was ordered to jail last Thursday by Judge Trude because he was unable to post a $2,000 bond in an alimony hearing. His case comes up again today before Judge Trude.

Explains Situation.

"My wife was granted separate maintenance of $40 a month for her and our three children last May," he said. "I finally quit sending her money because I never heard from her, never received receipts, or any word at all. She is living with the children in San Diego, Cal., and I cannot see them."

"I know my former wife needs the money for the two children," said another newcomer, William Bolton, 51 years old, of 4643 North Kedvale avenue, unemployed painter, who was committed Tuesday, "but I have not had steady work for three years. How can I pay $700?"

HIS WIFE MISSING SINCE SATURDAY, BROKER REPORTS

Mrs. Gertrude Smith, wife of Harry Smith, a broker, has been mysteriously missing more than four days, her husband reported to Town Hall police early today. She is 35 years old. Smith is associated with the Corporate Bond company, 39 South La Salle street, and is said to be a member of the Chicago Curb exchange.

He told police he returned to their apartment at 3520 Lake Shore drive Saturday to find his wife had gone, evidently wearing her $1,200 mink coat and a diamond ring, valued at several hundred dollars, and had left no note of explanation. He has had no word from her since, he said.

She failed to return home for a New Year's eve party which was held at their home, as planned, for friends from Milwaukee and New York.

LINCOLN PARK KEEPS ITS OPERATING COSTS WITHIN CASH INCOME

Operating expenses of Lincoln park were kept well within its cash collections during 1933, it was announced yesterday by Alfred D. Plamondon, president of the park board. The year's pay roll of approximately $1,180,000 was about $1,300,000 less than that of 1929 and salaries are now paid up to date.

"Lincoln park has been operated at the lowest possible cost during the last 12 months," said President Plamondon. "We expect to finish the year with a saving of about $28,000 on our budget. There was a little increase in pay rolls over those of 1932 due to operation under the CWA, which necessitated the employment of more men, and to keeping open the small parks which were closed during January, February, and March of 1932."

In 1929 the total pay roll amounted to $2,471,017, in 1930 it was $2,080,427; it dropped to $1,865,406 in 1931 and to $1,170,359 in 1932. For 1933 it will be approximately $1,180,000.

"When the present administration took office in January, 1933," said Mr. Plamondon, "there were unpaid salaries to the amount of $399,819, representing five months' pay. During the last year those back salaries have been paid."

YANKS IN LONDON ASK U. S. AID FOR EXPORT TRADE

Call British Customs Policy a Menace.

Ask Fair Treatment.

The chamber's appeal to the secretary of state asks that when a reciprocal tariff treaty is negotiated, the United States insist on fair treatment for its exporters to this country. It is not claimed that there has been any special discrimination against Americans, although it is admitted by the customs officials that practically two out of every three cases of advanced values have been American.

This, it is explained, is no charge against reputable American importing houses, but is due to the existence of a number of small dealers, frequently neither American nor English, who take a chance on undervaluing goods from the United States.

Consular Invoices Suggested.

This is rendered easier by the fact that no consular invoices are required by the British, as in American customs practice. A remedy would be for the British to demand invoices on goods for shipment abroad sworn to before the consul, as is now the case with goods shipped to the United States from abroad.

FRANCE HITS U. S. TRADE

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 3.—How politics and not economics is conditioning the new import quotas which will heavily affect American trade with France was revealed by American commercial authorities here today after a careful study, particularly of the figures on automobiles.

Some mystery seems to surround these quotas. The inference is that they have some bearing on France's desire to promote the automobile industry in its satellite countries of the little entente [Czechoslovakia, Rumania, and Jugo-Slavia].

For instance, it is noted that the total of auto import quotas allotted the five great auto manufacturing countries—the United States, Italy, Belgium, England, and Germany—is less than the quota allotted "other countries." These other countries are not specified.

Quotas Are Listed.

According to the French official journal, automobile quotas under the new measure are allotted as follows: United States, 314 metric quintals [the metric quintal equals 220.46 pounds and the figure represents about 30 automobiles]; Italy, 218 quintals; Belgium, 218 quintals; Germany, 148 quintals, and England, 159 quintals, making a total of 1,057 quintals, while "other countries" are given 1,117 quintals. Similar ratios apply to the quotas for tractors.

As no "other countries" beyond the five above mentioned manufacture automobiles on a large scale, the question is raised for whom this preponderant share of global automobile quotas is being reserved. It is suggested, therefore, that France intends it for the little entente nations and Poland and Austria, the purchase of whose automobiles France wants to encourage to fulfill obligations of economic assistance.

Tammany Faces More Woes as New Regime Opens Fire

New York, Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Tammany Hall, stripped of its control of the New York City government for the first time in twenty years, found itself today facing double dangers—charter revision and graft inquiries.

Behind these two anti-Tammany movements stood the Democratic governor, Herbert H. Lehman, and the new Republican mayor, Fiorello H. La Guardia.

The governor in Albany insisted that the legislature take immediate steps for reform of the New York City charter, a procedure long opposed by Tammany because of its job eliminating possibilities. The governor in his message proposed that a commission of eminent citizens, such as former Governors Alfred E. Smith and Nathan S. Miller, Elihu Root, and Nicholas Murray Butler, be empowered to draft a new city charter for submission to the voters. Charter revision is imperative, he said, in order to eliminate waste and duplication in local government.

Cites Plea of Roosevelt.

The governor presented the cause of New York City reform as of no greater importance than the reorganization of town and county government, which has been urged by him and former Governors Smith and Roosevelt for many years. So "vicious" are the old forms that they have burdened the state with more than 11,000 tax collectors, or more than ten to each town, and he depicted the citizenry as groaning under "too many layers" of government.

While the governor, who is aligned with the Roosevelt-Farley faction of the local Democracy, was acting in Albany, Mayor La Guardia was using his third day in office to get his "steam roller" operating in the board of estimate against Tammany. With 12 of the 16 votes in the board the Republican mayor put through his program for budget reform. He proposes to appear in person on Monday before the legislature in Albany and urge that his bill, giving him vast power over the city's finances, be pushed through.

Seeks Pension Reform.

La Guardia will also urge the legislature to approve a bill providing for reorganization and consolidation of the twelve city pension systems and a third measure calling for consolidation of the Magistrates and Special Sessions courts. Because of the need for a balanced city budget before Feb. 1 as a condition of obtaining a $23,000,000 federal loan for subways, the mayor hopes by his direct appeal to speed action on the bills.

The board of estimate also put through a resolution calling for an investigation of the voting of 25 year franchises to five Manhattan corporations on Dec. 22 by the "lame duck" Tammany board.

Levy Opposes Resolution.

The resolution, introduced by Aldermanic President Bernard S. Deutsch, was passed over the vigorous opposition of Borough President Samuel Levy of Manhattan, the only Tammany survivor of the board. Mr. Deutsch said, soon after the meeting, that his action was prompted by rumors that $300,000 "had changed hands" in connection with the franchise awards.

Another inquiry will be directed into alleged sale of newsstand licenses, which is said to have netted Tammany politicians as high as $500,000 a year.

TREES.

The Civil Works administration in this district has given its approval to the project for the planting of trees in Chicago. The project conforms to the ends sought by this public expenditure. It will not only provide employment, but the morale of those employed upon it will be maintained. This is not true of some of the work to which the PWA and the CWA have assigned men. When a man is set to work which is not worth the effort he makes, he cannot fail to be demoralized by it. He will shirk and we do not blame him for shirking. He lacks the satisfaction all self-respecting workers have in doing something worth while, something creative. There is nothing more disheartening than futile effort. The planting of trees is worthy of any man's labor. Every worker in this project may and ought to have the consciousness of making his contribution to the health and beauty of his community. He is creating.

Nothing is more conspicuous to the visitor to some foreign city, notably to Paris, than the presence of trees and shrubs. It is noticeable in London, also, and Americans who live in Chicago and New York and other American cities, where trees and shrubs are largely confined to parks and boulevards, must envy the old world urban communities which have not lost the charm and refreshment of verdure in their streets and private yards.

Western Europe has a marine climate with its frequent rains and relatively moderate weather. Our continental climate with less rain and higher winds makes growing a more difficult problem. But it is far from an impossible one. Any one who knows Chicago notes here and there neighborhoods which have thriving trees and shrubs. We have only to multiply these districts. The choice of the right varieties and the establishment of a public opinion which will keep guard over them are possible and certainly most desirable. Chicago was once known as the Garden City, and if its municipal motto, Urbs in Horto, referred to its location in the rich prairie region about us, it can be made to mean more by planting of trees and shrubs throughout the city. Not merely in parks and along our boulevards, but on every street not hopelessly altered, trees and shrubs should be planted. We have now means to make a substantial beginning and once under way we are confident the improvement it will accomplish insures that it will be advanced. It will add immensely to the health, comfort, and pleasure of city dwelling. It will in fact transform the city.

Nothing more constructive in the best sense has been proposed in the Public Works and Civil Works programs.

ONE OF MANY.

A patron of the elevated lines lost three dollars the other day. They were found by Policeman Carl Eckert, who turned them in to a ticket agent. A few days later the loser appeared and, having established her claim, received the money. The superintendent of transportation has written a letter commending Officer Eckert to Commissioner Allman. The officer deserved it; but it is fair to add that he is representative of the Chicago police. The force gets a good deal of irresponsible criticism with vague charges of grafting. But the rank and file are honest men, faithful to duty as well as courageous in its performance.

CRIMINALS ON PAROLE.

In the Voice of the People yesterday appeared a letter from F. Emory Lyon, superintendent of the Central Howard association. The writer is in error as to the views of THE TRIBUNE on parole. THE TRIBUNE does not think the system of parole should be incontinently abolished. We think it requires drastic improvement. Mr. Lyon's complacency is based on some false assumptions and some that are not supported by known facts.

When he asserts that "80 or 85% of paroled men complete their parole with credit and only 5 or 5% commit other offenses while on parole" he is making a statement for which there are no adequate data. But even if it is accurate it does not justify parole conditions as they are. This is not a quantitative question. The crimes committed by parolees include most of the worst in the records, and our objection to Mr. Lyon and others of like point of view is that they show much more concern for the defense of the existing system than for the urgent need for its correction which these crimes demonstrate repeatedly. The protection of the public from these crimes does not depend solely upon efficient parole, but it is scandalously weakened by the premature release of dangerous criminals who ought to be confined as long as the laws permit.

The principal laws and administration, including parole, are in urgent need of investigation and amendment. Habitual criminals and offenders of dangerous types should not have privilege of parole. Our protection from them is insufficient and should be greatly strengthened. Laws and procedure should be amended to that end. The granting of parole should be better safeguarded from politics and from mistaken humanitarianism. Supervision of parolees should be increased when public means permit, and in the meantime parole should be restricted to the limits within which supervision can be made efficient under existing conditions. If this calls for more prisons, more prisons should be provided. Criminals have too many advantages in our legal procedure and in our inadequate methods of restraint.

WHY THE ELEVATED HIGHWAY.

The first day of the year was marked by six deaths from automobile accidents. The total for 1933 was 22 over that of 1932, or 1,132 fatal motor accidents in Cook county during 1933 and 1,110 in 1932.

This ghastly record ought to give force to the demand for the construction of main elevated routes. The county now has a development plan ready for immediate action, the result of two years' expert study. There is no public work which has come before the PWA that has a better foundation. The need for it is clear and urgent. It will not only create employment promptly but will save lives and add materially to the business efficiency and social welfare of one of the most populous and economically important districts in the United States.

JUDGE McKINLEY'S APPEAL.

Charles F. McKinley, former Municipal judge, is contesting the election of November, 1930, in which the place which he claims on the bench was given to Judge George V. McIntyre. Judge McKinley has been trying for three years to get his claim adjudicated but without success. County Judge Jarecki, who has jurisdiction over election contests, expresses regret that he has been so much occupied with tax litigation that he has not had the time to complete the hearing of Judge McKinley's appeal. To this contention Judge McKinley replies that a downstate judge might have been assigned to hear the case.

Judge McKinley surely has a resonable complaint, and this is said without in any sense reflecting on Judge Jarecki's good faith in the matter. It is absurd that a dispute growing out of an election three years ago should not yet be decided. It is absurd and it is also menacing. Assuming that Judge McKinley's case is well founded, there has been a virtual nullification of the popular will for three years and more. If that can happen without the deliberate design of the political faction in control of the election machinery it can and will happen when there is a deliberate purpose to defeat the public will. The delay in the McKinley case is a dangerous precedent. That road leads to government by coup d'état and assassination.

THE SLUSH FUND BEHIND THE SEAWAY TREATY.

Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri has performed a distinguished service in bringing to public attention the fact that a half million dollars and more has been collected and spent by the St. Lawrence seaway lobby. Not the least astonishing aspect of the matter is that by the admission of the secretary of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater association all but a negligible proportion of the huge sum came from state treasuries. The Illinois legislature alone has been induced to provide almost $80,000 in all, and only the opposition of Gov. Horner prevented the customary appropriation.

Senator Clark is considering the introduction of a resolution for a senate committee to investigate the collection and expenditure of the fund. He may well refer to the money as a corruption fund, for the money has been used to corrupt the judgment of American citizens, in office and out, regarding the merits of the seaway and of the treaty which has been negotiated with Canada. The large sums available for propaganda have paid for conferences and meetings which gave the appearance of a widespread enthusiasm for the project, although the vast majority of citizens were quite indifferent and the majority of disinterested expert opinion opposed to the scheme. No doubt the expenditure of the money helped to gloss over the facts that the treaty robs the United States of its sovereignty over Lake Michigan, robs the Mississippi valley of the water needed to make its outlet to the gulf usable, and robs the taxpayers of our country for the benefit of Canadian manufacturers of building materials and Canadian labor to be employed in canalizing the St. Lawrence river.

PLANES FOR THE COAST GUARD.

Several new cutters are being constructed for the coast guard for use in Lake Michigan. They will each cost about $650,000. The adventure of the Sea Gull, located by a coast guard cutter after an eight hours' search, suggests amendment of the program. The cutter came from Grand Haven, Mich., cruising 53 miles, to find the Sea Gull only 20 miles from its starting point, Milwaukee. An amphibian plane reconnoissance would have done the job quicker and easier.

The cost and upkeep of an amphibian is much less than that of a cutter and is more efficient for search. Why not have amphibians based at Chicago and other proper points on the shore, manned by coast guard pilots? The number of the more expensive cutters could be reduced and efficiency increased.

Editorial of the Day

MILWAUKEE FINANCIALLY PINCHED.

[Illinois State Journal, Springfield.]

The controller of Milwaukee admits that the city is "pinched." There is a deficit in the shape of uncollected taxes and "baby bonds." But Milwaukee is a going concern. It has paid all interest and principal on bonds which fell due. City pay rolls, once two months behind, now are released within two weeks of the date due.

Little attention would be paid to Milwaukee's financial condition, not unusual these days, were it not for the fact that Milwaukee boasted loudly two years ago that the city had a surplus of $4,000,000. The figures were big news, because at the end of 1931 most municipalities were experiencing financial difficulty. Any surplus was news, and that $4,000,000 was a sensation. Some pessimists suggested at the time that the resounding surplus might be nothing more than a hocus-pocus feat in accountancy. They came close to the mark.

Cold figures, we are informed, do not lie. But when figures have been expertly and magically juggled for a time they are warmed by friction, and the proverb manufacturers say nothing about the infallibility of hot or warmed over figures.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THEY'VE CUT most of the "whereases" and things like that out of the simplified rules for court procedure by a new law. Now the papers filed in court may say "John Smith hit William Robinson on the nose" instead of saying "and, whereas, the said John Smith did designedly, wantonly, and with malice aforethought strike, hit, smite, sock, and cause his clenched fist to connect, collide, fall against, and come in violent contact with the said nose, beak, smeller, olfactory organ, central facial feature, and proboscis of said William Robinson, and wherefore said William Robinson did suffer great pain, anguish, hurt, injury, suffering, and bodily torment, mortification, embarrassment, humiliation and dismay." Well, the new form will be simpler, but it will be harder for a lawyer to convince his client that he's earned his fee.

But just the same if one of the people who helped open old King Tut's grave doesn't die until he's 190 the newspapers in that far-off time will give him a headline: "King Tut's Curse Falls on Another Victim."

DIGGING INTO SCURVY.

SHOULD further research work confirm recent discoveries we may soon know much more than we do now about measures for the prevention and cure of scurvy. These researches seem to show that a certain organic acid, the name of which is still a matter of some dispute, is the substance which prevents and cures scurvy. A diet that prevents this disease is rich in this acid and one which causes it is poor in the element. Furthermore, a reasonably simple and fairly accurate laboratory test, by which the presence of this acid in various foodstuffs can be shown and the amount of it determined, has been devised and is being given trial.

Laboratory tests indicate that foods are effective in preventing scurvy in close relation to their content of this acid. The proof is found in the results from feeding animals as well as test tube determinations. The two run just about parallel.

Analyses of certain foods for this substance give results that will surprise many. We agree that the Eskimo, who gets no fruits and no vegetables except a little moss, escapes scurvy because when he eats an animal he eats organs and all. Dr. Cook saved the members of an American antarctic expedition from scurvy by having them eat penguins—all but the feathers. These analyses show that some of the internal organs of animals are richer than orange juice in the antiscorbutic principle. The adrenal gland appears to lead all the rest, though livpr contains a good deal of it.

Of the various vegetables and fruits, horse-radish appears to be much the best source of scurvy preventive. In one set of analyses from British sources cabbage ranked next. In approximate figures some others ranked about as follows: Water cress; orange, lemon, and grapefruit juices, about on a par, came second; some specimens of apple peel were in this very rich group, though most apple peel ranked below; pineapple juice came next, and then tomato juice; banana, potato, rhubarb, grapes, carrots, peach juice, and apple pulp followed. Milk was about in the peach juice and apple pulp class. Eggs and oats had practically none at all.

This classification is neither complete nor final. Future analyses will show that the antiscorbutic powers of different foods will vary according as the analyses are made on fresh foods or material that has been kept. Much will depend on how it has been kept, whether canned or in glass, covered by earth kept in the cellar, or exposed to sun and air. We know now that tomato put in cans does not deteriorate. Orange juice may keep very well if canned just right. Cabbage loses its protective power rapidly when allowed to wilt in the air. We may find that something depends on the soil on which the vegetables and fruits have been grown, the amount of rainfall and of sunshine, and on the growing season.

While severe scurvy is no longer of any practical importance, there is still a great deal of gum trouble, nosebleed, neuralgic pains, and other minor troubles that are scorbutic.

M. W. writes: My boy has a swollen neck gland and I would like to know if a sun lamp would be beneficial treatment.

REPLY.

Yes, though direct sunlight would be better. The skin should be tanned to a deep brown. The tonsils should be cleaned. The use of raw milk should be discontinued.

DEPENDS ON MARK.

Mrs. N. P. writes: How can a birthmark be removed? One physician said by radiation and another said with snow from the ground.

REPLY.

The answer depends on the mark. Any birthmark can be removed. There are several methods. The choice depends on the kind of a birthmark and somewhat on its location and the age of the child.

You misunderstood the second physician. He said carbonic acid snow, and that method is very well suited to certain birthmarks, but not to others. The same is true of radiation and also of surgical removal. In some cases removal requires more of an operation than the condition warrants.

From Across the Sea

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON.—Great Britain has its bootleggers. Although they may not be as numerous as they have been in America, the gangs are highly efficient and well organized. They are spread throughout the country, but the four big centers of this highly profitable and illicit trade are London's east end, Leeds and Manchester in the north, and Glasgow, Scotland.

But they are speedily being driven out of business by customs and excise officers. They swoop down on a town and round up the culprits. "Home distilleries" are being raided daily and their owners vigorously prosecuted.

Eleven seizures of illicit distillation plants were made in England and Wales in the year ending in July, as compared with two in 1929. Ten seizures were made in Scotland and eighty-nine in northern Ireland.

"Home distilling" is a most difficult thing to discover in Britain. Bootleg liquor is made and distributed as a rule in closed communities, and it is possible to operate a still over a considerable period before the authorities can take action.

Most liquor seizures are made when gangs fall out and members "squeal" either to the police or customs officers.

Landlords of saloons, as well as private individuals, are tempted to enter bootlegging by the great profits. Investigations have revealed that a small still, properly handled, is capable of earning more than $500 profit in a month. The liquor is easy to make, but its marketing is difficult.

As a rule, homemade whisky is dynamite. Most of it is sold a few days after it has dripped from the "worm." White and crystal-clear, it is redolent of grain and fiery to the taste. Usually it is above 65 per cent overproof in strength.

A mixture of yeast and brown sugar is one method used by illegal distillers, who concentrate on producing a clear spirit which can easily be colored.

IRISH LETTERS.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—This is a modest attempt to answer a question you asked in your provocative, well informed editorial, "Another Irish Exodus." The question was: "What has happened to Irish letters and why?" The answer may be that Irish letters are becoming definitely Irish. Not the least of many national possessions which the Irish people have recovered or are on their way to recovering is their own language. It is not, I think, without significance that the most notable book written in recent years by an Irish author was written originally in Gaelic. The book I refer to is "Twenty Years A-Growing" [as it is called in English]. This truly beautiful book was written by Maurice O'Sullivan, native of the Blaskets, a group of islands every bit as Gaelic as the famed Arans. Mr. O'Sullivan, I might add, is a policeman, a member of the civic guards. Some one more familiar with modern Irish literature than myself—I mean genuinely Irish or Gaelic literature—may, I hope, be induced to furnish a comment on the remarkable works of the late Padraic O'Conaire and other contemporary Gaelic authors.

The flight of Anglo-Irish writers from Ireland is an ancient tale; it goes as far back, at least, as Oliver Goldsmith. Writing English—Anglo-Irish, if you prefer—they gravitate as naturally to London as writers in America do to New York. To suggest that De Valera might have something to do with the most recent exodus is to suggest that Hecht, Anderson, and many another left Chicago because they didn't like Harrison, Thompson, or Dever. EBLANA.

STREET NAMES.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—I believe that Lake street for the distance, at least, that it runs under the elevated, should be renamed Insull court for his future homecoming.

If the city fathers wish to change more street names, I suggest they work on an order as this: Lincoln avenue or Lincoln street, Central avenue or Central Park avenue, Chicago avenue or South Chicago avenue, Fulton street or Fullerton avenue, Long avenue or Longwood drive. HARVEY M. EHLERS.

HEADLINES OF OTHER DAYS.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—The single column headlines in the earlier of THE TRIBUNE'S historical souvenirs, lauded by H. B. Harris, were not due entirely to conservatism. They were attributable more to the mechanical limitations of the so-called type revolving press, invented and perfected by Col. R. M. Hoe in 1844, and in general newspaper use for many years later. A picture of this press graces THE TRIBUNE'S nameplate in these early souvenirs. The cylinder of this press was not perfectly round, but consisting of many narrow planes, each plane a column. The columns were laboriously "set" by hand and clamped between wedge shaped column rules.

Streamer heads were a mechanical impossibility in those days, and were not seen until the perfection of stereotyping, which, judging from these interesting specimens, the progressive TRIBUNE adopted at an early date. A. J. HOUSINGER.

AN APPEAL TO THE POLICE.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—On the morning of Dec. 31, 1933, I made a personal visit to the Stanton avenue police station to file a written complaint, signed by several merchants in the vicinity of 39th and State streets, against the nefarious practice of purse snatching. As I offered the letter to the desk sergeant, an elderly man about 65 years of age, I was roughly greeted with these words: "Don't bother me with that; can't you see that I am busy?" I replied: "Then put it aside and look over it later or turn it over to the proper authority, for I presume that this is the place to file complaints." A colored officer standing near took up the letter, read it, and replied: "All right, doctor; I will turn it over to the lieutenant."

To whom shall we appeal for protection against the rising generation of thieves and outlaws? Will the citizens be forced to carry weapons [pistols, razors, and what not] in order to defend themselves? D. D. FOOTE, D. D. S.

SILENCE IN THE PULPIT.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—I have been looking, but so far in vain, for reports in the press of any comments made by the clergy [outside of that nuisance at Detroit] concerning the alteration in the value of the dollar. One would naturally imagine that those who preach to us about our iniquities would not remain silent when contemplating the colossal iniquity which those in power at Washington are putting over on us. Or are our vanguards of religion so blind that they cannot see the departure from honesty and uprightness that is inherent in this monkeying with the dollar?

They are very relict in their duty to preach about the big sin that is being committed and to demonstrate its great venality. Such laxness is sure to breed much disrespect for our religious leaders. I sincerely hope that some of them will wake up and do some vigorous talking against the dishonest money.

DEBTS.

Chicago, Dec. 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can a person be held responsible for debts contracted, such as purchase price of an automobile which has been taken by mortgage foreclosure? 2. Is there a law as to minimum wages that can be assigned and collected? 3. If so, what is the amount allowed a single person living with his parents and without dependents or rent to pay? G. T.

1. Most of these contracts are so worded as to authorize the creditor in the event of the buyer's default to repossess the article, sell for the buyer's account and hold the buyer for the balance.
2. The legal exemption from garnishment to the head of a family is $20 per week. There is no exemption where a wage assignment has been executed.
3. There is no exemption.

CANAL ENGINEERS ASSAIL PROPOSED DIVERSION LIMIT

Criticize Report Made by Gen. Markham.

The suppressed report made public in Washington on Tuesday, in which Maj. Gen. Edward M. Markham, chief of army engineers, declared that he did not believe it appropriate for the chief engineer to have discretionary power to increase diversion of water at Chicago, brought protests from Sanitary district engineers here yesterday.

These engineers recalled that in August, 1930, the chief of army engineers, then Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, telephoned from Washington to Chicago and asked the Sanitary district engineers to increase the flow of water from Lake Michigan from 8,000 cubic feet per second to 12,000 cubic feet. The increase was demanded to raise the level of the Illinois river, on which Patrick J. Hurley, then secretary of war, was making a survey trip, after his craft had been stuck on sandbars several times.

Gen. Jadwin, in communicating with H. P. Ramey, assistant chief engineer of the Sanitary district, explained that the flow of water in the Illinois had fallen so low because of long continued drought that it was not navigable in many places. Gen. Jadwin said that tugboats had pulled the secretary's boat over shallow places in the channel. He added that the increase in flow at Chicago would raise the level of the Mississippi as far down the river as Memphis, Tenn.

At that time Gen. Jadwin pointed out that he did not have the discretionary power to order the flow increase. He said that if he had possessed the right to order the flow increase he would have given such an order.

In commenting on Gen. Markham's report, which was favorable to the adoption of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty, the engineers here pointed out that Maj. Gen. Jadwin and Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, both of whom preceded Gen. Markham as chief of army engineers, had held that 5,000 cubic feet per second was the minimum flow of lake water from Chicago which would make possible navigation of the Illinois waterway.

Advocates Smaller Diversion.

Gen. Markham in his findings said that the rate of 1,500 cubic feet per second for the average diversion of lake water would be sufficient to insure the navigability of the Illinois waterway, provided two dams and locks were constructed, at Peoria and La Grange, with a widening of the Illinois river below Starved Rock. This average diversion is the amount of water allowed the Sanitary District of Chicago for purposes of sanitation by the United States Supreme court ruling of April, 1930, and also is the limit of diversion which has been written into the proposed St. Lawrence waterway treaty.

Testimony of Gen. Jadwin during the hearings of the great lakes diversion case before Charles Evans Hughes, then acting as a special master for the Supreme court, was cited as evidence of his opinions upon amount of diversion necessary for development of a useful lakes to gulf waterway.

Jadwin on Waterway Need.

In giving his evidence upon the question: "What diversion, if any, of water from Lake Michigan will be necessary for the purpose of maintaining navigation in the Chicago river, as a part of the port of Chicago, after sewage disposal works are in full operation?" Gen. Jadwin replied that it would take diversion of 1,500 c. f. s. to keep the sewage from backing into the lake. He then added:

"This discussion does not modify in any respect the statement heretofore made that an average diversion of 5,000 c. f. s. will be necessary to maintain navigation in the Illinois river, as contemplated by existing authority of congress, and under the plans of improvement now under way."

Gen. Brown, in testifying before a congressional committee in May, 1930, replied to a question as to the smallest flow of water necessary for the waterway: "The indications are, with everything in view, that something like 5,000 c. f. s. should be held available for this purpose."

Depends on Illinois River.

The engineers also pointed out that although some 26 locks, dams, and pools are being constructed in making a channel in the Mississippi river from St. Louis to St. Paul, there has been no adequate provision to insure a navigable depth for a 17 mile reach of the river immediately above the chain of rocks section a few miles above St. Louis. Recognized as one of the worst stretches of the river, the engineers pointed out that this reach is dependent for depth in low water times upon the flow of the Illinois river.

On the basis of Gen. Markham's report, the "reliable flow" from Chicago would amount to 2,400 c. f. s. This "reliable flow" would be formed by the 1,500 c. f. s. diversion from the lake and the local pumpage.

Sets March 19 for Trial of 9 Accused of Fraud

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday set March 19 as the date for the trial of nine officials of the Securities Investment trust and the Continental Mortgage Bond company on charges of using the mails to defraud. Not guilty pleas were entered by all defendants. Those named in the indictment, charging them with defrauding investors of approximately $450,000, are John W. Fowler, John S. Duckworth, Lawrence Fowler, Howard S. Ivie, Walter I. Beam, J. Stanley Conroy, Edward H. Miller, Elbert O. Smith, and Andrew C. Thompson.

EXPERT BOOSTS VALUATION OF PUBLIC SERVICE

Reproduction Cost Put at 167 Million.

The appearance of two widely known utility rate experts and the testimony of one enlivened the hearing before the Illinois commerce commission yesterday, at which the commission has asked the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois to show why its electric rates should not be lowered.

At a previous hearing two of the commission's experts, Dr. William A. Dittmer and Mark Wolff, testified that the utility concern is making an excessive profit on its investment. They estimated the value of the company's plant and equipment at between $115,000,000 and $133,000,000. Their estimates were based on the methods advocated by the two rate experts, Albert S. Richey of Wooster, Mass., and C. F. Lambert of Kansas City, Mo.

Testifies as Company Witness.

Mr. Richey was called yesterday as a witness for the company, and declared that his national index system, used by the commission experts, could not be applied in the Chicago area. Local factors, such as the higher cost of labor here, necessitated the employment of a local index system, he said. By use of the local index he figured the reproduction cost of the company's plant at $167,000,000.

Cross-examination of Richey by Attorney Harry R. Booth, for the commission, drew from the witness the admission that his figure of $167,000,000 included a value of $23,000,000 added to the other assets because the company is "a going concern." Attorney Booth said the commission's experts had not included that item as an asset, evaluating only the physical property.

Lawyer Makes Statement.

After the hearing had recessed for the day, to be resumed this morning at 10 o'clock, Attorney Booth made the following announcement:

"The Public Service company may have thought they were surprising us, but they weren't. We knew Mr. Richey would be here, so we brought in another witness. Mr. Lambert has been sitting in the hearing room for the last few days and we are going to use him before this thing is over."

DELAY SENDING FUGITIVE BACK TO LOS ANGELES

Municipal Judge William J. Brooks granted a continuance yesterday in the case of Harry O. Voller, ticket broker and former manager for the late Texas Guinan, when Voller was arraigned as a fugitive from California where he is under indictment on a charge of planning the robbery of Mae West. Los Angeles detectives informed the court Gov. Horner had not yet signed extradition papers.

Gov. Horner in Springfield emphatically denied "bartering" with the California authorities regarding Voller. He said he had acted on humanitarian grounds because Voller is a consumptive and if taken back to California could not obtain his release on $50,000 bail. Voller had agreed to waive extradition and go willingly if his bail in Los Angeles were cut to $15,000.

"I am perfectly willing to honor a sister state's plea for extradition," Gov. Horner said. "But I think the authorities under these circumstances should reduce the bond because of the suspect's health."

HENRY FORD'S BROTHER BROKE; OWES $412,900

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 3.—(AP)—William Ford, who at one time asserted he did not envy his wealthy brother, Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer, has filed a petition in bankruptcy.

Listing liabilities of $412,900 and setting forth that he has no assets, not even an automobile, Ford told Referee in Bankruptcy Paul H. King that he had thirty creditors.

Ford was formerly head of the William Ford Tractor Sales company of suburban Highland Park. Until 1920 he was associated with Henry and Edsel Ford in developing the Fordson tractor.

Ford, who is 63 years old, is the youngest brother of Henry Ford. In appearance he strikingly resembles his elder brother. Ford served as president and chief of police of Dearborn when that suburb was a village. He has had no business connection with his elder brother for more than ten years.

DUCE PROPOSES POWERS PERMIT HITLER TO REARM

Mussolini Abandons Hope for a Reduction.

ROME, Jan. 3.—(AP)—A revision of arms figures calculated to strike a satisfactory balance among national armaments, rather than a wholesale slash previously favored by Italy, was said authoritatively today to have been suggested by Premer Mussolini to Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary.

The two statesmen conferred for more than two hours this afternoon seeking a way of solving the present Franco-German deadlock on disarmament, and exchanged ideas regarding the Italian premier's demand for league of nations reforms.

An official communique issued tonight said they had a "cordial colloquy" and will meet again tomorrow morning.

Abandons Hope for Arms Cut.

In the absence of a more complete account, the exact nature of the talk could only be conjectured, but well informed circles believed that Il Duce has practically abandoned hope in the present situation of winning France over to a thesis of an immediate and radical cut in arms.

The almost official press joined in this opinion. Il Lavoro Fascista declared that "experience gained in the disarmament conference has shown it is impossible, at least for some time to come, to bring about any noteworthy reduction in armaments in the most heavily armed countries."

Revision of armament distribution, according to the Italian idea, would take the shape of German rearmament, as Chancellor Hitler has demanded, and hence the question, instead of being one of disarmament, would become one of rearming.

Duce Raps Versailles Treaty.

Sir John declined to discuss his conference with Mussolini upon returning to the British embassy after the long talk at Venezia palace. Tonight the Briton was the guest of Mussolini at an official banquet.

Regarding the suggested reform of the league, it was considered certain that the Italian premier in outlining his views to Sir John, insisted that the Geneva institution should be divorced from the Versailles treaty which, he maintains, was drafted in a spirit of vengeance.

Mussolini also was believed to have suggested depriving the league of its power to invoke military sanctions and the setting up of a higher hierarchy of the big powers within it along the lines of the four-power European peace pact signed last summer by Germany, Italy, Great Britain, and France.

It was reported semi-officially that Mussolini has no inflexible program of reform to offer, but prefers to leave the way open for negotiations.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY CLOSED BY COURT ORDER

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 4 [Thursday].—(AP)—The Continental Life Insurance company, which has nearly $100,000,000 insurance in force and about 48,000 policyholders, today was in the hands of the state insurance department, temporarily restrained from operation.

Circuit Judge H. A. Hamilton issued the order late yesterday upon petition of R. Emmet O'Malley, state insurance superintendent, who alleged the company is insolvent or "will be so grossly mismanaged" as to become insolvent if continued under control of its present officers.

O'Malley seeks a permanent injunction and a decree dissolving the company. A hearing on his petition will be held Saturday. Edward B. Toler, a representative of the insurance department, was placed in charge of the company pending outcome of the litigation.

OAK PARK BOARD IN UPROAR OVER NEW OFFICIALS

The Oak Park village board held a stormy session last night over the attempt of Village President Willis McFeely to replace Fred W. Pringle, corporation counsel, and W. B. Ross, veteran tax collector of the village.

President McFeely announced on Dec. 6 that he had accepted the resignations of the two officials. A board meeting Dec. 20 ended in a violent dispute. McFeely declared the meeting adjourned and departed, whereupon the five trustees held a rump session and reappointed Pringle and Ross.

Last evening McFeely announced that he had appointed Attorney John F. Tyrrell corporation counsel, and Herbert Steger, former University of Michigan football captain, tax collector.

Empty Your Gall Bladder

And You'll Feel Like a Billion Dollars!

Sleepless nights, dog-tired days, headaches, pains in all parts of the body—indigestion—gas. Do you suffer from one or all?

And have you tried every medicine under the sun, only to find yourself back where you started?

No wonder, for you, like thousands of others have probably been treating yourself for everything but the right thing. Get at the unsuspected cause—your gall bladder. If sluggish, it won't pour into your small intestines the most important digestive juice necessary for neutralizing gastric acid, quickening digestion and disinfecting the intestinal tract. If this juice doesn't flow freely, then your food sours, putrifies, stomach becomes filled with gas and acidity.

From the world's greatest chemists comes a simple, pleasant means to make this digestive juice flow freely, and put you on the sunny side of life. Magnesia Oxoids, little white tablets that release pure oxygen. This amazing oxygen—purer than the air you breathe—plus magnesia, gently stimulates the gall bladder, neutralizes burning acidity and sweeps that poison-packed bowel clean.

Take two Oxoids after each meal—and before retiring—drink plenty of water—put your gall bladder to work—and you'll jump out of your skin for joy. Such new health! Such robust vigor! Get Magnesia Oxoids today from your druggist.—Advertisement.

ROME, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Steps to build up a force of 100,000 officers to supervise the military and moral training of 2,000,000 boys, members of the Balilla and the Evanguardisti, youthful Fascist organizations, were announced today by Renato Ricci, undersecretary of education.

The boys, whose ages range from 7 to 14 years in the Balilla and 14 to 18 years in the Avanguardisti, are to have ranking officers of the Fascist militia or special assignment. Orders were issued to start recruiting the lads up to the 2,000,000 figure immediately.

Ricci's published statement charged the officers to give the youthful Black Shirts the strict training required to fulfill Fascist interests and for "preparing the new generation for possible emergencies."

Lindy Suspect's Home Yields Evidence.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Two idols of sportdom were believed today to have been listed among intended kidnaping victims of Verne Sankey, who already is sought on several indictments charging him with that crime.

County Attorney M. F. Kinkead revealed he had discovered evidence in Sankey's ranch home at Gann Valley, S. D., which led him to believe Sankey not only was implicated in the kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby but also had intended to abduct Babe Ruth and Jack Dempsey.

Linked to Other Crimes.

Kinkead said he unearthed the evidence in his attempts to run down abductors of Haskell Bohn, son of a St. Paul manufacturer, who was kidnaped and released after payment of $12,000 ransom. Sankey is under indictment here for that crime and also is wanted in Denver for the $60,000 ransom abduction of Charles Boettcher.

Prosecutor Kinkead previously asserted a comparison of ransom notes in the Lindbergh, Boettcher and Bohn kidnapings showed they might all have been written by the same person.

"We found in the basement of Sankey's house," Kinkead said, "a complete account of the Lindbergh kidnaping case. We also found a sort of letter file that contained full accounts of Jack Dempsey's earnings and those of Babe Ruth. One sheet contained a picture of Babe Ruth with the notation on the bottom 'will present this.'"

Babe Wants Bat Handy.

Dispatches from New York said Babe Ruth listened incredulously to the information he might be an intended kidnap victim.

"Well," he was quoted as saying, "I sure hope they get that guy. I never got any letters from him or anything, but I don't want him coming my way unless I can get my hands on a bat."

Justice department officials at Washington admitted they wished to question Sankey in the Boettcher case but refused either to confirm or deny his possible connection with the Lindbergh case.

Mrs. Fern Sankey, wife of the fugitive, now is held in Denver where she is under indictment in the Boettcher case.

GREEK EX-KING HUNTS COUNTRY TO GET A DIVORCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 3.—What an ex-king virtually without a country does when he wishes to divorce his exiled wife formed the subject of a piquant discussion in Greece tonight. The case is that of George II., who was forced to relinquish the Greek throne and leave the country nearly ten years ago.

George travels around Europe with a Rumanian passport granted by his brother-in-law, King Carol of Rumania, who happens to be a brother of George's wife, the former Queen Elizabeth of Greece. Carol has already divorced George's sister, former Queen Helen of Rumania. Now George wants to divorce Carol's sister.

The difficulty lies in the fact that George does not enjoy Greek nationality. And Carol will not issue a decree in Rumania in favor of his brother-in-law. A way out is seen by George's friends via Denmark. His brother, Paul, and his sisters, Irene and Catherine, carry Danish passports as members of the defunct Glucksburg dynasty, which hails from Denmark. If George can get such a passport he may be able to get a Danish divorce.

ALFRED DECKER & COHN SUED BY PEINE'S WIDOW

She Asks Accounting and Dissolution of Concern.

The dissolution of Alfred Decker & Cohn, one of the largest clothing houses in the country, is asked in a suit filed in Circuit court yesterday by Mrs. Mercedes Peine, widow of Adolphus G. Peine, former vice president of the concern. The company has offices at 416 South Franklin street.

Mrs. Peine, who lives at 2468 Estes avenue, is the former Countess Senceirski of Russia and the Argentine. She, her daughter and two of Peine's children by a previous marriage, inherited his estate which was valued at about $500,000 at the time of his death on Dec. 15, 1929.

What the Suit Asks.

The suit, filed by Attorney Ernest Schein, requests that, in addition to dissolving the company, the court appoint a receiver, order a complete accounting, award Mrs. Peine damages, and obtain the return of a loan of $211,000 alleged to have been made by the company to Alfred Decker, its president.

Mrs. Peine charges that the officers and directors of the company, who are made defendants in the action, permitted the company's assets to be "stolen, wasted, and squandered," until, she alleges, the concern is now in a state of insolvency.

The company was operated at a loss of more than $4,000,000 during the four years from 1930 to 1933 inclusive, the suit charges. In spite of that, it alleges, the defendants have been annually purchasing $75,000 worth of the concern's stock at par though the stock was not worth par and could have been bought for less, according to the suit.

Charges Loan from Insurance.

The company had insured Mr. Peine's life for $500,000, but upon his death, the bill declares, $211,000 of the insurance money was lent to Decker instead of being used to improve the concern's finances. When she learned of this and the defendants' other alleged acts of negligence, Mrs. Peine declares, she remonstrated with them, but they paid no heed to her protests, she charges.

Mrs. Peine also charges that she has been denied access to the company's books and asks damages of 10 per cent of her stock holdings on this ground, as provided under the new Illinois corporation act. She holds $30,000 worth of the concern's stock.

By filing the suit under the new Illinois civil practice act Mrs. Peine is permitted to seek chancery relief and monetary damages in the same action.

WOMAN AWARDED U. S. LICENSE AS SHIP NAVIGATOR

Mrs. Marie S. Hintze, 27 years old, housewife and mother, yesterday surprised officials in the United States Steamboat inspection service in the United States courthouse by answering correctly their nautical questions and obtaining a license permitting her to operate ships on all waters.

"It's a tradition of the sea that women have no place on board a ship, but my wife is a real skipper," said Fred Hintze Jr., 32 years old, her husband, who himself has skippered boats for seventeen years. "She's piloted boats through some bad storms on Lake Michigan."

Mrs. Hintze, with her husband and 4 year old son, Fred Hintze III., has closed her flat at 2718 North Rockwell street for the winter and is living aboard their Oh Lou, 87 foot gasoline engine yacht, now in the river near Clark street.

100 U. S. WARSHIPS 'ATTACKED' FROM AIR IN PACIFIC

WITH THE UNITED STATES FLEET OFF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, Jan. 3.—(AP)—High ranking officers of the United States navy learned today something about what the dreadnaught has to expect with latest developments in attack from the air. The results were as secret as the sky raid was spectacular.

More than a hundred fighting ships were out of the San Pedro and San Diego bases in the commencement of three days of battle exercises.

The main power of the United States fleet was the battle line of three divisions of dreadnaughts. The battle fleet formed in tactics of defense against an air attack, under the command of Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, a veteran of naval air tactics.

Although the administration was frankly described as temporary when King Carol named the former minister of education to succeed the assassinated Premier Ion G. Duca, complications developed even sooner than many political circles expected.

The resigning minister of commerce, George Tatarescu, was immediately commissioned by the monarch to form a new cabinet and he took the oath of office this evening.

Forecast War on Nazis.

In several quarters Tatarescu was expected to pursue a vigorous campaign against the anti-Semitic and Nazi Iron Guard, a member of which killed the former premier on Dec. 29.

The veteran foreign minister, Nicholas Titulescu, on Jan. 1 proffered what was variously described as a resignation and a notification that he no longer considered himself a cabinet member.

He asserted that he was through with a government that "so signally failed to take sufficiently energetic measures against a movement [the Iron Guard] which imperilled" the nation. Amid denials and counter denials of Titulescu's intentions rumors spread that Angelescu himself was unwilling to continue.

Due to Submit Cabinet Today.

Tomorrow Tatarescu is expected to be elected the new chief of the Liberal party, of which Duca was a leader, and afterward to draw up a complete cabinet list for submission to the king.

Tatarescu is known in Rumania not only for his brilliant oratory, political skill, and personal charm but as the author of "The Storm," a tragedy played in Rumania several years ago.

REPEAL AROUSES A NEW INTEREST IN GLASSWARE

New Designs on Exhibit Before Buyers.

Exhibitors at the showing of glassware, china, and pottery now in progress in the Merchandise Mart yesterday pointed out the effect of the repeal of prohibition in stimulating a new interest in glassware. The exhibit, which opened on Tuesday and will continue through next week, is open only to buyers, who come from all parts of the country.

With different glasses for the various drinks [there are 18 in a set] and more enthusiasm for banqueting, much attention is being paid to table setting and the selection of glassware and china, one dealer pointed out.

New Colors in Glassware.

"Among the newest colors in glassware are the deeper shades," he said. "Intense colors like regal blue, burgundy, and empire green have come with repeal. In fact, 80 per cent of our glass is colored. Pastel shades remain popular, such as golden topaz, azure blue, amber, green, or lavender. In the old days Rhine wine was served in light green glasses and the rest in clear crystal. We've modernized one of the crystal styles of 40 years ago for the more conservative."

A new glassware called silver mist is a fumed glass that appears velvety. It comes in translucent white in wine sets and table pieces. Another new style is the modern neo-classic crystal stemware in whirlpool, rocket, seaweed, and other etched designs.

New Cigaret Lighter.

One exhibitor displayed a new kind of cigaret lighter for the dinner table. It has the appearance of a piece of stemware, but the base is curved to form an ash tray and a candle burns in the goblet.

New styles in dinnerware are exhibited by one dealer. The designer eliminated the rim of the plates and other dishes and curved the edges upward. This design is called bolero. Streamline handles on sugars and creamers are other features of this design.

HENRIETTA ANDREWS WINS DIVORCE ON DESERTION CHARGE

Mrs. Henrietta Towers Andrews, 25 years old, 105 East Delaware place, was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday from Charles Prentiss Andrews. The couple is socially prominent here and in Baltimore, Mrs. Andrews' former home.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Garey Towers Jr. of Baltimore. Mr. Andrews is a brother of Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr. Their marriage at the Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal church in Baltimore on Jan. 17, 1931, was a social event.

Mrs. Andrews told Judge Sabath that her husband deserted her on Nov. 29, 1932. She did not ask for alimony, declaring she had ample means to take care of herself. There are no children. Mr. Andrews did not contest the case and was not present in court during the hearing.

Mrs. Andrews' testimony was corroborated by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hopkins Sudler Jr., 230 East Delaware place. Mr. Sudler was one of the ushers at the Andrews' marriage.

Attorney William C. Barry Jr., representing Mr. Andrews, said his client was formerly engaged in the insurance business, but is now interested in a new venture, details of which were not familiar to the lawyer.

Mrs. Andrews was dressed in a wine colored coat with a fur collar and a small modish hat. She talked in a low voice that could be heard only a few feet from the witness chair. She left for Detroit after the hearing and will go on to Baltimore later, it was said.

BANDITS ROB LOAN OFFICE.

Two robbers invaded the offices of the Parkside Building and Loan association, 5752 Irving Park boulevard, yesterday and obtained $220 after locking the manager, Clyde Reede, and a customer, Robert Hessler, 134 North Marion avenue, Oak Park, in a washroom.

FOES OF NAZIS IN CHURCH ROW AIM DECISIVE BLOW

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Determined to put an end to an Evangelical church interregnum which has existed since Nov. 29, Protestant bishops who are opposed to Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller and other Nazi German Christians agreed to meet in Berlin tomorrow for what they called a decisive blow against Dr. Mueller.

His church cabinet resigned Nov. 29, but since an abortive attempt on Dec. 2 to appoint successors, all efforts to get him to act in the matter have failed. The only holdover in the cabinet, Dr. Heinrich Weber, today announced his resignation.

Ultimatum Expires.

The last ultimatum given Dr. Mueller by the Pastors' Emergency federation on Nov. 30, when they demanded action looking toward more moderate policies than those advocated by the German Christians, expired last midnight.

The bishops hold that since the reichsbishop will not act, it is up to the state bishops collectively to nominate a new cabinet, and to obtain the government's approval for this slate.

Of all the state bishops only three—those of Saxony, Brunswick, and Schleswig-Holstein—still are identified with the Nazi German Christians. The opposition bishops, consequently, have an overwhelming majority in their long standing fight against anti-Semitism, scriptural changes, and the mixing of politics and religion.

Pastors' Group Claims Majority.

The Pastors' Emergency federation, comprising more than 6,000 clergymen, which also stands behind the bishops, now claims likewise to have a clear majority at present. Several thousand applications for membership in the federation are pending.

State bishops hoped to be able to persuade the government that while Dr. Mueller has failed, their nominations will represent all church folk and are calculated to establish peace in the Protestant church.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Jan. 3.—A shakeup in the Greek cabinet is approaching, with a possibility that it will have some effect on the chances of Samuel Insull, fugitive Chicago utilities magnate, to remain in this country.

The government press tonight said the cabinet of Premier Tsaldaris will present its resignation to President Saimis by Monday. Tsaldaris will be asked to form another government and it is said he will put into the discard two cabinet members—Demetrios Maximos, foreign secretary, and John Moundjourides, secretary of interior.

Maximos is reputedly to have desired Insull's extradition for many months on the grounds that he is a thorn in Greco-American relations, and Moundjourides is the man who ordered the fugitive to leave the country after the courts refused to extradite him.

Insull, whose appeal to the state council will be heard Jan. 19, is both favored and opposed in reports as to who will succeed Moundjourides. One suggests Gen. John Metaxas, who is reputed to be a close friend of Insull's. It is said he might rescind Moundjourides' order.

QUAKE, RAIN AND FLOODS RAVAGE MUCH OF GREECE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Jan. 3.—Northern and southern Greece tonight were afflicted with heavy rain and floods, which followed an earthquake at 2 a. m. today. The quake center was said to be 35 miles east of Athens. It is possible other districts which have not yet been heard from were affected.

A number of villages in Macedonia were inundated by floods of the Struma and Axios rivers. The waters broke over levees where an American drainage project was proceeding. Telegraphic, telephonic, and railroad communication with the region is cut off.

Four are known to have drowned in the ancient city of Magara in southern Greece. The Peineos river flooded a wide section, destroying provisions stored by approximately 10,000 persons, who will be granted government loans to tide them over the next harvest.

DEAN INGE FEARS U. S. WILL DESERT BRITAIN IN WAR

LONDON, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Dean Inge, who will retire this year as head of St. Paul's cathedral, declares in the new edition of his book "England" that "the American government seriously contemplated taking action against us in the early part of the war."

Living up to his popular appellation, "the gloomy dean," he says, further, that, "if in the future we are attacked by a European coalition, we may take it as probable that the United States will leave us to our fate, unless, indeed, we are invaded by a black army."

When the United States joined the allies, he says, "whatever sentiment was allowed to enter into their calculations was in favor of France, not England."

FORMER MAYOR BOESS OF BERLIN FREED FROM JAIL

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Gustav Boess, former lord mayor of Berlin and a friend of former Mayor James J. Walker of New York City, was released today after spending nine months in jail. He had been arrested under suspicion of fraud.

A scandal arose in the administration of Boess in 1929 when he was in the United States returning a European visit of Mayor Walker. Investigators charged favoritism in letting municipal contracts.

Sentenced to Death in Gas Chamber, Youth Granted Stay

Denver, Colo., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Two forces contended today over the fate of Walter Reppin, 18 year old casual of Newark, N. J., who is under sentence as the first slayer to die in Colorado's new lethal gas chamber.

Alone, on one side, stood Mrs. Rose F. Regan of Colorado Springs, whose son, Vincent, was lured to a deserted spot and shot to death last August while driving a taxi to earn school tuition. Reppin had pleaded guilty to the crime.

Ranged against the mother were a host of Reppin's friends from Newark, and two Denver lawyers, who in an appearance before the Colorado Supreme court today won a review of the case and an automatic stay of the execution, heretofore scheduled for this week. The lawyers contended that Reppin, as a minor, was legally incapable of pleading guilty and asserted, besides, that his mind was unbalanced.

Petition New Jersey Governor.

Prior to the granting of the stay, Reppin's relatives in New Jersey had persuaded 150 of his former Newark friends to sign a petition asking the New Jersey governor, A. Harry Moore, to intercede with the Colorado governor, E. C. Johnson, to grant Reppin clemency.

It was to meet the New Jersey petition that Mrs. Regan wrote Gov. Johnson a remarkable letter, in which, while demanding Reppin's death, she avowed herself a Christian mother, asking not revenge, but retribution.

"I am not a bloodthirsty fanatic," the mother wrote. "I profess to be a Christian mother and I say this not in a spirit of revenge, but in the name of justice.

"The brutal crime he carefully planned and carried out. He was armed with two guns when he lured our son out on a fake call, stole his cab, shot him, and left him to die on a lonely road at night.

Murder Carefully Planned.

"A murder can sometimes be excused when done in a fit of anger, but not this crime, which was a cold blooded murder, carefully planned. There are too many weak minded sobsisters who plead for criminals, and that is one reason our people often resort to mob violence.

"If you commute Reppin's sentence to life imprisonment, he will be out in a few years, perhaps, and if he is schooled in crime at this age, what will he be ten years hence, perhaps at large and again living a life of crime and no telling how many murders he may commit?

"All during the trial, he showed no remorse at all and joked and laughed while my boy's blood stained shirt was shown. If you had a child of your own and that child were kidnaped and murdered brutally, would you feel as I do, dear sir, that justice should be meted out to the murderer?

Whole Life Clouded.

"My whole life and that of my family will forever be clouded by our dear one's untimely death at the hands of a hardened criminal. Therefore, I ask that in the name of justice you allow Reppin to pay the penalty."

Dispatches from Trenton, N. J., quoted Gov. Moore as saying he would forward the clemency petition here. Gov. Johnson reiterated his previous statement that he would not interfere with execution of Reppin's sentence. It was the governor who made public Mrs. Regan's letter.

ARMY OF 2,000 MARCHES ON U. S. SCHOOL IN CHINA

Rebels Are Repulsed in Attack on Peiping.

PEIPING, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Apprehension was felt today for the safety of students and teachers in an American school at Tungchow, which lay in the path of a pillaging rebel army as it retreated after an unsuccessful thrust at Peiping.

Members of the American diplomatic corps here were concerned over the possible danger to the institution during the depredations of the insurgents—2,000 ragged irregulars under Gen. Liu Kuei-Tang.

Government forces repulsed the invaders from Chahar province and travel in this section was made dangerous and traffic into Peiping was disrupted as the outlaws terrorized the countryside.

Rob British Official.

They robbed Cuthbert Shelley, engineer of the British legation, just outside this former Chinese capital.

Meanwhile a continuing Japanese penetration of Chahar province, in northern China, with a view to obtaining a firm hold on Inner Mongolia was reported in reliable Chinese dispatches.

After occupying Hsifenchai city last month, despite Japanese denials of such a drive, Nipponese forces were said to have completed modern airdromes in nearby Malanyu and Hataying.

Nine Japanese army planes arrived at Malanyu and 24 at Hataying on Dec. 31. The Japanese also were reported building a highway linking Hataying and Yenching with the enforced assistance of Chinese farmers.

Americans Flee Foochow.

FOOCHOW, Fukien Province, China, Jan. 3.—(AP)—A crisis in attempts of the Nationalist government at Nanking to quell an insurgent movement in this province was believed close at hand tonight as foreign governments again warned their nationals to leave the danger zones.

Most of the 144 Americans living in the immediate vicinity of Foochow were moved by officers of the United States consulate to Nantia island in the south Min river, but many living in other parts of the province refused to leave their posts.

(British authorities in Shanghai ordered all English missionaries in the province, about 150, to seek refuge in Amoy during the fighting)

Chinese reports said sharp fighting broke out along the Chekiang-Fukien border between rebels and Nationalists.

Amoy and Foochow, where there are foreign sections, were quiet, but anxiety was felt concerning housing and health conditions should Chinese refugees in larger numbers seek asylum in the foreign quarters.

The Japanese government meanwhile was unable to move all its nationals out of the Foochow district and said it would hold the Chinese responsible for those Japanese who could not be evacuated.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Big Saving! No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

ROBERT H. SKELTON, COMMANDER IN NAVY, KILLED BY PLUNGE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Commander Robert Hewetson Skelton, U. S. navy, former flag secretary of Admiral Jehu V. Chase, former commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, met death by falling from a second story window of the naval hospital early this morning. He had been a patient in the hospital, undergoing treatment for a stomach ailment.

The navy department appointed a board of inquiry composed of Capt. B. W. McDowell, Capt. A. A. Marsteller and Commander Wells E. Goodhue.

Born in Milwaukee on Oct. 11, 1889, Commander Skelton was appointed to the Naval academy from Wisconsin in 1907. During the world war he was engineer officer on the cruiser Denver. Later he was appointed aide to the assistant secretary of the navy.

He was appointed aide and flag secretary to Admiral Chase in September, 1930.

Baron Werner Von Fritsch Named German Army Chief

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Baron Werner von Fritsch was named chief of the German army today. He succeeds Baron Kurt von Hammerstein-Equord, who resigned last week. Baron von Fritsch holds the rank of lieutenant general in the reichswehr.

their resistance is low

All the risks people take in exposing themselves to the weather are increased when they are in poor physical condition or when their resistance is low.

They should provide a defense against winter—the inside kind. Strong inner resources—good resistance—is the first line of defense they can offer against the hazards of this time of year.

But the trouble is that many people do not pay any attention to their physical condition at the right time. They wait until they're miserable before they think of building up.

Don't let this happen to you. Why not improve your resistance now? Take Squibb Adex Tablets-10 D!

A concentrate of the vitamins in halibut and cod-liver oil with Viosterol, they offer you important resistance-building values never before combined in any one product. Each tablet contains 1500 units of Vitamin A, 2450 units of Vitamin D.

New York, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Mink coated women bid excitedly today for the ornate furniture of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, but Mrs. McCormick's daughter, Muriel, came away with more of the family treasures than any other purchaser.

The second day of the auction of the once fabulous McCormick belongings brought in $32,010, making a total of $55,382 thus far for the sale.

A crowd of the socially prominent and the well known stormed the auction room and many could not get in, though places had been reserved for a few good buyers.

She bought all her mother's sheets—elaborate affairs of embroidered and hemstitched linen, 13 feet long, that sold for $57 and $55 a pair.

She paid $675 for three dozen drawn thread linen dinner napkins, $380 for a linen and lace banquet cloth, and $410 for an 18th century Flemish lace table cloth.

A mahogany "boudoir" grand piano cost her $525. She also bought a pair of 16th century Italian polychromed wood panels for $420, four crimson velour "state chairs" for a total of $440, and a gilded and painted china dessert service for $455.

These purchases alone cost her $3,785—and the most valuable of the McCormick belongings are yet to be put on sale.

The names Rockefeller and McCormick proved a boon to the auctioneers, as the eager crowd bid up some of the furnishings for more than they could be bought today in stores. Well dressed people jumped at the chance to pay $75 for four lace pillows, $120 for a dozen doilies, and $100 for a mirror.

"If those things didn't have her name they wouldn't bring a quarter of these prices," murmured one woman with a professional eye. "People don't use stuff like this any more."

Gilt and red plush abounded and the furniture had florid enough curves to fit a motion picture conception of a millionaire's home. An elaborate inlaid mahogany four poster bed, with all the trappings, was bought by some one in California, though the auctioneers declined to reveal whether it was going to Hollywood.

The furniture bore such titles as Canape, Gueridon, Credenza, Vitrine, Cassapanca, and Trumeau, and the young man in the auctioneer's stand had a hard time with his French.

The highest sale of the day was $1,425 for a lace luncheon set, with runner and six dozen doilies. It was bought by "M. G. Macy," a name the auctioneers admitted to be fictitious.

Other soaring prices were $800 for an antique lace banquet cloth, bought by an agent; $780 for three Louis XIII. tapestried chairs, which went to Joseph Brenauer, and $500 for a pair of the same chairs, bought by Mrs. M. C. Migel.

Mrs. Alfred E. Smith—in mink—was in the audience. Davis Warfield, the actor, was there, too, as was Whitney Warren, architect. Other notables were Walter Chrysler Jr., Mrs. Robert Goelet, Mrs. James Farrell, Mrs. H. Edward Manville, Mrs. McAllister Du Pont, and Mrs. Frederick Fish.

Henry Channons in Chicago for Week

MR. AND MRS. HENRY CHANNON.

To Old Home

Snapped as they stepped from the train in the Dearborn street station early yesterday, this was the first picture of Henry Channon and his bride, Lady Honor, made on their arrival in Chicago from London by way of New York and Ottawa, Canada.

A true English blonde, with pink cheeks and blue eyes, Lady Honor was wearing a handsome mink coat over a black and white tweed dress which matched her chic off the face hat. Daughter of the earl of Iveagh, Lady Honor is a member of the old and established English family that made its gigantic fortune in Guinness' stout.

Mr. Channon, the son of Harry Channon and Mrs. Westover Channon, admitted a thrill in returning to the home town from which he divorced himself more than twelve years ago. The Channons are to be at the Drake during their week here. They have come from eastern visits with Lord Bessborough at Government house in Ottawa and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt in New York City. Upon their departure from Chicago they will go to Palm Beach before returning to London.

Old Chicago friends of Mr. Channon, interested in meeting his heiress bride as well as noting the changes in the young man they knew in his less glamorous days, have already crowded the next week with luncheons, cocktail parties and dinners for the English visitors.

Art Institute to Stage New Fair Exhibit

The Art institute will again present a World's Fair art exhibit this summer in connection with the reopened A Century of Progress Exposition, it was announced yesterday. Millions of visitors saw the exhibit last summer, which included Whistler's portrait of his mother, loaned by the Louvre in Paris.

Other loans are being sought from European as well as American museums for this year's exhibit, to be open from June 1 to Nov. 1. Director Robert B. Harshe and his assistant, Daniel Catton Rich, will spend the next two months in the east soliciting loans of masterpieces from the 13th to the 18th century for the exhibition.

The exhibition will constitute the department of fine arts of the fair as it did last summer and will be housed in the institute. There will be no jury and no prizes for the show, which will emphasize American retrospective and contemporary art.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

To one who has been following the course of the Chicago Opera company from the outside it might seem that the conventions are being followed rather strictly, including the presentation of these famous operatic twins. A survey from the inside, however, discloses that, however well known the operas, they have from the start been performed in a manner of youthful high spirits that takes them out of the conventions. And this, too, applies to the operatic twins.

It was as little a time ago as Monday night when Mme. Raisa registered herself as the finest of the Toscas. She added to her record last night by becoming, as she used to be, the finest of the Santuzzas.

This though she started a bit leisurely on the dramatic tension of the rôle. It would seem, however, that she was fully aware of what she was doing, for the slow start led up to an unfaltering climax, and her several scenes toward the end were projected with a great thrill of gorgeous voice and acting that carried veristic melodrama up to the point of tragedy.

It also counted in adding up the merits of the performance that Mr. Chamlee was back in the company. For he is just about as good a Turiddu as she is a Santuzza. He is the most intelligent actor of them all within a memory that goes back over many performances, and he has a voice that transfigures the score. There are special compliments for him in his final scene, a bit of singing that came across as few have ever been able to do it.

There is only one trouble with this double bill for a representative of a morning newspaper. It is that "Pagliacci" comes so late in the evening that it is impossible to hear as much of it as one would sometimes like. At the same time one is able to offer testimony that Mr. Frigerio sang the Prologue in beautiful fashion, admitting that it was in the lyric and not the customarily dramatic manner, but at the same time insisting that musically it was beyond reproach.

There was also Miss Burke, whose quality, range, and weight of voice make her a joy in the rôle of Nedda, and there was Mr. Lindi, a forceful and melodious singing actor, who knows every note of the part of Canio as thoroughly as though it had been written for him. The audience was large and warm with its applause.

Good Morning!

Call "In the Money" anything but a bundle of nonsense and you'd be stretching half a dozen points. But characterize it as ingratiatingly amusing idiocy and you'll be telling the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

"In the Money" is the story of the Higginbotham family—a collection of nuttier nuts than the Marx boys ever dreamed of being. Pa—Prof. Higginbotham—is a dreamy gentleman given to writing rubber checks [quite innocently] and indulging in chemical experiments which invariably end one way—explosion. Daughter Genie is a moron artist with temperament and a jittery, effeminate spouse named Lionel, whom she idolizes. Daughter Babs is a biological enthusiast. Her eyes light on the newspaper picture of Gunboat Bimms, challenger for the heavyweight championship. She wants him. She weds him. He promises her never, never to fight again, but, instead, to become a Shakesperean actor, and she lugs him home to a life of perpetual rehearsals. . . .

The only two normal Higginbothams are Daughter Mary, who mothers the irresponsible caboodle, and Son Dick, an adolescent cadet. Dick's a bit exuberant and daffy—but fairly bright for a' that.

Now, before Bimms met Babs he had posted $20,000—$10,000 of which belongs to his manager—as guarantee to fight. When he withdraws—and disappears—the money appears in a fair way of being forfeited. Manager Spunk Hobbs, who has been feverishly a-sleuthing, arrives one day at the Higginbotham establishment to reconnoiter and raise Cain.

"Which one?" inquires Mary with naïveté that brings down the house.

The professor's dividends cease to come in. The Higginbothams are broke. Dick has a motorcycle accident and must have an expensive operation. Money is needed. But where will the money come from IF Gunboat doesn't fight the champion?

At last, lured on by the promise of an introduction to Shakespeare if he obliges, Bimms agrees to go in the ring for one round. . . . He is very soft, having trained only with toga and spear for the last few months. But Spunk knows a trick. Call Bimms "Ham!" and he gets fighting mad . . .!

A little conversation between Spunk and the champion results in—I'll never tell you. . . .

The fight is over. . . . Bimms is all set to meet Shakespeare, Spunk breaks the news gravely:

"Shakespeare is—dead!"

Maybe all of this doesn't look funny written, but if the movie itself doesn't reduce you to a state of helpless laughter, I miss a guess.

Warren Hymer is swell as Gunboat. All the other acting is just as it should be and direction's perfect. Apparently everybody connected with the piece took it in the spirit in which it was written—and the result is an hour of simple enjoyment for the observer. HOW simple you couldn't fathom without beholding "In the Money" for yourselves.

See you tomorrow!

Cabinet Wives "At Home" to Hungry Callers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Washington went snooping today. O, they gave the job more elegant names, such as "calling," or "paying my respects to the cabinet wives," or "doing my duty." But it was really societified snooping, with everybody walking into the homes of cabinet hostesses and staring around as far and as fast as possible.

Officially it was the first "at home" of the wives of the secretaries of war, justice, navy and postoffice and of Mrs. Henry T. Rainey, spouse of the speaker of the house.

Actually it was one big confusion of pink cakes and white calling cards; of limousines at the door and lilies on the tea tables; a babble of "charmed, my dear," and "look at that man guzzling that coffee."

Come, make the social pilgrimage with me.

Let's go out to the Derns first. They have taken an old fashioned home—it used to belong to a general but then, Mr. Dern is the secretary of war, so that's appropriate—out in the country. It's fine if you have a chauffeur who can deliver you at the door. It's a little hard on your best suede pumps, if you drive your own car, and have to park it about half a mile away. The path is lined with soldier boys, pinch hitting for the war secretary as traffic cops and door men.

In the drawing room, Mrs. Dern murmuring how do you dos to hundreds of people whose names she learns from the aid at her elbow.

In the dining room a crisis. The wife of the important general who had drawn up, in regular army fashion, a schedule of the exact time the wives of other important generals were to preside at the tea urn, has lost the chart. She's almost in tears. But the chocolate cake tastes just as good.

Then downtown a ways to another country home, that of the attorney general, Homer Cummings. Mrs. Cummings has asked the wives of her husband's assistants to stand in line with her. You meet about a dozen women. Then into the dining room. Tall calla lilies stand proud in the candle light. Excellent sandwiches.

A stop at the hotel home of Mrs. Rainey. The speaker is there, too. A friendly crowd, with friendly hosts. In walks Mrs. Margaret Sanger, the famed birth control lady. Such a fuss as the guests make over her. "Coffee, just black, if you please," and a fistfull of little cakes.

It's late when we reach the home of Mrs. Swanson. Her husband is in a hospital with a cold, but we'd know we were in the home of the secretary of the navy, from the gobs in uniform who overflow the place. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is pouring tea. Mrs. Swanson tells you that proudly.

Nearly seven, now, but the crowds are still pushing into the hotel apartment of Mrs. Jim Farley, wife of the postmaster general. The silver salver at the door is piled so high with calling cards that the door man is snapping them together in paper clips, to keep the husbands and wives together; on the visiting cards, we mean.

It's strawberry ice cream here. There's cake and sandwiches; but it's so hot that the ice cream is the favorite.

"Who's that tall man over there, looks sort of distinguished; eating cake?" We ask in our ignorance.

"What's he do?" we persist.

Helen Fulton, Mary Reed in Tennis Match

Society Girls Will Open Indoor Court.

BY JUDITH CASS.

A LARGE part of society, certainly most of the younger set and many of the older one, will be driving north as far as the Broadway armory at Thorndale avenue and Broadway Sunday night for Miss Helen Fulton, debutante of this season and last year's national girl tennis champion, and Miss Mary Reed, debutante of two seasons ago and the Onwentsia women's champion, will be playing an exhibiton match there that night.

Following the singles between these two popular young sportswomen there will be a mixed doubles match, Miss Reed and "Chuck" Garland of Lake Forest, former captain of the United States Davis cup team, versus Miss Fulton and a coming star, George Ball of Texas, fourth ranking junior, who is a freshman at Northwestern university.

These matches will officially open the new indoor courts at the armory and much of the credit for having arranged the matches and having planned the courts is due Paul Bennett, tennis coach at Northwestern. The courts are to be open every day except Tuesday and Fridays and they will be kept open in the evenings as long as there are players.

Backers of Many Tennis Events

Miss Reed, who is the only daughter of Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed, and her cousin, Miss Jean Schweppe, headed the women's committee last summer for the entertainment of the stars the matches between the Australian and the United States Davis cup teams brought to Lake Forest.

Mr. Garland was responsible for bringing the teams here and he has been instrumental in arranging many other interesting tennis events in and near Chicago. Miss Reed and her mother hope to go south a bit later in the winter, but they have made no definite plans yet.

Miss Fulton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Fulton, made her debut at a tea at their Winnetka home on Dec. 2. She has been entertained quite a lot during the late autumn and early winter, having remained at home from Leland Stanford university to enjoy her first winter "out," but she plans to return to her studies shortly. This afternoon Mrs. Kenneth Erickson of Winnetka is giving a musical for Miss Fulton.

Junior League Art Exhibit on Jan. 11

The Junior league of Chicago has cards out for its annual exhibition of fine arts at the Casino on Thursday, Jan. 11, from 11 in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening, and to a Swedish afternoon consisting of an illustrated talk at 3 o'clock by Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer on "A Little Bit of Sweden," followed by smorgasbrod and Swedish punch.

Mrs. Cramer will wear a Swedish costume she bought while touring that country with Mr. Cramer last summer, and the pictures she will show and what she will say are all products of that interesting trip.

Present Styles Will Appeal to Fringe Lovers

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Fringe fanatics can breathe comfortably now, for the stuff practically trims everything in the new southern wear collections as well as new pictorially lovely evening gowns and gloves and hats.

One dusky pink evening creation is glamorously effective with scalloped fringe fashioning the detachable cape and yards and yards more festooned in a most beguiling manner over the length of the floor sweeping train.

Narrow fringe is smart. It ranges from a scant inch to four and five inches and is worn from a braid heading. This is the season to indulge any weakness for fringe or fringe trimmings, for the shops are filled with it!

People who grab stripes whenever they can be grabbed will enjoy the better and bigger arrivals! . . . Soft silks striped from one selvage to another in the silk section blaze temptingly for the home sewers . . . outrageously gaudy cottons and fancy linens for midwinter blouses, and ties and belts that will put life in the dullest costumes . . . striped old fashioned challis that simply shrieks with smartness, suitable for sports clothes, and tweeds for town, crinkled cottons (seersuckers in a previous existence) striped with an audacious abandon are ready for the delightful contrast of high colored velveteen coats, especially designed for tropical sunshine now, but just as effective and new for spring wear after you get home.

And it isn't just a dream that clever designers are pushing velveteen . . . some of the smartest, best looking loot southbound includes bright velveteen swagger jackets of bright Baltic blue, orange, scarlet, old gold, and the always good blacks, browns, and navy blues.

Most of the coats have rows of stitching for trimming, smoothly tailored lines, and standup collars, together with capacious patch pockets.

IT was at the recently redecorated Opera club on Walton place, where the décor is rose and ivory and the walls are canopied in silk. A young woman who was dining and dancing there commented that she thought the effect was a little too dainty—that it smacked a little of the boudoir. A darker note somewhere might help, she added.

"Well, they could have colored waiters," suggested her companion.

WHAT horrible fate awaits the woman who penned the following letter to Carl Deysenroth, head of the Milk foundation, if she doesn't lose thirty pounds immediately can only be conjectured. She wrote to ask for one of the foundation's reducing diets, and added:

"O, I can't have it later. I have only a very little bit of bakin' powder left," said the child.

SYNOPSIS.

Bruce Pomeroy, brought up in poverty, befriended a Russian, Boris Orleneff. In return, Orleneff, before his death, left Pomeroy an invention, which is about to make Pomeroy a millionaire. Orleneff stipulated that his brother's family, whom he considered parasites, were not to get a cent from the invention. While walking through New York's Central park one winter's morning Pomeroy is kidnaped and taken to a small island off the coast of Maine, where he is made a prisoner in a luxurious home, but kept on a starvation diet. His captor is Boris Orleneff, nephew of the inventor. Boris' cousins, Cyril and Olga Norrikoff, assisted in the abduction. They want Pomeroy to make a settlement. He refuses. Boris invites Pomeroy to join the family circle downstairs. The older members are unaware that Pomeroy is an involuntary guest. Pomeroy manages to elude his guard, Grateful, and get out of his room, but a raging storm makes escape impossible. Olga Norrikoff tells Pomeroy they are all starving. That the house was lent to them for the winter. Boris and Cyril hadn't been able to get work. Pomeroy arranges through Grateful to get food supplies from Andy Mason, the caretaker. He has fallen in love with Irma Orleneff, Boris' sister. Cyril's mother dies and his father commits suicide. Cyril had left, before the tragedy, in a leaky boat to get help from the mainland. Pomeroy asks Irma to marry him. Meanwhile in New York Herbert Schuyler, a witness to Pomeroy's abduction, comes forward. He traces the license number of the car that was used. It is owned by two brothers in Maine of good reputation.

INSTALLMENT XL.

A PRIVATE INVESTIGATION.

"The detective got a flat denial that the car had been within 500 miles of New York last Tuesday, Mr. Schuyler," said Vanderhoof, and there was great irritation expressed in his tone of voice.

"I know he did. But how do we know the owner wasn't lying?" asked Schuyler.

"Because of his reputation. Every one in town knows him and his brother, and swears by them. They seem to be a couple of very good eggs. The police think your man was mistaken in the number," Vanderhoof repeated wearily. "You didn't see it yourself, you know."

"The police!" with a magnificent gesture Schuyler eliminated the police. "I'd like to talk to that detective myself," he went on. "Will you arrange it?"

"Yes. Not that it will do any good," Vanderhoof added bleakly. "I'll have him sent up to your flat. What time do you want to see him?"

"I'm going to lunch at the Harvard club today. He can come and see me there at 2:30 o'clock."

Almost simultaneously, as it happened, another young man was playing a little game off his own bat. One Jack Daniels, taxicab driver, had now for five successive mornings waited in vain for his usual fare, at the corner of Fifth avenue and 59th street. The cab was his own and the failure of that fare to arrive was a financial loss to Mr. Daniels in times when every dollar counted double. On Saturday morning he decided to look into the matter, and having an hour on his hands with no special likelihood of passengers he drove to Pomeroy's factory and asked to see the boss.

"Twice last year when he missed me he paid me for the time."

"Who d' ye mean?" the young man he consulted wanted to know.

"O. K. But he ain't here today."

"Where is he? Outa town?"

"I dunno—and it ain't my business to tell you if I did know."

"You ain't no Boy Scout, neither, doin' a daily deed of kindness, are you?" But Mr. Daniels saw fit to change his tactics. "I'm his driver," he explained. "I bring him downtown every mornin'. It's a loss to me to have him outa N'York, 'specially when I set around waitin' for him an' losin' other chances. Who c'n tell me when he'll be back, buddy?"

The young man reflected.

"Go to his private office an' see his sec'tary," he said loftily. "P'raps she'll know. First floor, right hand corner. Ask for Miss Reardon."

Daniels asked for Miss Reardon and finally overcame the marked reluctance of a small but superior office boy to take in his name.

"Hey, I drive 'm down here every mornin'," Daniels finally snapped. "I'm a friend o' the boss. Step on it, Jimmy." And Jimmy stepped, with a wide and disbelieving grin.

"I'm losin' good money by it, lady," he ended, "an' he ain't the kind of guy to let me set there every mornin' losin' time. Twicet last year, when he missed me, he paid me for the time. Them was the only days he didn't come, he's that reg'lar. I says to myself, ef he ain't comin' no more, I says, he'd send me word."

Mary Reardon nodded.

"He surely would," she admitted. She looked into the cab driver's weather beaten young face and keen, clear eyes and made an admission that surprised herself. "The truth is, Daniels," she added, "we don't know where Mr. Pomeroy is."

Daniels showed no surprise. He was familiar with the vagaries of young men.

"You mean he's went away for a few days," he asked tactfully.

"I suppose so, but it's awfully queer." Having lost all faith in the police Mary was telling herself that this sophisticated youth might be a good ally.

"We're not supposed to talk about it," she confessed, "and you must keep it to yourself. But the fact is that Mr. Pomeroy started for his office last Tuesday morning—we know that much—and he hasn't been seen since by any one we know."

Jack Daniels whistled.

"That's funny," he said thoughtfully. "It wouldn't be funny if he was a different sort of guy but I'd say Mr. Pomeroy ain't that kind to drop outa sight."

"And you would be right. We're terribly anxious. We've got the police looking for him—quietly of course. Something queer happened in Central park the morning he disappeared."

She outlined the episode witnessed by Mr. Schuyler, and Daniels listened with close attention. She added the details of the car number and the name and address of the man who owned the car bearing that number, as subsequently discovered by the police.

"It is the only thing they did discover," she bitterly interpolated. "The detective is back from Maine this morning sure there was a mistake about the number."

Daniels nodded and jotted down in a hand suited to unruled paper the name and address of the supposed owner.

"They wouldn't," Daniels agreed darkly. His mind was very busy with this news.

"It gits me," he admitted. "Mr. Pomeroy's a great guy, but he ain't important enough to kidnap, is he? It's the big fellers them babies is after—the fellers with millions. D'ye s'pose the dame had somethin' on him?"

"No. Mr. Pomeroy isn't that kind."

The reply blocked that channel of conversation.

"I'm goin' to look into this," he announced.

"I wish to God you would. That's why I told you about it," Mary admitted. "I thought you might know some men that could make a few inquiries in what they call the underworld."

Daniels nodded.

"All sorts gits into my cab, an' I've done a few of 'em some favors. I'll see if I c'n tap a few wires."

"Thank you." Mary opened the cash drawer. "If you will tell me how much you lost these five mornings——"

But Daniels shook his head.

"We'll let that lay," he ruled. "If you'll let me use a little time on this I'd like to see a couple guys that might find out somethin'. I ain't goin' to run up no big bill on you——"

"All right. Do anything you can. If we're too zealous and—and anxious—Mr. Pomeroy will forgive us. But I'm terribly anxious. Telephone me any time, day or night, if you find out anything."

She gave him the number of her home telephone as well as that of the one in her office, and with a lighter heart watched him leave. Mr. Daniels had a fine look of efficiency.

At 2:30 that afternoon one Joseph Quinlan, classifiable at a second glance as a man deeply interested in his fellow men, was ushered into a reception room of the Harvard club and was personally greeted there by Herbert Schuyler, who promptly led him into a remote corner.

Storm Brings String of Hard Luck to Actor

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—The flooding rains of New Year's eve made "Happy New Year!" a sickly gag to George Raft. The soles of his shoes were slick from the rain, and George slipped when invited to take a bow from the orchestra leader's rostrum at the Ambassador, where Guy Lombardo is playing. The actor fell, breaking a small bone in his right ankle.

That meant delay in his plan to tour Europe as a dancer. Barely able to hobble, George got a friend and went to the parking lot to get his car. The automobile had vanished.

The friend drove George home in the former's car, but when they arrived at George's apartment the storm had flooded the apartment hotel basement, putting elevators out of service, and a man with a broken foot can't walk up flights of stairs. So George drove back to the hotel where he broke his foot to spend a pessimistic night. On Monday his nice new, shiny automobile was found, wrapped around a pole, out on Wilshire boulevard.

Charlie Ruggles, who had just had a swimming pool built in the yard of his San Fernando valley place, must have the hole for the pool dug over. The flood washed the first excavation full of silt and débris.

Chic Sale is signed by MGM for two shots, the first to be a screen version of E. N. Brininstool's poem, "Cowman's Loss," which Jack Cummins will direct.

Warner studio gave a luncheon party for the Columbia university football team, and you should have seen the stock company girls make a rush for Cliff Montgomery, Al Barnas, and Red Matal when the athletes stepped out of their buses. None of the New York collegians had ever gone through such an experience before. Rosalie Roy, in green silk pajamas, got to Capt. Montgomery first and flung her arms about the surprised youth's neck. Barabas' features were full of lip rouge in a twinkling as golden haired Gloria Faythe, Asalie Cecil, and Donna May Roberts surrounded him. Some of the other boys sneaked out the windows on the other side of the bus as Shirley Dunstead and Muriel Gordon, leading another bevy, came over from the corner of the studio restaurant.

The studio streets were decorated with flags with a light blue background, lettered "Columbia" in white and bearing the reproduction of a lion's head in tawny yellow. The team had their photographs taken with Ginger Rogers and Jean Muir. The boys were more stand offish with Miss Muir, who happens to be a recent New York collegian herself, while Ginger never finished high school in Dallas.

Friends of Old St. Mary's Sponsor Benefit Parties

The friends of old St. Mary's, the parish church of the loop, will gather on Saturday night, Jan. 20, in the Congress hotel to help the Paulist Fathers ease the heavy financial burden of their downtown pastorate. This will be the first of a series of winter entertainments for the parish. With only a handful of regular parishioners, due to the march of business into what was once a flourishing parish, the Paulist Fathers are now entirely dependent on the offerings of the passing throng they serve. The first benefit will be a bridge party.

Judson], Mr. Cramer and David F. Leavitt are the judges who will decide which of the exhibition are entitled to blue, red or white ribbons or to honorable mention.

Murals by Indians Will Be Exhibited

Fortunate indeed are the Indians of the Hopi, Pueblo, and Navajo tribes or New Mexico and Arizona to have found such an enthusiastic admirer of their art as Mrs. James Waller Marshall, for she has arranged for an exhibition of their murals to be held in the interior decorating galleries of Field's for two weeks starting next Tuesday.

And the opening on Monday is to be a private showing and tea with society present in numbers and some of our most distinguished art patrons sponsoring it, including Dr. Walter Dill Scott, Robert M. Hutchins, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Dr. Robert B. Harshe, John Root, Edgar Miller, Mrs. Nathaniel Owings, and John Collier.

Mrs. Marshall became interested in the murals the Indians were doing when she spent last summer in Santa Fe, where Olive Rush, well known mural painter who makes her home there, had been teaching the Indians this new expression of Indian art for the last year. The murals to be shown here were painted for A Century of Progress, but due to some misunderstanding with the department of the interior they were not shown at the Fair.

Red, White and Blue Club Plans Concert

The Red, White, and Blue club should have one of the most successful benefits of the winter, for its board members have planned what is sure to be an interesting and popular concert for Sunday afternoon, Feb. 4. George Gershwin, American composer and pianist; James Melton, soloist, and the Reisman Symphonic orchestra will give the concert in the Auditorium theater.

The details for this unusual program—one that is certain to be especially popular with the younger members of society—were arranged at a meeting yesterday. Mrs. Thomas Gowenlock, president of the organization, presided.

Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter and Mrs. Temple McFayden are doing the publicity "in person," as they laughingly but enthusiastically said yesterday; Mrs. Loring Coleman and Mrs. Charles K. Corsant are taking care of ticket sales, and Mrs. Ernest Byfield and Mrs. J. Frederick Reeve are on the box committee.

Arthur Meeker Jr. will speak before the Friday club tomorrow. He will talk about his trip through Europe last summer.

A buffet luncheon to commemorate seventy years of service by the Women's and Children's hospital, formerly the Mary Thompson hospital, will be given Saturday at the hospital; 1600 Maypole avenue, by the board of trustees. After luncheon Miss Herma Clark will talk about "When the Hospital Was Young." Mrs. Lewis S. Taylor is president of the board.

Twelfth Night Ball at U. of C.

Twelfth Night—falling conveniently on Saturday this year—will be celebrated by all the members, young and old, of the University Colony club at a ball at Ida Noyes hall. Following the best of Twelfth Night traditions the party will be a costume affair.

From 7:30 until 9:30 the basement of the hall will be filled with youngsters enjoying circus sideshows and puppet shows and ice cream and cake before they are sent home to bed. Meanwhile up in the drawing rooms their parents will be received by Mrs. Charles Gilkey, president of the club, and then go on to dance or play bridge or games until the small hours of the morning.

One of the features of the evening will be the costume parade which will end with madrigal singing. The singers will wear Elizabethan costumes, and besides chanting the old songs they will go through the ceremony of burning the Christmas greens.

Mrs. Cecil Barnes is to be a luncheon hostess at the Arts club today, the especial guest being the popular Miss Ina Claire, the actress.

Victor Polachek To Take Bride.

Announcement is made by Mrs. Paull Kirkpatrick of Wheeling, W. Va., of the engagement of her daughter, Helen Paull Kirkpatrick, to Victor H. Polachek Jr. of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Polachek of Park avenue, New York. Miss Kirkpatrick was graduated from the Masters school at Dobbs Ferry and from Smith college with the class of 1931. She did post-graduate work at Geneva, Switzerland. She is a direct descendant of Col. Joshua Fry, first commander of the Virginia forces, and of Col. James Paull of revolutionary days. Mr. Polachek attended Princeton and later studied at Cambridge in England. After the wedding next month Mr. Polachek will bring his bride to Chicago to live.

Unless a few reservations are canceled before 10 o'clock this morning the Woman's Athletic club will have 256 women for luncheon following the program of chamber music by the Russian trio.

Plantation Night To Aid Arden Shore.

The Plantation Night party to be held in the College Inn at the Hotel Sherman next Thursday for the benefit of Arden Shore will be a jolly affair. The women in charge promise that mint juleps will be served from the inn's cocktail bar, while chicken à la Maryland and Virginia baked ham, corn pone, and other southern delicacies will be served at tables decked out in checkered table clothes of red, yellow, blue, and white. Miss Julianna Holmes is chairman of the party.

The friends of William A. Cremin, son of the Joseph W. Cremins, have been concerned over his serious illness. Mr. Cremin came to Chicago from Princeton, where he is at college, with the Triangle club, and immediately after the Milwaukee show he was stricken with pneumonia and has been in the Passavant hospital ever since.

When Miss Martha Lee, the T. George Lees' younger daughter, returned to Smith the other day she announced in joyous voice to all of her friends that when she returns home in February, at the end of the first term, she will continue her education at the University of Chicago.

Norman Johnsons on Trip to South.

Norman Johnson's friends who had planned to call on him and his bride [Edith Thomas] soon will have to wait five or six weeks for that pleasure for young Mr. Johnson suddenly had to go to Knoxville, Tenn., on business, and he and his bride are there instead of in their apartment at 1642 Ridge avenue, Evanston, as their at home cards stated they would be after Jan. 1.

After their marriage on Dec. 18 in Greenwich they motored to Charlottesville, Va., returning to Greenwich to spend Christmas there. They came to Evanston for just three days last week and then left for Knoxville.

Tell Marriage of Gloria Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Lansdale Parker of 235 Helden avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Gloria Eloise, to Luther Peter Friestedt II., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman F. Friestedt, on Dec. 29. Mr. Friestedt and his bride are honeymooning at Palm Beach. They will make their home on the near north side.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Shaw of Muskegon, Mich., formerly of Chicago, are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter on Tuesday morning in the Murphy hospital in Muskegon. Mrs. Shaw is the former Lloyda Smith, and the new baby has been named for her, Lloyda Smith Shaw.

Another child born on Tuesday is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Harkness of Glencoe. The former Cynthia Kohlsaat and her young husband have not decided definitely on a name for him, and his elder brother is much too young to be of any help to them in this matter. Mrs. Gates Kohlsaat is the infant's maternal grandmother.

Melchior Palyi, former economist with the Deutschebank and Disconto Gesellschaft, will speak at a luncheon of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at 12:30 Saturday in the red lacquer room of the Palmer House. His subject will be "European Money Problems."

Daytime Frock Is Colorful Made of Necktie Silk or Woolens

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Necktie silk, in shades of blue, made the original of this dress. It's just the thing for all-around wear, and you'll feel smartly dressed in it. Wool jersey, hairy woolens, rough silk crêpes, and wool and silk novelties are also good.

The pattern, No. 3290, comes in sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure.

Society Shows Preference for New Opera Boxes

An enthusiastic audience filled the lower floor and the box tiers of the Chicago Civic Opera house last night.

Several interesting parties subscribed to the popularity of the newly installed main floor box row, which crosses the center of the opera house.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings and Mrs. C. Morse Ely, joint Wednesday night box hostesses, were entertaining in one of these boxes last night. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. King, William B. McClure, and Bernard F. Rogers. Black satin, velvet, and ermine characterized the formal dress of the two hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. James G. Alexander were host and hostess to another of the lower floor box parties. Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hough were their guests.

Contributing a glamorous note were the full dress uniforms of officers of the navy. There was Admiral Wat C. Cluverius and Mrs. Cluverius, Capt. Halsey Powell, with Mrs. Powell, and Commander and Mrs. Louis B. Combs. Occupying a box next to that of this party were representatives of the army, including Col. and Mrs. William H. Burt and Capt. and Mrs. G. Everett Hill.

George B. Woodruff, president of the opera company, hasn't missed a night of opera, although his box remained vacant last night except for the few minutes he occupied it.

Build for Next Year's Beauty by Routine Care

Resolve Now to Be Lovely and Mirror Will Reward.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A brand new year is upon us. Resolutions are highly disputable incentives. Still, a beauty resolution [if I know my sex] is different. A woman might promise herself at the year's beginning that she is going to refrain from doing thus-and-so for the good of her soul. Probably because she can't see her soul in the mirror, because no one tells her how much better she's behaving, her enthusiasm lags. But, given a beauty resolution that is going to flash back a mirror reward and spoken compliments, well, that's different, isn't it?

Not, understand, that we're discouraging the soul growth. The more that you can bring to the face, the better. I'm only offering my experience with women and observation on the comic sex.

The observation proves that women will give up cocktails for the sake of their figures, give up smoking for the sake of their teeth, give up turned-down mouth corners for the sake of their faces, that it is easier to abandon a damaging habit for beauty's sake than for health or any other sake. If I'm wrong, you're entitled to correct me.

But what I was getting at was this approaching new year with more than 300 days in which to work for 1935 beauty, enjoying meanwhile a grand 1934 experience. We've outgrown the hectic, short-lived enthusiasms about reducing and massaging and neck strappings and so on. Women are taking their beauty duties as a matter of course. Each day has its period, morning and night, for said duties. Not for all women, true, but for the bright ones, the habitually smart looking, well groomed ones. And there's no reason why you should not be one of these.

It's purely a matter of habit. First, that stretch in bed, stretching, stretching every muscle every which way. Then a hop to the floor and at least five minutes more of stretching exercises or some other well devised muscle toning performance. Then the bath and shower. Not much for the morning, is it? At night, ten minutes by the clock for nails, hair, complexion: the cleansing, the massage, the astringent toning if you're over 30; hair brushing or scalp massage; nail inspection and hand lotion now since hands are becoming so intriguing. But it is habit. Resolution, unbreakable habit and resolution make the always groomed, always snappy looking girl or woman.

Constant Gifts from Parents Spoil Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

One father complains:

"When I get home at night the children clamber all over me and rifle my pockets and keep asking, 'What have you got for me, daddy?' and it seems as though they don't care much about seeing me—that they only care for what I've brought them."

It isn't really that at all. In fact it isn't the children's fault they act like that—it's their parents' fault.

Fathers start these habits themselves, but when they reach the point where "What have you got for me" is the children's only greeting, quite naturally they don't like it.

So it isn't a good plan to bring presents home to children constantly for just that reason. The thought of a surprise swallows up their pleasure in seeing their father — or mother either—come home after having been away all day. It takes the edge off what should be a pleasant and affectionate homecoming.

It is a great temptation to bring little presents and surprises to the children when you come, but it's best not to yield to that temptation too often. It's not good for them. If you have already got into the habit, just quit it. Surprise them occasionally with some of the toys or books or little gadgets you know they especially love—but only do so occasionally. They'll really get lots more kick out of it all that way.

Of course when they're sick or convalescent that's another story. Then, knowing that you're going to bring in something "but I won't tell you what," gives them something to look forward to in their boredom or discomfort, and makes a bright spot in the day.

We have a leaflet that is helpful to mothers of convalescent children. It is called CARING FOR AND AMUSING THE CONVALESCENT CHILD, and may be had on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Distinct Outlines of Floral Design Please Quilters

BY NANCY CABOT.

Like most floral patterns, "Rose and Sunflowers" lends itself admirably to quilt blocks. The clear, distinct outlines make the work attractive and easy for the beginner, and the gay colors are cheerful ones with which to work. A soft rose with a yellow print center, and the yellow of the sunflower combined with brown, comprise the colors used in the original quilt which was designed in Missouri in the latter part of the 19th century.

For a quilt pattern in this design send 5 cents in coin or stamps to Nancy Cabot, the Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service office, One South Dearborn.

Parisian Chic Creeps Up the Back Now, Expressing Itself in Flares and Panels

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Paris thinks it's all well and good to put up an imposing front, but she feels that our backs have to be interesting, too. The neglected, monotonous back is in for a whirl of attention from the big dressmakers, and you get a shock of surprise this season when you see what looks like a simple, demure little frock going away from you.

Evening frocks that are completely muffling in front turn around to show nude or semi-nude backs. Daytime dresses have their trimming flung over the shoulders of the bodices, or flares inserted into the backs of the skirts.

GoodFood, Not Tears, Brings Domestic Calm

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She's a young wife, only 22, with a child of 2. Her husband is 24 and apparently a nice enough sort of chap except for his constant heckling over the girl-wife's cooking and household managing. Every time he finds fault she cries and cries. She says she didn't know anything about housework, and, of course, isn't as good at it as she might be. If he loved her, she says, he wouldn't always be scolding about the food and everything.

Suppose, darling, that instead of weeping you just get yourself busy and learn to be a better housekeeper. You can't weep your way out of inefficiency. Your job is to master the details of cooking and general management. Can't you imagine how discouraging it must be to the breadwinner to come home nights to a badly managed home, sit down to poorly prepared meals, and visualize a great long stretch of marriage with only that sort of thing ahead? If you were the man you'd hate it. You'd begin to wonder what you ever saw in that helpless wife of yours. And you'd scold, too!

However, there's no time to waste in arguing. You're going to be a good housekeeper and manager. And don't think that isn't the finest little job a woman can have. If you can afford it, line up with some good school where cooking, and budgeting, and general household management are taught. If not, subscribe to one of the good women's magazines featuring just this sort of help for young matrons. Or, if this is out of the question, get some woman of your acquaintance to teach you how to cook and run a home properly.

Make up your mind to learn, and you will. You're married three years now and you must begin to realize that love has to be fed decently to survive, that you're a grown woman and can't indulge in crying spells to get out of what is your legitimate end of the bargain.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bruce Carpenter of Youngstown, O., recently announced the engagements of their two daughters, Martha Jane and Josephine Louise, to Wallace B. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Miller of Wilmette, and James Richard Hewitt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hewitt of Roland Park, Baltimore. Miss Martha Jane attended the University of Michigan. Her fiancé, Mr. Miller, was graduated from New Trier High school and from the business school at the University of Michigan. There will be a double wedding in April.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Diehl of 6809 Ridgeland avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Myrial Ann, to Arthur W. Mercier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Mercier of Kansas City, Kas. Mr. Mercier is a student at the University of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan E. Landau of Lincoln announce the engagement of their daughter, Helene, to Frank Bloch, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Bloch of 7000 Kingston avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Calloway of Wilmette announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Whitney R. Adams of Crawford, N. J., son of Louis T. Adams of West Englewood, N. J. The wedding will take place early in the summer.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

"LONESOME."

If it's an apology you owe, better let him have it in writing, Lonesome, and a nice letter at that.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

THE DEATH OF MADAME FRANCES PATRIE.

"Mais non, le professeur, I 'ave touched nothing and I 'ave permitted nobody into the room before the police arrive," Pierre Vigot replied to Fordney's question.

"And how did you happen to discover the body?"

"I 'ave an appointment with the great Madame Frances Patrie, the finest couturiere in Paris, at midday. I enter the side door of her establishment and as I step into her private room I see her with a wound in the heart. One glance tells me she is already dead so I hurry out and find this gendarme. Sacre bleu! The finest modiste in all France! Then I....."

The professor interrupted, made a sign to the prefect, and walked across the room, his eyes searching the exotically fashioned rug. Impatient at the delay of the physician's arrival, he gently raised the torso of the body which lay sprawled face downward over the low designing table. The stab wound in the heart told its story. Before placing Madame Patrie's body in its original position he carefully and minutely examined the pattern on which she had probably been working.

After noting that it was for a rather daring evening gown and observing that the left side of the blood-stained pattern had larger perforations than the corresponding right side, he gently placed the body as he found it.

"H'mm," he murmured to himself. "The knife!" Then suddenly he turned and said to the prefect, "You'd better hold M. Vigot. He knows much more about this affair than he has told."

WHY DID HE SAY SO?

BY MARY MEADE.

When several women are on a committee for a dinner and each wants to have a party at her own house it's a big problem and often ends up with "drawing straws." But recently I saw just such a problem beautifully solved to every one's satisfaction.

Mrs. A. wanted to show off her new apartment, Mrs. B. her sweet little baby, and so on with Mrs. C., D., and E. But before it ended up in a dispute they hit upon the idea of a progressive dinner.

The party proved to be such a success that the same group is making plans for a repetition. Besides eliminating the burden of the work being placed on one of the hostesses, with that inevitable borrowing of dishes that is usually necessary when serving a large number, the trip from one house to the other was enjoyed by every one.

The menu chosen was a sort of international affair, with each course representing a different country and the tables decorated in keeping with the menu.

Soup—Scotland: Barley broth and wafers.

Dessert—England: Plum pudding.

Other menu suggestions are: Noodle soup (Italy), lima bean soup (Peru), roast beef (England), chili (Mexico), goulash (Hungary), spare ribs and sauerkraut (Germany), lettuce with Russian dressing (Russia), apple pie (United States), French ice cream (France), apple meringue (Sweden).

HUNGARIAN GOULASH.

½ pound pork
2 pig kidneys
4 tablespoons butter
1 green pepper
2 onions
6 sprigs parsley
1 cup stewed tomatoes
4 raw potatoes
Salt and paprika

Mince the onions and brown them in butter. While these are cooking, cut pig kidneys and pork, beef, and veal in one inch cubes and brown with the onion. Remove seeds from green pepper, chop to bits, mince parsley, add tomatoes, and mix with the meat. Pour in enough hot water barely to cover the meat, cover, and simmer slowly for fifty minutes. Peel and dice potatoes, add to the mixture, covering with more water if necessary, season with salt and paprika, and simmer for twenty-five minutes longer.

1¼ cups sugar
1½ tablespoons butter
Juice and grated rind of ½ lemon
3 egg whites
1-8 cup sugar
¼ cup blanched almonds

Pare apples, cut in eighths, and remove cores. Place the apples in a pan over a low fire with the butter, 1½ cups sugar, grated rind, and juice of lemon, and cook slowly until the apples are soft. Beat the egg whites until stiff and add the one-third cup of sugar gradually. Place the apples in a buttered baking dish and spread the egg whites over them. Cut the almonds into long strips and stick into the egg whites. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until a golden brown. Serve either hot or cold with whipped cream.

1 Crush and dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in half a glass of water.
2 GARGLE thoroughly—throw your head way back, allowing a little to trickle down your throat.
Remember: Only Medicine Helps Sore Throat
Modern medical science now throws an entirely new light on sore throat. A way that eases the pain, rawness and irritation in as little as two or three minutes!
It requires medicine—like BAYER ASPIRIN—to do these things! That is why throat specialists throughout America are prescribing this BAYER gargle in place of old-time ways.
Be careful, however, that you get real BAYER Aspirin for this purpose. For they dissolve completely enough to gargle without leaving irritating particles.

first skyscraper IN CHICAGO TO BE COMPLETELY AIR CONDITIONED

Kroeschell Engineering Company Awarded Contract by Chicago Tribune for One of the Largest Installations Ever Undertaken for Air Conditioning an Entire Existing Building—to Be Completed by Summer

By submitting a design, exceptional for its simplicity and the fact that no rentable floor area is lost by its installation, the Kroeschell Engineering Company of Chicago has won the contract for air conditioning the Tribune Tower.

This contract, one of the largest ever let for the installation of a system of air conditioning in an existing building, marks a new era in modernizing present day buildings.

When this installation is completed before the summer of this year, the health and comfort of the occupants in the Tribune Tower and the employees in the Tribune Plant will be guarded throughout the year by air that is maintained at the ideal temperature, proper humidity and cleansed of impurities.

The system now being installed in the Tribune Tower and Tribune Plant buildings includes approximately four hundred Westinghouse air conditioning units and five centralized duct distributing systems. Where units are used they will be located under window sills, replacing the cast iron radiators which heat the buildings at the present time. Where the conditioned air is supplied by the centralized systems it will be conveyed from the large conditioners to various rooms by scientifically designed systems of distributing ducts.

The water for the individual air conditioning units as well as the centralized conditioning systems will be chilled in the basement by use of a 600-ton Westinghouse Steam Jet Refrigerating Plant and circulated throughout the building through a system of insulated pipes.

Correct engineering application of the unit system and centralized duct system provides the entire building with clean air at the ideal temperature both summer and winter, with excessive moisture removed in summer and moisture deficiency corrected in winter.

Expensive building alterations are not required and the installation is remarkable for its simplicity, cost of operation, and efficiency. It will pay for itself by protecting health, reducing costly absence from work, and raising standards of efficiency, thereby attracting and holding desirable tenants.

The Kroeschell Engineering Company will be glad to give complete information and estimates for all types of application to meet individual requirements, whether for stores, restaurants, hotels, theaters, residences, single offices, or entire buildings. For information write, wire or telephone.

Ideal Working Atmosphere to Be Maintained in Tribune Tower in Summer and Winter

This installation will furnish to everyone in the Tribune Building cool, invigorating air on hot summer days—the excessive moisture being removed. On cold winter days the installation will furnish warm air of correct temperature and humidity. Every day of the year clean, gently circulated air will be assured.

Kroeschell Air Conditioning Systems Can Create Business for You

Kroeschell Air Conditioning Systems are carefully and economically engineered and installed not only in large office buildings but in stores, theaters, hotels, restaurants, homes and single offices. They create business, profit and comfort. No matter how big or small the job—get an estimate from Kroeschell first.

3 BIG 10 TEAMS WIN FINAL PRACTICE GAMES

SIMMONS SIGNS 2 YR. CONTRACT WITH WHITE SOX

Annual Salary to Be $25,000, Report.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Al Simmons not only has signed for another heavy piece of dough, but he has grabbed for himself a document becoming increasingly rare in baseball—a contract for two years. The guess consensus placed the figure at $25,000 per annum.

Announcement of Al's signing was made in Chicago yesterday by President Lou Comiskey, while Al was up at Prexy Lou's estate near Eagle River, Wis., cutting ice off Sand lake.

Contract Terms Undisclosed.

Mr. Comiskey had nothing to say about the terms of the contract except that there had been nothing brutal about the cut of Simmons' stipend of the last three years, during which he worked for $100,000 for the three year term—two years of which were paid by the A's. Mr. Comiskey put up for last season's $33,333.33.

While the money concerned is a matter of conjecture in so far as the public is concerned, the two year term of the contract definitely was mentioned in Mr. Comiskey's announcement.

Several years ago the multi-season contract was not uncommon. Now virtually all ball players, good and otherwise, are signed for one year. Chuck Klein, for instance, came to town during the December baseball meeting with an idea that he was going to sign a two year contract for $28,000 per year. He promptly was told that there would be a discussion of the dough phase, but there could be no discourse or compromise on the one year idea.

Ruth Is an Example.

So the lads got together on the dough with nary another word said about the two year contract. Babe Ruth has had similar experiences in recent dickerings with his employers, as have several other big shots.

Thus Al proves again that he is a good business man, though there isn't much of a gamble in signing up the 31 year old star for 1934 and 1935.

The new contract covers Al's eleventh and twelfth seasons in major league baseball and he has been in the big money ever since he batted .386 in the 1925 season.

The big Pole from Milwaukee never has considered it his debt to the curious to tell what he does with his wealth, except to provide an excellent home for his mother and keep up his lavish wardrobe. Al has made it known, however, that he has not placed his surplus eggs in one basket.

Set for Life.

"I've arranged to be in the bucks all my life." Al recently confided to friends, "and I've salted where no whimsical banker or broker can upset my plans for comfort in the years after I quit hitting and catching baseballs."

The great slugger added, however, that it would be a waste of time for any one to plow up his backyard or pry up his floors in quest of hidden treasure.

Simmons, who has taken one course of training at Hot Springs, Ark., since the close of the season and who now is doing the ice cutting for reducing purposes, will do some more work at Hot Springs before showing up in Pasadena, Cal., around March 1.

Bud Tinning, who also has picked Hot Springs as the proper spot for some pre-California training, was in town yesterday en route to the spa, and took occasion to sign his 1934 contract. It was said that Bud got a raise as a result of having led the National league regular pitchers on the won and lost business.

Bud has been more cautious about his waistline this year than last, and expects that the Hot Springs course will have him down almost to playing weight by the time he shows up at Catalina.

FOUR HIT PAR IN LOS ANGELES OPEN GOLF TEST

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 3.—(AP)—In spite of soft fairways and soggy greens made so by the recent rain storm, four players hit par as 165 golfers sought to qualify for the Los Angeles $5,000 open tournament today over three courses.

The leaders were Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore.; John Geertsen of Salt Lake City; Bill Melhorn of Louisville, Ky., and Stanley Kertest of Los Angeles, with 36 hole cards of 142, even par figures.

All the favorites survived the test, which made 90 eligible with 38 exempt players for the tournament proper. This is scheduled to open at the Los Angeles Country club Saturday and run through Monday.

Durocher, Married in 1930, Sued on Neglect Charge

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruby Durocher today filed suit for divorce from Leo Durocher, veteran shortstop formerly with the Cincinnati Reds, and now with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National league. She charged gross neglect. They were married here in 1930. Mrs. Durocher seeks alimony and custody of their daughter, Barbara, 2.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

POT POURRI.

CALIFORNIA prestige in football and weather suffered a severe setback in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena when Columbia, supposedly a forlorn hope, defeated Stanford, 7 to 0. That leaves coast elevens one up in the series of eighteen games as The Wake reckons it, or two up in seventeen games as Californians prefer to count.

True, Californians will urge that the rain and field of mud did not afford normal football conditions. Yes, but those very conditions were supposed to favor the heavier Stanford players. Californians also will cite Stanford's greater number of first downs and greater yardage gained. In this section we also are familiar with those factors and usually end such an argument by yawning and remarking: "Yeah? But what was the final score?"

Columbia may be congratulated for its game stand and victory, especially in view of the fact that so many critics, including ourself, thought its net accomplishment on the trip would be the train ride. It is the second strictly eastern eleven to win a Rose Bowl contest. Harvard beat Oregon, 7 to 6, in 1920. Washington and Jefferson tied California, 0 to 0, in 1922, and Navy tied Washington, 14 to 14, in 1924.

Whatever solace California might have received from victory of west over east all-star elevens, 12 to 0, at San Francisco was pretty well dissipated by the fact that Sauer of Nebraska scored both of west's touchdowns. In this contest, too, weather conditions were unfavorable.

Florida, whose residents also have something to say about climate, presented favorable weather, but comparatively few spectators, as Miami was downed by Duquesne, 33 to 7. It's a little early in the season for big crowds of visitors at Miami. Furthermore, football there on New Year's day is new and the home talent not yet strongly enough developed to furnish formidable opposition.

Strictly as a football spectacle and an attendance magnet, one wonders whether a champion of the southern conference against an eastern or middle western eleven would not prove more attractive than the team of the local university. On the other hand, local pride probably is involved in presenting University of Miami, located at Coral Gables, which should not be confused with Miami university at Oxford, O., famed as the birthplace of the Miami triad of collegiate fraternities.

We had decided to rest silently under suspicion of being a boob until numerous readers wrote asking just what we meant in our pre-discussion of the Rose Bowl game in saying: "In our serious discussions we always contend that gridiron prowess is not essential," etc. We intended to say nothing of the kind, dear friends. When the copy left our typewriter it read: "Gridiron prowess is not SECTIONAL."

HITLER HOPES I FIGHT ALL JEWS, SAYS SCHMELING

Chancellor Entertains Him at Farewell Tea.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Copyright: 1934: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—Max Schmeling, former heavyweight boxing champion, denied most emphatically today that Chancellor Hitler had refused to permit him to fight a Jew.

"On the contrary, the more Jews I fight the better Hitler will like it," Schmeling said.

Schmeling made the statement after reports had been received here that the Stadium Operating company of Chicago through its spokesman, Joe Foley, had announced that his company could not stage a match between the German champion and King Levinsky because Chancellor Hitler would refuse to permit Schmeling to fight a Jew.

Hitler Gives Farewell Tea.

"Hitler gave me a farewell tea at the chancellory to bid me bon voyage on Dec. 29," Schmeling added. "I was all set to sail a day later, but then received a cable from Joe Jacobs, my American manager, telling me the fight had been postponed."

Schmeling glowed with enthusiasm when speeaking of the tea with Hitler, who invited the boxer and his quicksilver blonde bride, Annie Ondra. The chancellor and boxer had a two hour talk and Max was "deeply stirred by Hitler's personality." He spoke of the chancellor as the "best friend German boxing ever had" since he gave boxing a semi-official status by making it part of the children's school curricula.

Wanted for Charity Fight.

Besides wishing Schmeling bon voyage Hitler had an ulterior motive in entertaining him. He wants him to stage a bout in Germany for the benefit of welfare associations. Schmeling said he could not think of fighting until he had fulfilled his two engagements in America and that also, being a professional boxer with only a few years in which to earn a living, he must insist on a purse however small it might be. This bout is now scheduled for April.

Suspect Anti-German Campaign.

Boxing circles here assert they believe that the "postponement of the Schmeling-Levinsky bout was part of an anti-German campaign." The American correspondent of Box Sport in a recent issue intimated that "American boxing authorities are systematically trying to push Schmeling into the background."

Schmeling does not share this pessimism. He blithely went off to hunt near his estate at Saarowlieskow today and is prepared to fight in America the middle of February.

EXPECT JACOBS HERE

Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, is expected to arrive from New York Saturday to complete plans for a bout between Schmeling and King Levinsky at the Chicago Stadium on Feb. 16. The arena is to be scaled to bring a gross gate of $82,000 in case of a sell-out. It was said that Jacobs is satisfied with financial terms offered.

Temple, Santa Clara Angle for Coast Grid Game in '34

Honolulu, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Maurice [Clipper] Smith, Santa Clara university football coach, said today he believed a game in San Francisco next fall between his team and the Temple university, coached by Glenn S. [Pop] Warner, would be arranged. Negotiations are under way, he said.

Valparaiso Beaten by Marshall College, 22-17

Silver Skates Junior Derby Attracts Stars

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Although the boys' junior division in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S Silver Skates Derbies now is for boys 14 and 15 years of age, it is the second oldest age class in point of competition. Fourteen boys have won silver skates in the junior class.

Two years after the first Silver Skates Derby [1917] it was decided to divide the boys into two classes. Quite naturally they were known as senior and junior. However, in 1923, when another class for boys was created, it was called the intermediate class and the junior class, beginning with 1923, was for boys 14 and 15 years of age, while the intermediate class encompassed the ages 16 and 17.

Can Win Two Titles.

With the addition of other classes it also became possible for skaters to win more than one championship. A champion is barred from competing again in the same age class, but he may move up, even if under the limit for the next division. Five boys have won both junior and intermediate championships. They are: Henry Nelson, Eddie Jacobson, Art Conroy, Edwin Stundl, and Vinson Sahlin. Stundl also was the juvenile champion in 1927, the third year in which competition in this division was held. Vinson Sahlin will be remembered as an all around athlete who performed brilliantly in the University of Chicago back field. He was a member of the Schurz High school football team when it won a City league title.

Seek Eckersall Trophy.

The Brekke Skating club, formerly the Denemark club which won the Eckersall Memorial team trophy, expects to make a determined bid for the same honor this year at Garfield park a week from Saturday and Sunday. Coach Pete Miller, naturally enthusiastic over his skaters, points out that three former champions are skating for the Brekke team. These are Leo Freisinger, 1933 Intermediate titleholder; Bernie Cannata, 1933 Junior winner, and Victor Rouchetti, 1931 Junior champion. Freisinger also is defending National Intermediate champion and Cannata won the National Junior title last year.

The Brekke team won the Illinois Western indoor carnival last week, the first competition of the season.

Entries for this year's tournament close at midnight Sunday. No post entries will be accepted. If there is not sufficient ice to hold the meet at Garfield park it will be transferred to another outdoor rink, a flooded surface, which will not endanger the contestants.

Preliminaries in three of the seven Derbies will be held on Saturday, Jan. 13, with all other qualifying races and the seven finals scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 14.

Farrell gives Georgia Vanderpool a few pointers on the new rink which has been set aside to give Chicago stars a chance to drill for coming meets. It is restricted to speed skaters. All others are barred.

Junior Champions

1919—Julian Steinmetz.	1926—Vinson Sahlin.
1920—George Thomson.	1927—Arthur Conroy.
1921—John Hollander.	1928—James Bentley.
1922—Henry Webber.	1929—Edwin Stundl.
1923—Henry Nelson.	1930—Stanley Baginski.
1924—George Thiel.	1931—Victor Rouchetti.
1925—Eddie Jacobson.	1933—Bernie Cannata.

The party will consist of Bill Hewitt, Bill Karr, Paul Franklin, Link Lyman, George Musso, Ray Richards, Jules Carlson, Bert Pearson, Joe Zeller, Ookie Miller, Ed Kawal, Carl Brumbaugh, George Corbett, Red Grange, Cliff Battles, Gene Ronzani, John Sisk, John Doehring, Bronko Nagurski, Jack Manders, players, and Coaches George Halas and Laurie Walquist and Secretary Frank Halas.

Since Joe Kopcha is a medical student and Bill Buckler's firm transferred him for the remainder of the winter to Canada, and Keith Molesworth could not make the trip, Coach Halas signed Ed Kawal, who played with the St. Louis Gunners, and Cliff Battles of Boston.

GATE RECEIPTS FOR ROSE BOWL GAME $78,000

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Gate receipts at the Columbia-Stanford football game here last Monday will total about $78,000, enough to pay all expenses of the game, according to a statement from the Stanford graduate manager's department, which handled the arrangements. Nearly 35,000 tickets to the game were sold, although that many people did not attend. It was the smallest Rose Bowl game football attendance since 1922.

Lawrence, Kas., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Glenn Cunningham of Kansas, who was awarded the Sullivan Memorial medal for a long list of triumphs at the middle distances last year, will inaugurate his 1934 competitive campaign in the Wanamaker mile at the Millrose A. A. games in New York, Feb. 3.

The indoor season schedule of the University of Kansas' much sought athletic was submitted to the athletic board today by Coach H. W. [Bill] Harrgiss for approval, which likely will be granted tomorrow.

MICHIGAN BEATS NORMAL; ILLINI WHIP MISSOURI

Ohio State Is Victor Over Princeton.

Three Big Ten basketball teams last night won their final practice games for the conference season, which opens Saturday night. Ohio State, co-champions, last year, defeated Princeton, 41 to 34. Illinois won a last minute battle from Missouri, 31 to 27, and Michigan scored a 29 to 11 decision over Michigan Normal.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Jack Beynon's basket in the closing minutes, with the score tied, put the Illini in the lead and was followed in rapid order by another goal by Huddie Hellmich, enabling Illinois to defeat Missouri tonight, 31 to 27.

The Illini maintained a comfortable lead until the second half, when the Tigers scored seven points in a row and finally tied it up with Hatfield's basket and Miller's free throw.

Froschauer and Hellmich led the Illini scorers. Les Lindberg played his first game on the home floor and was a factor with his ball handling and following. Lineup:

OHIO, 41; PRINCETON, 34

The Buckeyes took a lead of 18 to 17 in the first half and managed to run this to 39 to 29 before Princeton put on a belated scoring effort.

Colburn, Ohio forward, who became eligible over the holidays, was offensive star of the game, scoring 17 points. Rosequist, who replaced the ineligible Hosket at center for the Buckeyes, sparkled in his play on the defense and totaled 10 points from the floor.

MICHIGAN, 29; NORMAL, 11

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Michigan defeated the Michigan Normal quintet, 29 to 11, tonight in one of the poorest exhibitions of basketball seen here in some time. Michigan scored only three of nine attempted free throws.

Normal did most of its scoring from the foul line, getting through for only two field baskets.

The Michigan scoring was divided among eight men, but Tessmer with six points, all scored from the field, was high man. Hanneman scored five of Normal's points, getting one of the field goals and three free throws.

Coach Franklin Cappon of Michigan used 13 men, but at the end of the evening knew little more about his starting combination for the opening of the Big Ten season against Indiana Saturday than he had at the start. Lineup:

DE PAUL, 37; ARIZONA, 26

De Paul university's basketball team defeated the touring Univeristy of Arizona squad last night on the De Paul floor, 37 to 26, for its fourth straight victory.

Pete Barskis, star De Paul forward, missed the first ten minutes of the action and the last five, but found time enough to sink seven baskets and a free throw. Jim Gorsky, the other first string forward, swished in five baskets and Linskey, at guard, contributed two long shots besides three free shows.

KARL OGREN IN COURT TO ANSWER ASSAULT CHARGE

Karl Ogren, middleweight, yesterday took time out from training for an eight round contest with Johnny Long at Marigold gardens Monday to appear in the Town hall court of Judge Alfred O. Erickson on assault charges made by Ivor Berg. The case was continued until Jan. 25.

The charges grew out of an altercation at a north side Swedish club Christmas eve when Berg claims his jaw was fractured by an unidentified assailant. He implicated Ogren. Karl said that he took no part in the altercation, but when he left the club that night four men attempted to slug him and an associate in an alley way. The attempted assault was frustrated when two of the wouldbe assailants were knocked out and the other two ran away.

The next boxing show at the Stadium will be on Jan. 19. Nate Lewis, matchmaker, has a list of boxers whom he hopes to pair by Saturday. Two matches being arranged are Ben Jeby and Kid Leonard and Frank Battaglia and George Nichols. Frank Klick, junior lightweight champion, and Freddy Miller, featherweight titleholder, may appear in other matches. Opponents for John Pacek, Adolph Winter, and Frank Sigillo are being sought.

The next wrestling card at the Stadium is set for Jan. 31. . . . Sammy Slaughter, Terre Haute, Ind., middleweight, stopped off here yesterday en route to his home from Milwaukee, Wis., where he lost to Frank Battaglia on a foul Monday. They have been reported rematched for Jan. 29 at Milwaukee. . . . Wesley Ramey, Grand Rapids, Mich., lightweight, is making preparations for a trip to Australia late this month.

A wrestling bout and two boxing matches were arranged yesterday to support the eight rounder between Henry Rothier and Meyer Grace at Rainbo Fronton tomorrow night. Al Schiarato and Art Donovan meet for five rounds at 136 pounds. A four round match will bring together Scotty Sylvano and Roosevelt Haines, 142 pound fighters. James High will wrestle Joe Oraweiz.

Champion Barney Ross will start workouts at Excelsior Springs, Mo., Sunday for a nontitle match with Billy Petrolle Jan. 24. He will workout there again on Monday and Tuesday. Then on Wednesday he is to open sparring at Trafton's gymnasium.

Sammy Levine meets Johnny Fitzpatrick for the second time in an eight round encounter at Community Recreation center tomorrow. Five months ago Fitzpatrick held Sammy to a six round draw at Cicero. . . . The Harry Dublinsky-Eddie [Kid] Wolfe match scheduled at New Orleans, La., Monday has been postponed until later in the month. George Cone and his fighter, Duane Maddux, engaged in an impromptu battle at a loop gymnasium yesterday. . . . The Jackie Wilson-Young Rightmeier bout at Sioux City, Ia., Monday yesterday was set back to Jan. 22. . . . Freddy Fasano, former boxer, and Miss Eve Gifford were married here yesterday.

Roy Williams, south side middleweight, went to a hospital yesterday for treatment of an infected hand. . . . Lou Talaber meets Zack Malkov and Jack Londos faces Al Williams in a wrestling show at Prudential hall next Wednesday. . . . Capt. Roy E. Davis of Chicago has been appointed chairman of the National A. A. U. boxing committee.

Phil Mario vs. Jack Sullivan, 118.
Ed Giffee vs. Frank Balanch, 138.
Carl Vegel vs. Harold Samson, 135.
Jake Lumpkins vs. Vince Sakkoff, 145.
Frank Kaussk vs. George Sluka, 160.
Warren Phumphries vs. John Hawthorne, 168.

HARVARD ELEVEN TO WORK INDOORS FOR NEXT MONTH

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Harvard, not so long ago one of the most severe critics of out of season football work, will launch its 1934 season on Friday afternoon by opening a month of informal practice in the baseball cage.

These workouts, open to freshmen and upper class men not participating in regular winter season sports, will be carried out under the direction of Head Coach Eddie Casey, who has yet to decide upon his 1934 assistants.

Casey explained today that the indoor sessions would be held three afternoons a week during January and would stress fundamentals. He said that the usual three weeks' spring practice season would open late in March.

AMATEUR HOCKEY TEAMS GO BACK INTO TITLE PLAY

The Chicago Amateur Hockey association will continue its league schedule, after a successful international campaign during the holidays, when the Baby Ruth six met Nestor Johnson in a Big Four game at the Coliseum at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

The game is important to both teams. A victory for the Baby Ruths will move them up into a tie for first place with the Butterfingers, while a triumph for the Johnsons will move them out of the cellar birth into a deadlock with the Blue Ribbons for third place.

With the first half of the league schedule ending Jan. 20, the Ruths must win both their remaining contests to win the championship, while the Butterfingers lose their final game.

Foxx Off for Florida; to Seek Home Run Record

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Jimmy Foxx, Philadelphia Athletics star and holder of the major leagues' home run record for the last two seasons, will leave for Florida tomorrow to begin training for the 1934 baseball season, confident he will break the record held by Babe Ruth.

"All I want is a break in my own physical condition," Foxx said tonight. "I was greatly handicapped at the start of last season by a leg injury, which had me in the hospital on the opening day. It was a spike wound.

"If I can keep in shape I believe I can crack out about 65 homers next season," he added.

19th Victory in Row Goal of Notre Dame

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Notre Dame will attempt to extend its basketball winning streak to 19 games and eight this season when it faces Arizona here tomorrow night. The Irish may be deprived of the services of Leo Crowe, senior guard, who was injured in the Dec. 30 game with Northwestern. Tomorrow night's game is the first of four intersectional contests on the 24 game Irish card.

PURDUE FACES MISSISSIPPI

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Purdue's basketball squad, victorious in five out of six games, will wind up its preconference campaign here tomorrow night against Mississippi State college, one of the strongest quintets of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic conference. The Southerners, in the midst of a barnstorming tour of the central states, defeated Loyola of Chicago Monday night, and dropped a tough battle to Michigan State last night.

With the Big Ten opener scheduled here Saturday night against Minnesota, Coach Ward Lambert is expected to launch the game with the combination he is depending upon to bear the brunt in the important Gopher game.

Dutch Gehring, who has been showing steady improvement since he recovered from his football injury, is slated for the center post, with Ray Eddy and Norman Cottom at forwards. Ed Shaver will be a permanent fixture at back guard, while the floor guard berth rests between Emmett Lowery and Charles Meade. Probable lineup:

PURDUE.		MISSISSIPPI.
Eddy	F	Haley
Cottom	F	Lee
Fehring	C	Kelly
Lowery-Meade	G	Langrum
Shaver	G	Jackson

Referee—Feezle [Indianapolis]. Umpire—Molony [Notre Dame].

Notre Dame, Ind., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—The Hon. Ernest E. L. Hammer, justice of the New York State Supreme court, former Mayor Joseph V. McKee of New York City, Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, and State's Attorney Thomas Courtney of Cook county, Illinois, will be guests at the 14th annual civic testimonial football dinner to be tendered the 1933 Notre Dame football team Jan. 15, by the St. Joseph Valley Notre Dame club.

More than half of the 1,100 tickets placed on sale two days ago have been reserved already, and a sellout is expected several days before the dinner.

111th Street 'Y' Quintets to Open Play Tomorrow

The 111th Street Y. M. C. A. Open Basketball league will begin play tomorrow. Acme Steel will play Carlson's Big Five, Pullman Car will play Hollywood Grill, Ninth Ward Republicans will meet the Boy Builders, and Sherwin-Williams is paired with the Y. M. C. A.

Start Drive for Turf Bets in New York

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—The drive to legalize betting at the New York tracks was launched today immediately after the 1934 legislature went into session.

Blockaded last year, the program was advanced in practically the same form as before as Senator James J. Crawford and Assemblyman William Breitenbach, both Brooklyn Democrats, introduced companion measures to permit open betting at the New York city tracks.

The Jockey club is known to be backing the program. All the weight and influence of leading racing men are understood to be behind it. Gov. Lehman has let it be known that he is favorable to the program. In the face of last year's defeat the racing supporters are determined that this year no false steps shall be taken which will endanger passage of the measure.

The bill would have the effect of legalising betting and would impose an 8 per cent tax on the gross box office receipts at the tracks. Of the sum to go to the state, estimated at several million dollars, $250,000 would be devoted yearly for the benefit of country fairs.

PORTER SCORES TRIPLE

Miami, Fla., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Jockey Earl Porter rode a triple at Tropical Park today, including among his winners Mrs. F. J. Heller's Agrarian, which won the featured long key purse. Porter's triumphs brought his total for the three racing days of 1934 to eight.

Porter's other winners were Mervin B., in the second race and Musing in the nightcap.

In the featured race Agrarian went to the post a prohibitive favorite at 3 to 10. He gave evidence of his superiority by defeating J. C. Clark's Erebus by four lengths, with the Jersey stable's Postscript a nose further back.

Porter rode Agrarian cleverly. Realising that his mount had the speed, Porter rated him along just off the pace set by Erebus and made his move in the late stages of the six furlong race.

Erebus Is Only Contender.

There were six starters in the event and for the most part the race was between Agrarian and Erebus. Only in the stretch was there any threat to the supremacy of the two leaders, when Postscript came up with a rush to close a great deal of ground.

Another jockey came into the limelight when Apprentice Francis Maschek booted home the 37 to 1 shot, Indian Salute, in the third race. It was the second mount of Maschek's brief career. His first was Playful Martha, which finished fourth here on New Year's day.

One of the outsiders in a field of ten, Indian Salute returned $75.50 for $2 to win, $80.50 to place and $15.50 for the show. The favorite was the Brookmeade stable's Bramble Broom, which raced sluggishly and never was a contender.

The first outing under colors for 2 year olds took place in the first race, which was taken by the Tod entry of Mrs. J. H. Whitney.

George T. Dunlaps Capture Father and Son Golf Title

Pinehurst, N. C., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Hitting alternate shots around the No. 2 course, George T. Dunlap Jr., national amateur champion, and his father, George T. Dunlap Sr., of East Orange, N. J., won the annual father and son golf championship here today. The Dunlaps carded a 39—39—78, which their handicap of 10 lowered to a net 68.

Irwin Howe's Condition Reported as Improved

Slight improvement was noted yesterday in the condition of Irwin Howe, veteran baseball statistician, who has been gravely ill for the last week. Mr. Howe, official statistician for the American league for more than 20 years, is suffering from influenza and internal complications. He is 67 years old.

CHICAGO OFFERS WINTER HAVEN TO MANY DUCKS

Mergansers and Sawbills Use Lake for Larder.

BY BOB BECKER.

Just as the weed thickets, woods and brushy areas in Chicagoland furnish shelter and food to a large winter bird population [species which are classed as land birds], so Lake Michigan is the attraction for many water birds which are driven out of the north by cold weather. These water birds come down in October and November, enjoy the fishing which Lake Michigan offers, and then leave for the north again in March.

Although several species of open water ducks are fairly common here during the winter months, interested observers continually are "discovering" flocks of these ducks for the first time and usually getting quite a thrill out of the fact that waterfowl are here in the dead of winter.

Mergansers Like Chicago.

Every week we see at least one flock of mergansers, sawbills, or fish ducks on Lake Michigan by looking out across the lake from the high bluff near our home. Both the red breasted and the American merganser enjoy Chicago as a winter resort and they do a lot of fancy diving to get their meals. Both of these species have a flashy white patch on the wing, which makes them striking birds in flight.

As every hunter knows, the sawbills or fish ducks are well named. Nature has given them serrated bills which enable them to grab a small fish and hang on to it very easily. When they go under the water to chase their prey they swim rapidly, and woe to any perch or herring which comes within reach.

Golden-Eye Is Handsome.

The golden-eye is another handsome duck which usually is around all winter. There is so much white on the male that you may wonder just what he is the first time you see him in flight. However, if you get close enough to some golden-eyes the music of their wings will help you identify the species. The rapidly moving wings of most ducks make a whistling sound, but this species excels in wing music. The male golden-eye has a dark glossy green head with a circular white patch at the base of the bill. His neck and breast are white. And he sports a big white patch on each wing.

The golden-eye, an open water duck, is an expert diver. When we have a west wind in Chicago some of these winter ducks will come close to shore to feed. At such times the bird student has his best chance to identify the various species. This fall we know of several golden-eyes being shot on the beach near our home.

LAKE SHORE A.C. GIRL SWIMMERS FACE MILWAUKEE

The girls' swimming team of the Lake Shore Athletic club will leave for Milwaukee tonight to meet the Milwaukee A. C. and the Indianapolis A. C. in a triangular meet tomorrow.

Stan Brauninger, coach of the Lake Shore team, expects Emina Shemaitis, captain of the team and Central A. A. U. champion, to dominate the free style events. Pressing Capt. Shemaitis for honors in the speed events are Marian Dose, Mariya Lapin, Jacquelyn Nicholson, Peggy Kurz and Marjorie Canavan. Crystal Diete, Dorothy Schiller and Elizabeth Henry are entered in the breast stroke events, while Marian Mansfield and Ruth Fauntz are prepared to defend their diving laurels.

The Milwaukee meet is one of a series of three arranged between the clubs. The second meet will be held in the Lake Shore pool on Jan. 26, while the third is to be held in Indianapolis at a later date.

Jim Londos Turns Cold Shoulder to Chicago Wrestling

Jim Londos has forsaken Chicago. At least when the Chicago Stadium's wrestling department, which had Jan. 17 as a tentative wrestling date opened negotiations with Ed White, the Greek's manager, they were informed that "Londos is booked elsewhere."

The Greek, according to White, is booked for matches in Baltimore on Jan. 16 and in Philadelphia on Jan. 18, which puts the Stadium's January date into the discard. White, the stadium's wrestling department later learned, was disappointed with the turnout of the recent Steele-Londos match. Further inquiry revealed that both White and Londos were reported as saying that they can get along very nicely without Chicago.

In the meantime the Stadium's wrestling department has taken the same stand toward White and Londos and they have set aside Jan. 31 as the new wrestling date. Overtures have been made to Joe Savoldi, who threw Londos in a disputed bout; Jim Browning, the New York state heavyweight champion, also will be on the same card.

RUTH SAYS HE'LL PLAY 100 GAMES; WANTS $40,000

Babe Begins Work of Losing Extra Pounds.

New York, Jan. 3.—[Special.]—Babe Ruth broke his silence today on the question of the new baseball contract he must sign this year with the Yankees and admitted that he expects a cut in salary.

"I'm going to take a cut, all right," he said, as he went through his annual physical inspection at a gymnasium. "I hope it will be reasonable."

Far from feeling that he is through as an outfielder, though he will be 40 years old in five weeks, the Babe offered to wager "all I've got" on playing 100 games with the Yanks this season. He played 132 games last season.

Expects $40,000 Pay Check.

Rating his salary cut in proportion to the number of games he expects to play, the Babe figured on a reduction in pay roughly of from $52,000, the terms of his 1933 contract, to about $40,000.

He said he had no managerial plans at the moment, but "there's a lot of inside stuff I don't want to talk about right now." His physical condition, he insisted is better than it was at this time last year and his weight was given at 235 pounds.

Praises Babe's Condition.

"The Babe's a marvel when it comes to condition," said Trainer Artie McGovern as Ruth officially started his 1934 conditioning program. "He's really a remarkable case, and you can't compare him with the ordinary forty year old person. Under the circumstances, I see nothing strange in his ability to play a full season of baseball.

"He'll have to lose about 25 or 30 pounds before the playing season starts, but I think he'll be able to do it without danger of hurting himself. He has a remarkable constitution, and, though he picks up weight in no time, he can lose it fast by working sensibly, and he'll do that in the gym.

"Barring accidents, I don't see why he shouldn't last the entire season."

COCHRANE TELLS PLANS

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Gordon [Mickey] Cochrane expects to catch 125 games next season in addition to his duties as manager of the Detroit Tigers.

Furthermore, no additional deals for new players are contemplated and, unless something unforeseen develops, the Tigers in their first year under Cochrane's management will stand or fall on their present lineup.

Returning today to the city of his future baseball endeavors, Cochrane relieved himself of that information and added that he expects the Detroit club to be a contender for the pennant in a race that promises to be a six or seven sided scramble.

Start Training March 4.

After a conference with Cochrane Frank Navin, president of the Detroit club, announced that pitchers and catchers on the Tiger squad will start training March 4 at Lakeland, Fla., with the other players opening the spring campaign a week later.

Navin explained that the Tigers will go south later than usual this year because of a change in American league scheduling which brings opening games on April 17 instead of April 12.

Cochrane is depending upon Fred Marberry, Tommy Bridges, Vic Frasier, Carl Fischer, and Vic Sorrell to handle regular pitching assignments, and hopes that Lynwood [Schoolboy] Rowe's arm will get back into shape in time to add him to the list.

Has Lineup in Mind.

He believes Hank Greenberg, Charlie Gehringer, Bill Rogell, and Marvin Owen will give Detroit at least a satisfactory infield, and that Goose Goslin will add the needed punch in the outfield. Goslin will hold down right field and Pete Fox the center field position. Cochrane isn't at all certain about left field.

The new pilot even has his batting order well in mind. He expects Fox to lead off, followed by Gehringer, Cochrane, Goslin, and Greenberg.

FORESTER FIVES OFFER 4 GAME CARD TONIGHT

Three league games and a contest between two of Chicago's leading girls' teams will make up the card tonight when the West section of the Catholic Order of Foresters Basketball league gets into action at the west side clubhouse, 4711 Madison street. The schedule:

7 p. m.—Holy Family vs. Monarchs.
8 p. m.—Baby Ruth Girls vs. Amphion Girls.
9 p. m.—Holy Ghost vs. St. Thomas Aquinas.
10 p. m.—St. Patrick vs. Alossius.

Rangers Peril Blackhawks' Hockey Lead

The standing of the American division of the National Hockey league has taken on a changed appearance. The world champion New York Rangers, by virtue of their victory over the Canadiens at New York Tuesday night, moved ahead of the Detroit and Boston teams and are now only three points behind the Chicago Blackhawks, divisional leaders in the championship race.

In the cellar since the start of the season in November, the Rangers have waged a desperate uphill fight until they now have a chance to pass the Chicago club. The Rangers play at Detroit tonight and if they win will be within one point of the Blackhawks. A victory at Detroit and another next Sunday night at the Stadium would give the Rangers first place by one point.

Bruins Are Desperate.

The Boston Bruins will make a desperate bid to keep out of the cellar when they meet the Ottawa Senators at Ottawa tonight, in which event they, too, would be close on the heels of the Blackhawks.

With the Boston team adding Peggy O'Neil to the roster and trying to buy Allan Shields from Ottawa; Detroit trading Stewart Evans for Teddy Graham and benching John Ross Roach in favor of Wilf Cude, and the Blackhawks bidding for Leroy Goldsworthy of London, news is plentiful in the American division.

"The championship fight is just beginning as far as we are concerned," Manager Tommy Gorman of the Blackhawks said yesterday. "The Rangers will find us at top form when they invade the Stadium next Sunday night. Abel and Coulter are back, while Conacher and Paul Thompson also have recovered from their injuries. It will take superb hockey on the part of Detroit, the Rangers, and Boston to keep us out of the playoffs."

Asks Shore's Reinstatement.

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, owner of the Blackhawks, yesterday wired Managing Director Frank Patrick of the National Hockey league, urging him to lift the suspension of Eddie Shore, star Boston player, so he could compete against the Hawks Jan. 11.

BAILEY OUT OF DANGER.

MONTREAL, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Frank Patrick, managing director of the National Hockey league, announced tonight that he had received word from Boston that Irvin [Ace] Bailey, Toronto wingman, was definitely out of danger and that he would issue his decision on the case of Eddie Shore, Boston defense man who caused Bailey's injury, tomorrow.

Patrick said he had received assurance as to Bailey's condition from Dr. Donald Munro, who operated on the player after the wingman had suffered a fractured skull in the Boston-Toronto match Dec. 12.

Except to say that Shore, who was so shaken nervously by the accident that he still is unable to play, would not be suspended for the remainder of the season, Patrick declined to intimate what the ruling might be.

RANGERS GET DUTKOWSKI.

New York, Jan. 3.—(AP)—In an effort to strengthen his back line, Lester Patrick, president and manager of the New York Rangers of the National Hockey league, today purchased husky Duke Dutkowski from the New York Americans.

Jean Pusie, colorful French-Canadian rookie, who has been acting as a replacement, was released on loan to London of the International league to make way for Dutkowski, who is a former captain of the Chicago Blackhawks.

NORTH CENTRAL, ARMOUR FIVES MEET TOMORROW

North Central college and Armour Tech will resume their basketball rivalry tomorrow at the 35th street armory. Saturday North Central and Elmhurst will meet in Merner fieldhouse at Naperville.

Both Armour and Elmhurst were twice defeated by North Central last year, and Armour was North Central's second victim of the present season, 32 to 26, at Naperville.

Elmhurst has a veteran team, a new coach, Langhorst, and a star newcomer, Duhan. Elmhurst has been defeated by Wheaton.

Hawkeye Quintet to Battle St. Ambrose at Moline

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—With the definite scheduling of a game with St. Ambrose College of Davenport, the University of Iowa 1934 basketball card today included 19 contests. Iowa will play the Iowa conference champions at the Moline, Ill., High school fieldhouse Jan. 27. The game had been tentatively booked for several months.

Minnesota Football Captain on Honeymoon

Thief River Falls, Minn., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Capt. Roy Oen of the 1933 University of Minnesota football team was honeymooning today with his bride, the former Miss Katherine Elizabeth Patton, Thief River Falls. They were married Sunday. Oen was named athletic coach at Hibbing High school upon his recent graduation from the university.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

THE White Sox played their first game on April 2, 1900, against the University of Illinois at Urbana and won, 10 to 9. . . . The series ended with five victories for the Sox, three for Illinois, and there was one tie. . . .

The Cubs trained at the university in 1901 and 1902, winning five and losing four each year. . . . Training trips to the south and coast came later. . . .

The Columbia university football team, which whipped Stanford in the Rose Bowl New Year's day, will spend Saturday night in Chicago. . . . The party of 60, headed by Coach Lou Little, will arrive at the North Western station Saturday evening and will leave for New York Sunday morning.

CLARK GABLE.

George Little, athletic director at Rutgers, has been visiting old friends at Madison since the coaches' meeting in Chicago. . . . Little formerly was sports chief at Wisconsin. . . . Bob Manogoff's application for renewal of his license as a wrestling referee has been refused by the Illinois athletic commission. . . . Manogoff is the man who gave Joe Savoldi a disputed decision over Jim Londos at the Stadium last spring. . . . Coaches at most colleges these days are required to handle more than one sport. . . . Glenn Harmeson, one of Purdue's finest all around athletes, will coach both football and basketball at Lehigh next year. . . . Nelson Kellogg, former Purdue athletic director, is in charge of that department at Lehigh. . . .

Net receipts from athletic contests at the University of Wisconsin in 1929-'30 were $217,211.48 . . . They dropped to $116,976.74 in 1932-'33. . . . The stadium at Randall field, constructed over a period of years at an estimated cost of $250,000, is free of debt, but the new fieldhouse, which cost $430,000, requires an amortization of $25,000 a year for 30 years. . . . Tiny Thompson, goal keeper of the Boston Bruins, never fails to star in hockey games against his brother Paul of the Blackhawks. . . . Ching Johnson, 34, of the New York Rangers is the oldest active defense man in the National Hockey league. . . .

Since the skating rink at Illinois was opened three years ago 126,204 persons have passed through the turnstiles. . . . Nearly 18,000 have used the rink so far this season. . . . It was built to provide recreation in the winter months for students who enjoy this form of exercise. . . . It was made possible from football profits and is entirely paid for. . . . Wasn't it Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture, who said football was a racket? . . . Apparently what we need are more rackets like football. . . . King Levinsky stated after he whipped Jack Sharkey he would do no more fighting until he got a title bout with Primo Carnera. . . . He changed his mind because he ran out of cash. . . .

University of Pittsburgh's basketball court, built under the stands of its $2,000,000 football stadium, is a jinx for visiting teams because of poor lighting and the posts along the sides. . . . Notre Dame, now boasting 18 consecutive victories, is said to be worried particularly about its date there Jan. 20. . . . Arizona, Michigan State, Marquette, and Butler are on the Notre Dame schedule before the Pitt game. . . . Since George Keogan became basketball coach the Irish have won 164 games and lost 49. . . . And there still are folk who think football is the big sport at Notre Dame. . . . Don Elser, the 225 pound full back, is said to be quite a basketball player, but how can he break into a lineup which already is so much better than a year ago that two letter men, Edward Alberts and James Newbold, have spent most of their time on the bench?

Ten years ago today—Johnny Weissmuller of the Illinois Athletic club swam 300 yards in 3 minutes 12 2-5 seconds for a world record. . . . University of Chicago basketball team defeated Yale, 24 to 21. . . . Johnny Meyers, middleweight wrestling champion, threw Joe Parelli two falls out of three. . . . Funeral services for Billy Miske, heavyweight boxer, were held in St. Paul. . . . John Hertz, president of the Yellow Cab company, was among a group of American turfmen who purchased imported horses from England and France valued at $500,000. . . . Tex Rickard, appearing before the New York legislature, denied he had a monopoly on boxing.

Chicago Beats Pittsburgh's Lacrosse Team

BY PATRICK DWYER.

The Pittsburgh Buccaneers, unbeaten in three years, were handed an 11 to 9 upset by the Chicago Blue Ribbons last night in a North American Lacrosse league game at the Arcadia Gardens.

Monsieur Lafrance, the Capt. Kidd of the Buccaneers, raged up and down the floor during the first quarter and scored two goals, the only points made by either side in that period. Neither team exhibited undue violence before the first whistle blew, but the Chicago boys were doubtless aggravated by the entreaties and advice shouted at them by their agonized manager, Corbett Dennenny, who sat on the side lines and nearly wrung his hands off at the wrists.

Bounded Back Into Game.

Perhaps a pep talk stirred the Blue Ribbons during their siesta. At any rate they bounded into the arena and pretended they were naval forces out to clean up on the Buccaneers. Baldwin set the game going by swatting Pete Langevin so hard over the head the unfortunate Langevin had to be carried off the deck.

No sooner had Langevin been replaced than Cordick, the Pittsburgh goalie, who strolled away from his nest to investigate some trouble, returned in a hurry with a section of his forehead laid open. Meanwhile the Chicagoans pushed in a goal. The battered Cordick was taken out and given into the hands of a physician and both sides took a rest for ten minutes.

Chicago Goalie Stars.

When play was resumed Billy McArthur, Chicago goalie, gave an excellent individual exhibition. He was almost invincible. Once he left his net and bounded clear down the floor to make a try for a point. However, another time he was away looking for trouble and the Pittsburgh boys made an easy goal.

The Buccaneers made another point the same way a few moments later, but by that time the Blue Ribbons had the game on ice, and the whistle that finally blew was the third in a row that sounded in the Arcadia Gardens after a Blue Ribbon victory.

Pittsburgh	2	2	3	2	— 9

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Optimistic about his pitching staff, and apparently unworried over his second base problem, Manager George Gibson of the Pirates arrived in Pittsburgh today to help complete plans for spring training. He said he left his home in Ontario, Canada, at daybreak today, and drove the 400 mile trip in less than nine hours.

"Unless something develops which I don't foresee now," Gibson said, "we will stand pat with our present material. This means Cooky Lavagetto, the Pacific Coast league recruit, will have to fight with Floyd Young, Bill Brubaker, and Tommy Thevenow for second base.

PALMER, SOUTH DAKOTA STAR, DIES OF ANEMIA

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Dale Palmer, 25, star athlete at South Dakota State college, died here today after a long illness from a severe type anemia accompanied by hemorrhages. He had received 25 blood transfusions in an effort to save his life.

Forest Hills to Be Site of Open Net Meet

New York, Jan. 3.—[Special.]—The long awaited tennis millenium, when the amateur "lambs" will lie down or stand up, with the professional "wolves," probably will come to pass this year, it was learned today. An open tournament will be held on the hallowed turf of the west side club at Forest Hills which has been consecrated these many years to Simon-pure matches, the first week in September.

Another revolutionary occurrence on the 1934 net calendar, according to reliable reports, is the change of the site of the national amateur single championship from Forest Hills to the Germantown Cricket club on the outskirts of Philadelphia. It will be staged the week after the open, which will place it about the same time as in the past.

Although the all-comers' event cannot be sanctioned officially until the U. S. L. T. A. convenes for its annual meeting at Chicago in February, it is virtually assured, it is said, because Walter Merrill Hall, president-elect of the national association, is declared to be heartily in favor of it.

Hope to Overcome Foes.

With the prestige of his position as head of the governing body and being a resident of this city, it is expected Hall will be able to overcome the opposition of the New York faction, which prevented the holding of an open tourney last year.

Bill Tilden, chairman of the Professional Lawn Tennis association tournament committee, will propose the amateur-pro competition at Chicago next month. He is said to have received promise of support from Hall and numerous other influential members of the amateur organization.

American Hockey Team Held to Tie in England

LONDON, Jan. 3.—(AP)—The all-star United States amateur hockey team was held to a 3 to 3 tie tonight by the England sextet, which is a combination of the Grosvenor House and Streatham teams. It was the Americans' first game of their European tour.

Rosenbloom and Knight Matched for Miami Bout

Miss Fulton and George Ball Pair for Tennis Match

Helen Fulton, 1932 national girls' champion, and George Ball, Northwestern university freshman, will meet Mary Reed of Onwentsia and Charles Garland, former American Davis cup captain, in the official opening of the remodeled Broadway armory indoor tennis courts on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Fulton, Winnetka, who will leave soon to begin a campaign on the west coast, will also play Miss Reed in singles.

CUE TOURNEY OPENS TODAY WITH 7 ENTERED

Seven players compose the list of entries in the annual all-star pocket billiard tournament which opens at the Sheridan recreation, 1002 Wilson avenue today. They are: Pasquale Natalie, Chicago; Charles Seaback, Astoria, N. Y.; George Nuss, Atlantic City, N. J.; Maj. White, Chicago; Coy Julian, Springfield, Ill.; Harry Kilgore, Chicago, and Carl Vaughan of New York.

Four games will be played daily, at 1:30, 3, 8, and 9:30 p. m. The tournament will be a twice around round robin and will end on Jan. 14.

BADMINTON EXHIBITION.

Huge Hutchinson Center Problem for Freighters

How to curb the activities of Ad Dietzel, scoring ace of the Missouri Valley A. A. U. league and star of the Hutchinson, Kas., Renos, is the current problem of the Chicago Fast Freighters. The two teams clash in the Missouri Valley league's Chicago debut Monday night at the Arcadia Gardens, 4444 Broadway.

Dietzel in the two league games played by the Kansans, all of whom are 6 feet or taller, has scored 42 points. Twenty of them were registered at Hutchinson when the Freighters won a 36 to 31 decision.

He got ten goals and two free throws as the Hutchinson team walloped Oklahoma City, 52 to 35. The latter club won two close decisions over the Freighters at Oklahoma City.

Dietzel, 6 feet 6 inches tall, is two inches shorter than Bob Gruenig, the Chicago center. The job of stopping the lanky Texan will be turned over to Elmer Johnson, Northwestern's center of last year.

The Renos have another giant in Vernon Vaughn, sub center, who matches Dietzel in height. They have the biggest pair of guards in the league, Buck Vanek, 6 feet 4 inches, of Kansas State Teachers college, and Abe Toews, 6 feet 5 inches, of Bethany [Kansas] college. One of the forwards, Walt Henrion, with the University of Nebraska last year, is 6 feet 4 inches tall.

Starting time for the game has been set back to 9:45 o'clock. This will give fans at the Big Ten battle between Northwestern and Minnesota an opportunity to reach the Gardens in time. The Major league all-stars meet the Hannin five in a preliminary at 8:15 o'clock.

Beloit Fairies Defeat Chicago Savoys, 26-25

Beloit, Wis., Jan. 3.—[Special.]—The Beloit Fairies scored a 26 to 25 victory over the Chicago Savoy Big Five here tonight. Mills and Mayers starred for Chicago. Scott and Pace were Beloit's best.

Indoor Polo League Opens Race Saturday

Final heavy workouts will be held this afternoon for the opening of the Metropolitan Indoor Polo league season Saturday night at the 124th Field Artillery armory, 52d street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The 122d Artillery will start Lieuts. Cliff Harrison, Carl Johnson and Art Zimmerman. The Riding club may be awarded a slight handicap at game time, owing to the goal rankings of the Artillery.

Maj. Richard Hunter, captain of the 124th Field Artillery team, which will oppose the Sixth Corps area riders, led by Capt. Davis in the windup, expects to select his starting lineup after today's workout. Capt. Bill Everett and Lieut. Chris Schuh are looked upon as certainties. Capt. Davis will choose from Capt. C. B. Cole, Lieut. Larry Smith and Lieut. R. C. Cooper.

DEMETRAL SIGNS TO MEET CLEM ON ARCADIA MAT

Smith, sensing an opportunity to jump into the first flight of the heavyweights, if he beats Sonnenberg decisively, is training daily at Postl's conditioning himself for a long grind as the time limit is an hour and a half.

MAJOR LEAGUES CHOOSE UNIFORM BALL TOMORROW

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The uniform baseball will be born tomorrow at Philadelphia, where the presidents of the two major leagues will meet with John Shibe, baseball manufacturer and secretary-treasurer of the Philadelphia Athletics, to pick out the official ball. It will follow closely the lines of that used last season in the American league.

As President Will Harridge of the American league got ready for the meeting yesterday it was revealed that not only the major league club owners but all three class AA leagues are behind the uniform ball. The International and Pacific Coast leagues and the American association all are ready to use it next season.

It's Hard on the Writers.

"Well, the newspaper men are going to lose some material for good stories after Friday," Harridge remarked as he prepared to leave for Philadelphia. "We'll all have the same ball in the majors and the writers won't be able to figure out how much Chuck Klein would hit with an American league ball or what Jimmy Foxx could do with a National league ball. No figures on batting averages in the majors will tell lies hereafter, although the class of pitching in the two leagues may differ from year to year. Adoption of a uniform baseball, I believe, with President Heydler of the National league, is one of the greatest forward steps taken in the national game."

Schedule Is Next.

From Philadelphia, Presidents Heydler and Harridge will go to New York to attend the schedule meeting. The 1934 season will run 154 games. Opening April 17, closing Sept. 30.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR FLOOD DEAD AT LOS ANGELES

Dig Autos and Homes Out of Muck.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Reports of looting in one of the flood stricken suburban districts added to the distress of the homeless and the burden of relief workers in the mud and debris covered lowlands about the city tonight.

Forty-one bodies had been recovered and 33 of these identified, but it was feared many of the more than three-score persons still on the missing list had perished. Huge piles of debris and mud, the wreckage of homes and many buried motor cars were yet to be searched.

5,000 Relief Workers.

Hampered by huge bogs of mud and piles of broken lumber and rocks, more than 5,000 relief and reconstruction workers labored hurriedly to restore some semblance of order and comfort in the Montrose, North Glendale, and La Crescenta area which felt the worst of the flood from southern California's greatest rainstorm.

Officials said many of those still reported missing may be injury victims in hospitals and first aid stations.

Making an inspection tour of the blighted area some 18 miles northeast of here, Gov. James Rolph Jr. left his automobile to watch CWA workmen digging in the débris of Verdugo wash. Suddenly from an excavation a bit of child's clothing appeared. Soon a tiny limb was visible. Tears came to the governor's eyes and he turned away.

Many Still Homeless.

Many residents in the north section of Glendale were still homeless. Fifteen hundred CWA workers were assigned to this area.

Bodies also were sought in the Venice-Culver City-Playa Del Rey area, which was severely flooded. One person, Clara Horowitz, was reported missing from that area, being swept into Ballona creek. Residents returning to more than 1,500 damaged homes thereabouts were faced with the discouraging task of cleaning out mud covering their floors and furniture.

Among the dead not previously identified were:

Clark, Eleanor, 38, Montrose.
MacKenzinie, Mrs. R. A., 55, Montrose.
Powell, Clyde, 45, Tu Hunta.
Wilson, Betty, 3, Verdugo City.

The bodies of two women, a man, and two children still were unidentified.

TWO MORE DIE OF INJURIES IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Two men died yesterday as the result of injuries received in automobile accidents, bringing the year's death toll to 11 in Cook county. The victims:

George Gregory, 67 years old, 6035 South Green street, in the Englewood hospital of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile driven by John Ramos, 32 years old, 3721 South Morgan street, at 62d and Halsted streets.

Joseph A. Letzter, 44 years old, 1147 Wenonah avenue, Oak Park, injured Sept. 23 when his car collided with that of Policeman John Mrzena, 52 years old, 3249 South 59th court, Cicero, at 59th and Ogden avenues in Cicero.

A Du Page county coroner's jury recommended yesterday that a hit and run motorist who struck and fatally injured Ralph H. Hurd Jr., 14 years old, of Clarendon Hills, be sought and arrested on a charge of manslaughter. The boy was returning to his home from a skating party Tuesday afternoon when a small coupé struck him.

FIRE IN CANADA DESTROYS FAMED VAN DYCK CANVAS

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 3.—(AP)—A portrait said by its owner to be one of the three celebrated originals of "The Angels' Choir," attributed to the famous Flemish master Van Dyck, was destroyed by fire which damaged a private art collection here, it was revealed today.

Survey of the damage by the flames yesterday in the home of John Gleeson, Ottawa business man, disclosed that, in addition to the reputed Van Dyck, other paintings and prized treasures were burned. The loss was estimated at more than $300,000.

It was reported that Gleeson paid about $150,000 for "The Angels' Choir," but he would not discuss this. He said the painting was taken from Belgium by Napoleon's soldiers. Later it found its way to Albany, N. Y., and then to Nova Scotia, where it remained for 90 years. Gleeson purchased the work several years ago, he said, after satisfying himself that it was a genuine Van Dyck.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Escape

LORD CHURCHILL, POPULAR BRITISH LEADER, IS DEAD

Known as Financier and Sportsman.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Recognized as one of Great Britain's most active peers in social, political, sporting and financial circles, Viscount Churchill of Wychwood [Victor Albert Francis Charles Spencer], died at his Scottish home, Langlee house, Galashiels, today of pneumonia. He was born Oct. 23, 1864.

The viscount was a godson of Queen Victoria, to whom he was a page of honor from 1876 to 1881. He was lord chamberlain at the coronation of King Edward VII, and master of robes at the coronation of King George V.

Guardian of Royal Enclosure.

As the king's representative, it was Viscount Churchill's job to decide who should be given the coveted badges entitling the holder to admission to the royal enclosure at Ascot race track. This task made him one of the most sought after men in England. His method of selection was to have three baskets, into which the request letters were sorted. They were marked, "certainly," "perhaps," and "certainly not."

In business circles Viscount Churchill was best known as one of Britain's railway leaders. He was chairman of the Great Western railway for 26 years. He was also chairman of the British Overseas bank, a director of the Grand Union Coal company, and on the board of directors of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation company, and of the British India Steam Navigation company.

Prominent in Politics.

Viscount Churchill was a friend of the royal family and intimately associated with the court throughout his whole life. For many years he was one of the most regular attendants in the house of lords. He was Conservative whip from 1889 to 1892.

Viscount Churchill was twice married. He divorced his first wife, Lady Verena Maud Lowther, a sister of Lord Lonsdale, on charges of desertion in 1927. His second wife was Ghristine, the daughter of William Sinclair. The viscount had one son and three daughters. King George is the godfather of Sarah, a daughter of the second marriage.

Viscount Churchill is succeeded by his son, Victor Alexander Spencer, known on the stage and in films in America and France as Peter Spencer.

MEDICAL CENTER IS INCORPORATED TO SEEK U. S. AID

With the filing of articles of incorporation with Recorder Clayton F. Smith the first step was taken yesterday toward creation of a world medical center in the vicinity of the county hospital. Articles of incorporation were obtained from the secretary of state at Springfield Saturday by prominent educators, physicians, civic leaders, and public officials interested in the development of the area.

The purpose of the corporation, known as the Medical Park at Chicago, is to promote and establish the medical park, effect passage of favorable legislation, and arouse interest for the project. There are twenty-seven directors of the corporation. Several weeks ago several directors voted to seek federal aid for the project, which has been under consideration for many years, by forming a corporation to negotiate loans.

Among the directors are Dr. Bernard Fantus, Dr. Frederick Tice, Eugene S. Taylor, Walter C. Loague, County Commissioner Peter M. Kelly, Dr. Austin A. Hayden, John E. Millizen, Herman Hensel, Dr. Charles Davison, George O. Fairweather, Dr. H. Edmond Quinn, and Asa S. Bacon. Negotiations for federal loans through Secretary of the Interior Ickes and United States Senator Lewis have already been begun.

SALE OF STAMPS BEGUN TO FIGHT HEART DISEASE

A warning to mothers that children's growing pains may be a manifestation of a rheumatic condition was given yesterday by Dr. Stanley Gibson, associate pediatrician at the Children Memorial hospital and a director of the Chicago Heart association. The Heart association during the day opened its annual sale of Valentine stamps, the revenue from which will be devoted to fighting heart disease in Chicago.

"Every child with growing pains should be under medical care," Dr. Gibson said. "Such pains are important, as they are warning flags of danger ahead. The danger may be a life of invalidism, since rheumatism in a child often impairs the heart to such an extent that it never regains full strength."

Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, executive secretary of the Heart association, appealed to the public to send contributions to the associtaion headquarters at 203 North Wabash avenue. The heart stamps, 100 in a dollar book, will then be mailed to the contributor.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

REPORT $65,846 IN NEW PLEDGES TO CHARITY FUND

Pledges totaling $65,846 were reported yesterday at a meeting in the Union League club of team captains of the Community fund, Allied Chicago Charities. This brings the grand total of the fund to $2,767,929. The goal of the campaign is $4,600,000. The money is to aid 102 Chicago private charitable agencies. The captains said their work had been virtually at a standstill during the holiday season, but they expected many employers to report employés' pledges this week.

The leather, mail order houses, licensed lenders, and public utilities have obtained pledges far larger than the amount of their quotas. Charles W. Bergquist, chairman of the trades and industries division, announced that a meeting of workers would be held next Tuesday and probably also on the following Friday to hear reports.

Discovers Relief for Stomach Distress After 25 Years of Terrible Suffering

Charles F. Blaine

"I HAVE suffered with stomach distress for the past twenty-five years," says Mr. Charles F. Blaine of 901 N. State St., Chicago. "I got so I could not even hold milk or water on my stomach. I was so nervous that I could not sleep at night, the least little noise almost drove me mad and I lost weight until I was down to eighty-nine pounds. I have taken every patent medicine that I ever heard of. I have spent thousands of dollars in the past twenty-five years and have had a great many x-ray pictures taken.

"I had just about given up hope of getting relief, when a good friend of mine sent me some of Willard's Tablets. After using four tablets I began to eat and sleep like I had never done in years. I have been using Willard's Tablets now for three weeks and I have gained eleven pounds and feel like a new man.

"I will be pleased to write letters to anyone and tell them what they have done for me. I want to thank the makers of Willard's Tablets for the first happy days I have had in twenty-five years."

HARRIS TRUST HINTS IT MAY QUIT RESERVE

Fears Liability in Deposit Guaranty.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

An implication that the Harris Trust and Savings bank may find it prudent to withdraw from the federal reserve system if it is forced to assume unlimited liability under a permanent federal deposit guaranty law was contained in a letter sent stockholders of the bank yesterday by Albert W. Harris, chairman of the board.

A. W. HARRIS. [Waters Photo.]

Mr. Harris is the second Chicago banker to come out in the open with criticism of the administration's plan for insuring deposits. J. M. Nichols, president of the First National bank of Englewood, has attacked deposit guaranty carried out through the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation as inimical to sound banking, and he has not paid the assessment required for participation in the plan.

Coöperates Temporarily.

While Mr. Harris objects to unlimited liability on assessments, he is going along with the temporary plan, effective until July 1, under which the maximum guaranty for an individual account is $2,500. Under the temporary plan banks are liable for only ¼ of 1 per cent of the total of their deposits which are insured.

"Guaranty of deposits has failed to guarantee in many states where it has been tried and ended quite disastrously to the banks," Mr. Harris said. "Perhaps the temporary insurance plan with a limited liability, which provides for insuring 90 per cent of the depositors of the banks, should be tried for a while, at least.

"It would seem the part of wisdom to try a plan first which takes care of 90 per cent of the depositors and all deposits up to $2,500 and see how it works before adopting a permanent plan which throws an unlimited liability upon the banks, does not meet with their approval, and might result in the withdrawal of enough banks from the federal reserve system to really jeopardize the whole insurance plan.

Permanent Plan Is Problem.

"It is this permanent plan of making every bank assume an unlimited liability which your officers and directors must consider seriously when the time comes and submit it to the stockholders. We must decide later in the year whether the bank can afford to assume this unlimited liability or whether it would be prudent to withdraw from the federal reserve system and carry on the business independently of the federal reserve system under our state charter."

In the same letter Mr. Harris had a word to say about the "incongruity" of the operation of the federal securities law and the banking act. "One of them, the banking bill, materially reduces the amount of investment business the banks can do," Mr. Harris said, thus supposedly turning this business over largely to the purely investment houses to handle.

"The security bill, on the other hand, makes it impossible for the investment houses to function. Just how this situation will be clarified remains to be seen. We propose, however, to continue as much of our former investment business as is permitted by law."

Issue Earnings Statement.

A statement of earnings and of condition as of Dec. 30, 1933, accompanied the letter. Mr. Harris said the statement does not show any large earnings, which were not expected, but it does show a sound financial condition. He expects to see some of the defects of the banking and securities acts corrected by congress.

The bank reported net profit for 1933 of $738,927. Dividends of 12 per cent, amounting to $720,000, were paid out of current earnings. The average capital employed was $13,926,085 and the earnings on this amounted to 5.31 per cent. The bank earnings in 1932, including those of the N. W. Harris company, amounted to $2,376,405. The bank's earnings in 1932 were at a rate of 6.53 per cent on the average capital employed.

Deposits Show Increase.

The annual statement showed total deposits of $133,893,294, compared with $110,045,737 as of Dec. 31, 1932, and $120,531,383 as of Sept. 29, 1933. Cash and due from banks stood at $45,147,419, compared with $33,093,071 as of Dec. 31, 1932, and $47,599,465 on Sept. 29, 1933. Loans and discounts totaled $47,078,968, compared with $41,580,464 on Dec. 31, 1932, and $49,911,285 on Sept. 29, 1933. Savings deposits were $15,392,769, compared with $14,507,552 on Sept. 29, 1933.

Mr. Harris said that from undivided profits there was transferred to surplus $100,000 in addition to the $900,000 contributed to the bank's surplus by stockholders from the partial capital liquidation of the N. W. Harris company. He added that $500,000 was transferred to the bank's reserves and $55,141 to a special reserve for unexpired federal deposit insurance. This means an addition of $1,000,000 to the bank's surplus account and a deduction of $655,141 from undivided profits.

The final liquidation of the N. W. Harris company will be accomplished in due course, Mr. Harris said. Its statements as of Dec. 30, 1933, showed: Cash and due from banks, $566,636; United States government obligations, $448,269; other bonds and securities, 501,493. Liabilities consist of $1,500,000 capital and $16,400 reserve for taxes.

U. S. Deficit Over Billion for 6 Months

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.—Vast increases in emergency expenditures brought the government's deficit at the end of December to $1,152,072,595, the treasury announced today. The operating deficit on the same date last year was $1,636,420,124.

The public debt at the end of the calendar year was $23,813,790,000, an increase of $279,000,000 in a month and of $3,008,000,050 in a year. This compared with the wartime peak of $26,596,701,000 on Aug. 31, 1919.

Includes New Issues.

Transactions in the public debt during the first half of the fiscal year included new issues of $5,827,086,700 and retirements of $4,551,968,000.

Ordinary receipts during the first half of the present fiscal year exceeded general expenditures by $2,800,000. Receipts in the July-December period were $1,468,897,900, an increase of $446,000,000 over the corresponding half of the preceding fiscal year.

Emergency expenditures of $1,155,825,322 since July 1 created this year's deficit. Extraordinary expenditures for the same period of last year were $477,133,622.09, all made by the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Expenditure Figures.

General expenditures amounted to $1,446,045,000, a decrease of $718,000,000; emergency expenditures, $1,155,825,000, an increase of $678,000,000, and total expenditures, $2,621,870,000, a decrease of $38,000,000.

The size of the midyear deficit is not an indicator of what the year-end deficit may be next June 30, officials said. The rate of emergency expenditures is expected to be accelerated greatly in the next few months.

NYE SAYS NRA FOSTERS LIGHT BULB MONOPOLY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Charges by Senator Nye of North Dakota that the General Electric company and a few limited licenses monopolize the manufacture and sale of incandescent electric lamps and that independents have been unable to obtain redress from the NRA or form the Electrical Code authority, will be placed before Gen. Johnson tomorrow, when rehearings begin on the electric manufacturers' codes.

Senator Nye's charges, which have served as a basis of White House conference on the alleged fostering of monopolistic practice by NRA under the codes, are contained in a letter to the administrator.

The letter, after criticizing alleged practices of General Electric, tells of the battle which independent lamp manufacturers fought and lost when they appealed to deputies of NRA, and to the National Electric Manufacturers' association, the code authority in the industry.

Gen. Johnson, answering Senator Nye briefly, declared he also was dissatisfied with the code and intended to open it up.

Senator Nye wrote the administrator that support of the recovery act was predicated upon a belief "that it was the purpose of the Roosevelt administration to administer this act to protect the small business man from ruthless practices of monopoly groups.

"Information has come to me from various sources, both official and unofficial, which convinces me that NRA is falling to accomplish through its codes that which congress intended," he declared.

DEFEND GERMAN STAND IN CUTTING INTEREST RATES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—The Reichsbank replied today to America's and Great Britain's protest against its recent transfer restrictions in connection with long and medium term debts due to those nations with the assertion that Germany is compelled to reduce the transfer quotas to safeguard its currency.

To allay German fears of a more serious German-American conflict, the Vossische Zeitung asserts that American banking circles are "deeply impressed with the logic and energy displayed by the Reichsbank in the transfer question against which no sound arguments have been advanced by America."

The Reichsbank statement asserts that "Washington overlooks the fact that the 'scrip' agreement enables foreign creditors to get the greatest part of their interest if they help Germans export their goods."

As to Germans repurchasing their bonds in the American market, the Reichsbank replied, "These deals were carried out according to the letter of the law under the most severe supervision."

Ely & Walker Earns $4.87 on Common; Best Since '27

St. Louis, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Ely & Walker Dry Goods company today reported its largest earnings since 1927 for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30, last. Earnings were $1,570,779, equal, after preferred disbursements, to $4.87 a share on 282,926 shares of common stock outstanding. The company suffered a net loss of $430,025 in 1932.

Stabilization Hint Produces Rally in Dollar

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 3.—The dollar was comparatively quiet today in foreign exchange markets in the face of the President's message to congress in which he said that early stabilization of exchanges on a permanent world wide basis was impracticable because of internal conditions existing in some foreign countries.

A mild little rally in dollar quotations developed here after the President had delivered his message apparently on the hint contained in the message that while the United States was ready to talk stabilization, some countries are not.

Dollar Rises to 63.19 Cents.

The dollar's gold value rose to 63.19 cents in terms of the French gold franc, an advance of less than a quarter of a cent from yesterday's quotation of 63.03. The closing price of the franc was 6.29 cents against 6.215 cents yesterday.

The British pound sterling also gave ground against the dollar after the President's message was delivered, closing at $5.11¼, a decline of 3¾ cents for the day. Meanwhile, RFC maintained its gold price of $34.06 an ounce, against a world price of $32.85.

The message was not delivered until after the close of principal European exchange markets. In Paris and London trading was quiet, all apparently waiting the President's views on stabilization.

Message Disappointing.

The message was regarded as disappointing in some quarters where it was pointed out that it clears up none of the uncertainty which has existed over the monetary situation as it affects the movement of exchanges. The financial community, however, did feel some reassurance in the hint that the United States has broached the subject of stabilization to foreign powers.

The Canadian dollar, which had pushed through par on Wednesday to sell again at a premium of one-quarter of a cent, turned weak again yesterday and closed at 99.81¼.

CRUDE OIL RUN IN NOVEMBER 6 PCT. UNDER OCTOBER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—(AP)—On the basis of reports received by the bureau of mines, the petroleum administrative board announced tonight that total receipts of crude oil at refineries during November totaled 70,303,000 barrels.

This was a daily average of 2,344,000 barrels. Daily average crude runs to stills amounted to 2,282,000, a decline of 6 per cent from the daily average of 2,434,000 barrels reported for October. Stocks of crude at refineries increased from 63,025,000 barrels on hand Nov. 1 to 64,446,000 Nov. 30.

Of the total refinery receipts of 70,303,000 barrels, 2,235,000 came from foreign countries, 39,221,000 were intrastate and 28,847,000 were interstate. All major producing states except Kansas shipped less crude to other states in November than in October. Total deliveries of domestic crude to refineries in November totaled 68,068,000 barrels, a daily average of 2,269,060. Compared with October, this average represented a decline of 68,000 barrels.

Structural Steel Contracts Set Record on Pacific Coast

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Contracts for delivery of structural steel set a record in Pacific coast territory during 1933, exceeding 258,000 tons, Don Partridge, associate editor of Steel, reported today. "The former record was made in 1929, when 188,000 tons were placed," he said. Construction of bridges, particularly the two large ones at San Francisco, were important factors in the contracts.

PROPOSES HIGH SPEED "POCKET LINERS" FOR MODERN OCEAN TRAVEL

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Lord Inverforth, writing for The Shipping World, advocates "high speed pocket liners of moderate comfort, operating in conjunction with aircraft," as the best way to satisfy the modern demand for speed and to eliminate the building of huge luxury liners.

"The employment of fast vessels with aircraft taking off from their decks some hundreds of miles from land has vast possibilities," he says, "and the facilities derived from the use of radio in all its various phases will do far more toward meeting present day demands than building freak craft which belonged to an extravagant age when economic efficiency was merely a secondary consideration."

Sir Eric Geddes, chairman of Imperial Airways, Ltd., said today he knew nothing of rumored negotiations with the Cunard line for a ship-to-shore plane service. Officials of the Cunard head office at Liverpool said the rumor was unfounded.

ILLINOIS MAY GET ONLY 3 MILLIONS FOR IDLE RELIEF

Howard O. Hunter, regional relief supervisor for the federal relief administration, said yesterday that if congress continues the CWA program in its present form Illinois probably will receive only about three or four million dollars of federal aid for direct relief to the idle in the next nine months.

"What aid the federal relief administration will be able to give Illinois toward suporting persons remaining on the relief rolls depends entirely upon the action of congress," he said. "Of the $50,000,000 that is available for state relief aid, Illinois probably will get three or four millions this month. That money will have to last the state for nine months if the CWA program is continued.

"That means that for the next nine months direct relief in Illinois will have to be provided largely through the sale of $30,000,000 of tax anticipation warrants based on a state property levy. Similar warrants were sold previously, and we believe they can be sold again. Their sale will enable Illinois to carry its own relief roll without federal aid for many months."

A referendum on the issuance of $30,000,000 of bonds in order to retire the tax warrants and obviate the necessity of a property levy of that amount will be voted on at the general election in November.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—Marking perhaps the last year in many in which gold will be minted in the United States, mints in 1933 coined 758,000 pieces of gold valued at $12,035,000, the treasury announced today.

No gold payments are now being made, and this metal is being impounded in the treasury and reserve banks.

Gold coinage included 445,500 double eagles [$20] valued at $8,910,000, and 312,500 eagles [$10], valued at $3,125,000.

Grant Grigsby New Trial in $26,000 Patent Suit

Municipal Judge Justin F. McCarty yesterday granted the Grigsby-Grunow company a new trial in a suit brought against it for $26,000 in royalties. Several weeks ago a jury awarded a verdict against the company in favor of Joseph H. Tigerman, whose eliminator device was used by the company. Since then Judge McCarthy has listened to arguments for a new trial.

Dodge's November Truck Shipments Set Record

Domestic shipments of Dodge commercial cars and trucks in November totaled 4,554 units, the best November on record, according to F. D. Bruke, sales director. Total truck shipments for 1933 were more than four times the 1932 figure, he said.

Food Index Continues Its Advance to $1.93

Continuing the sharp advance of the previous week, the weekly Dun & Bradstreet food index rose in the first week of the new year to $1.93, which compares with $1.63 a year ago.

Week's Power Output 8.8% Over Year Ago

New York, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Electric power output last week registered a small decline from the previous week because of the Christmas holiday, but showed the best gain over the corresponding period last year since the week ended Oct. 7.

The week's outturn, as reported today by the Edison Electric institute, amounted to 1,539,002,000 kilowatt hours, against 1,656,616,000 in the preceding week and 1,414,710,000 in the same week last year.

Gain 8.8% Over 1932.

The gain over 1932 was 8.8 per cent, which compares with a rise of 6.6 per cent in the previous week.

There was a sharp pickup in power consumption in the central industrial region from that of last year. The gain here was 14.4 per cent as against a rise of 9.6 per cent in the previous week. Middle Atlantic district was up 6.2 per cent, against 6.1; New England up 8.7, against 6.7; west central up 4.3, against 3.1; southern states off 3.7, against an increase of 1.5; Rocky mountain up 19.5, against 16; Pacific coast up 8.6, against 2.7.

Decline Less Marked.

The drop in output from the previous week, which was largely accounted for by the holiday influence, was less marked than last year and the year before, the loss being held within small limits partly because of unseasonally cold weather over a large part of the country.

The sharp gain in output on the Pacific coast was attributed to the heavy rains in that area.

Owing to the holidays the Commonwealth Edison company did not issue yesterday the regular statistics on the electricity output in the Chicago district for the week ended Dec. 30. The statistics will be released today.

PICK RAIL GROUP TO CONFER WITH LABOR ON LAWS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 3.—Five presidents of eastern carriers have been appointed to represent the railroads in conferences with labor on a legislative program.

L. F. Loree, president of the Eastern Presidents' conference, has selected the following group:

W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad; F. E. Williamson, New York Central; J. J. Pelley, New York, New Haven and Hartford; Daniel Willard, Baltimore and Ohio, and J. J. Bernet, Chesapeake and Ohio.

It is understood the railroads and labor will not move to change the national wage agreemnt under which they are operating before Feb. 15.

Re-elect Board and Officials of Mid-City National Bank

Stockholders of the Mid-City National bank, West Madison and Halsted streets, yesterday reëlected all members of the old board and selected one new member, Frank Allen, president of J. W. Allen & Co., bakers' supplies. Officers of the bank were also reëlected. The board will meet today. A meeting of stockholders of the Drexel State bank of Chicago, Cottage Grove avenue and Oakwood boulevard, was continued until Jan. 16. Directors of the Liberty Bank of Chicago are to meet today.

Mercantile Exchange Re-elects All Officials

REVEAL DETROIT BANK HAD TIP ON EXAMINATION

Quiz Hears of Loans to Judges.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Senate investigators received evidence at the resumption of their inquiry into the Detroit banking collapse today that some institutions in the Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc., had been given advance notice when national bank examiners were about to inspect their books.

This evidence, following closely exhibits purporting to show the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, a member of the group, declared a dividend late in 1932 when doubtful assets alone exceeded the capital, came during questioning of Bert K. Patterson, former executive vice president of the group.

Patterson resigned as a national bank examiner to accept the vice presidency and tonight Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.], a member of the senate committee, announced that he would introduce legislation prohibiting bank examiners from accepting positions with banks for two years after leaving the service.

Four Examiners Join Group.

Previous evidence, introduced two weeks ago, had developed that four former national bank examiners had quit their jobs to become connected with the group banks.

Patterson, when asked today by Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, if he knew of any instances in which banks had advance information as to when examinations were to be made, said he recalled only one. That, he said, was in May, 1932, when preliminary arrangements were necessary to examine the Guardian National Bank of Commerce.

When questioned more closely the banker said he "believed we participated with the examiners in an examination of the Grand Rapids National bank," and that "we sent men over there to participate."

Pecora then exhibited a letter from Alfred P. Leyburn, chief national bank examiner in Chicago, written on Dec. 17, 1931, addressed to Patterson, and advising him that field examiners would arrive in Detroit within a few days.

Examination Is Requested.

To this Patterson said the examination had been requested by the bank in connection with the proposed merger of the Guardian Detroit bank with the National Bank of Commerce.

That "policy" loans were extended by the national bank of commerce to "judges of the courts, referees in bankruptcy, and other political officials."

That R. L. Hopkins, a national bank examiner who later became employed by the guardian group, recommended "leniency" to the controller of the currency in dealing with these banks.

That a national bank examiner sent a warning to the comptroller of the currency of the condition of the national bank of commerce in May, 1932, nine months before the Michigan banking holiday.

That the national bank of commerce extended loans for the specific purpose of speculation in stock markets.

Criticizes "Policy" Loans.

A directors' committee of the National Bank of Commerce, in its report criticizing loans, said:

"The committee finds in the list of bad loans a great many so-called policy loans. Judges of courts, referees in bankruptcy and other political officials have been extended substantial credit. Many of these loans are doubtful."

Pecora dwelt at length on the large amounts of group stock held by the unit banks as collateral on loans, but Patterson would not agree with his suggestion the policy amounted to a "circumvention of the law."

When confronted with a number of reports of national bank examiners to the comptroller criticizing the holdings, two of which expressed the opinion the policy amounted to circumvention, Patterson insisted that serious efforts had been made to reduce the holdings.

First Defends Dividend.

Patterson at first defended the final dividend of $150,000 declared by the Guardian National Bank of Commerce in the last quarter of 1932 and said he believed that at that time earnings justified it.

He agreed later with Pecora, however, that the evidence the committee counsel introduced regarding the condition of the institution apparently did not warrant such a payment.

Pecora had quoted from a report made by W. A. Regan, national bank examiner on Nov. 9, 1932, prior to the declaration of the dividend, listing slow assets of $25,388,682, doubtful assets of $18,692,875 and losses of $546,942.

"Doubtful loans themselves actually exceed the entire capital funds of something over $17,000,000," Pecora said. "Did that indicate to you the bank's condition warranted a dividend?"

The banker said he did not know at that time such a condition existed.

Upper Avenue Bank Has an Increase in Deposits

The Upper Avenue bank yesterday reported its deposits as of Dec. 30, 1933 were $2,018,985 compared with $1,992,558 Dec. 31, 1932, and $1,813,000 Sept. 29, 1933. Cash due from banks Dec. 30, 1933 stood at $569,240 compared with $482,626 a year ago.

11 Firms Take Special Action on Dividends

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company ordered 87½ cents on preferred stock. In January last year the company voted one-half share of Radio Corporation of America common stock, or $3.50 a share in cash, to satisfy preference dividends for 1933.

Two Mines Vote Extras.

Two mining concerns approved extra dividends, Homestake Mining company declaring a special of $1 and Dome Mines, Ltd., 25 cents extra. Draper corporation announced a special payment of 60 cents. Security Storage company voted an extra cash disbursement of $30 and First National Bank of Baltimore declared an extra of 50 cents.

St Louis Stock Yards company voted $2.25 a share, while in the previous three-quarters $1.25 was paid, before which the stock paid $8 annually. Dennison Manufacturing company approved a $3 distribution on its 8 per cent debenture stock, on account of accumulations, against the last previous disbursement of $4, paid Feb. 1 last.

Pay on Arrearage.

Ohio Brass company ordered two preference dividends of $1.50 each. The last payment of the same amount was made July 15, 1932. Sanford Mills' directors voted $1 a share, compared with 50 cents paid last September. The Chicago Daily News ordered 50 cents on common. The last dividend, amounting to $1 a share, was disbursed July 1, 1933.

A quarterly disbursement of 35 cents was ordered on common by the Marlin-Rockwell corporation, against 25 cents paid previously.

NEW YORK HALTS LOSS IN PHONE INSTALLATIONS

New York, Jan. 3.—(AP)—The New York Telephone company maintained an almost even balance between installations and cancellations during December, losing only 16 stations after having lost 1,341 in November.

This compares with a net loss of 16,285 in December, 1932. For the calendar year 1933 the total loss of telephones to the New York company, which normally operates 20 per cent of the entire number in the Bell system, was 116,732, compared with a loss of 245,140 in 1932.

After two years of continuous decline in the number of stations, the New York company reported a gain of 9,912 stations in September, 1933, and this was followed by a net gain of 1,899 in October.

TAX COLLECTOR MAILS 350,000 INCOME BLANKS

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue for the Chicago district, announced yesterday that he had completed the work of mailing 350,000 income tax blanks to individuals and corporations in northern Illinois. The deadline for filing returns is March 15.

Miss Elizabeth Eckert, chief clerk in the internal revenue office, announced that the number of blanks sent out is 33,000 greater than last year. She said the figure is based on the increase in the number of returns filed last year, larger because of the removal of certain exemptions. The income tax this year is the same as last year—4 per cent on incomes up to $4,000 a year; 8 per cent on incomes from $4,000 up, and a graduating surtax from $6,000 up.

M'HUGH TO QUIT AS OFFICIAL OF CHASE NATIONAL

New York, Jan. 3.—(AP)—John McHugh will retire as chairman of the executive committee of the Chase National bank next week and will also withdraw as a director with the expiration of his term, it was announced today.

It was stated by the bank that McHugh, who has had official connection with it for many years, had advised the directors that he desired not to be reëlected at the annual meeting next week.

McHugh will continue many of his financial activities despite his retirement from Chase, it was stated. He will continue as chairman of the Discount corporation and retain his other directorships.

Italy Will Offer 4 Billion Lire Loan on January 10

ROME, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Bankers and government officials completed preparations during a conference today for the flotation of a treasury loan of four billion lire (approximately $320,000,000) to retire the long term treasury bonds due this year. The new bonds will carry 4 per cent interest, compared with the 5 per cent on the bonds to be retired, and will mature in nine years. They will be offered to the public Jan. 10 by a consortium headed by the Bank of Italy.

DISCLOSE PLAN FOR MERGER OF TRANSIT LINES

Financial Setup Is Given U. S. Court.

A traction merger reorganization plan, to which the financial interests of the surface and elevated lines have agreed, was presented to Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday. The event was regarded as heralding the probable solution of Chicago's long debated transit problem within the next few months. Carried to completion the plan will merge Chicago's transportation lines into a unified system with a universal transfer privilege and other expected improvements.

The plan was presented by Attorney Walter L. Fisher at a hearing called by Judge Wilkerson. It embodies the setup under which the securities of the new unified company will be allocated in exchange for the bonds and stocks of the existing separate companies. Actually, the new setup is an amendment of the so-called Insull reorganization plan which was drafted in 1930 but never put into effect due to economic conditions.

Continues Hearing to Friday.

In presenting the plan Attorney Fisher disclosed that several details remain to be worked out. Thereupon Judge Wilkerson continued the hearing until Friday morning after spokesmen for the first mortgage bond interests assured him that the points of difference could be settled within 48 hours.

Mr. Fisher, a traction expert, was appointed several months ago by the court to effect a reorganization plan when it appeared no progress was being made by the protective bond committees.

The hearing yesterday had been set to receive a report on the status of the negotiations and to consider payment of foreclosure suit fees to attorneys, as well as the payment of interest on first mortgage bonds of the Chicago Surface Lines company. During the session Judge Wilkerson announced that no more interest would be paid to bondholders or fees to the attorneys unless the traction merger is carried forward to completion.

Court Must Approve Plan.

Judge Wilkerson also told the battery of attorneys who were present as representatives of some 15 bond committees and the federal receivers of the traction properties that any reorganization plan must have the tentative approval of the court before application is made to the city council for an extension of the Jan. 31 deadline for acceptance of the unification ordinance. It is expected that the extension will be granted to give time for the necessary legal details of the final merger plan.

The top securities are termed unified mortgage bonds bearing 5 per cent interest and maturing in twenty-five years. The first mortgage bonds of the surface lines, which total $75,626,250 par value, will be exchanged for a like amount of unified mortgage bonds of the new company. Holders of the elevated first mortgage bonds, which total $46,429,600, will receive in exchange unified mortgage bonds for 20 per cent of the face value of the old bonds, series A 4½ per cent refunding income bonds for 30 per cent of the face value of the old bonds and series B refunding income bonds for 50 per cent.

Two Classes of Common Stock.

The refunding bonds and two classes of common stock of no par value will be given holders of the junior transit securities. These securities are junior to the unified mortgage bonds which will bear fixed interest rates. Interest payments on the refunding bonds will depend upon the earnings of the new company in excess of the fixed charges. The fixed charges embrace the payment of interest on the unified bonds and amortization costs.

The unified mortgage securities of the new company, however, may be made junior to new mortgage bonds to be issued to raise money needed for extensions and other costs. In his report Attorney Fisher stated that a committee headed by Guy A. Richardson, receiver for the surface lines, estimated that $15,000,000 in new money would be needed for necessary extensions and improvements.

Total of New Securities.

In the new setup the aggregate of unified mortgage bonds to be issued is $84,912,170; general refunding income bonds, series A total $55,993,455, and general refunding income bonds, series B total $41,645,422. In addition there would be issued, also in the ex-

New York, Jan. 3.—The listed bond market moved forward again today, with United States government bonds and foreign loans, notably German issues, leading the way. United States government long term issues advanced 1-32 to 19-32 point with the exceptions of the treasury 3¾s, and the called Fourth Liberty 4¼s, which were unchanged and down 1-32, respectively.

Domestic corporation bonds showed relatively small gains on the average, but utility bonds were easier. A number of industrial issues scored advances of a point or more in active dealings.

Germans Up 1 to Several Points.

Most of the German loans were pushed up 1 to more than 7 points. The two day advance in this division was attributed mainly to the fact that Washington had protested to Germany against further reduction of cash interest payments on German dollar bonds. German issues of all classes shared in the recovery. In general, the major gains accrued to the lowest priced issues.

French government loans were up half a point to 3½ points, United Kingdom issues were unchanged to fractionally higher, and Italian government 7s held unchanged at par.

Trading Shows Expansion.

Trading as a whole showed considerable expansion over recent sessions, although the turnover of slightly more than $12,000,000 was regarded as only about normal for these times.

Domestic bonds on the curb exchange manifested a better degree of strength than did issues of like classification on the big board. Virtually all of the German loans on the curb were advanced 1 to more than 7 points.

Continental Motor.

Investors' Guide: I would very much appreciate being advised regarding Continental Motor company.—B. C. W.

Answer: Continental Motors corporation has since 1902 been the leading independent manufacturer of engines for motor vehicles and stationary industrial and farm purposes. The trend of the larger automobile manufacturers towards manufacture of their own engines and the high mortality rate and lower takings of smaller manufacturers during the last few years resulted in a sharp slump in the company's business. To offset this the management purchased the assets of De Vaux-Hall Motors corporation and entered the automobile business in January, 1933.

This new phase of the company's business has been hampered by reduced working capital. The company must compete with long established, well financed units, such as General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler, in its new field. It offers its four cylinder car, one of the lowest priced on the market, at retail and by mail order. The six cylinder units are offered in the conventional manner through retail dealers.

Loss of $1,433,000 in the six months to April, 1933, compared with a loss of $1,027,000 in the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year. These figures compare with losses of $2,754,000 for the year ended Oct. 31, 1932; $1,899,000 for the preceding year, and $2,038,000 for the Oct. 31, 1930, year. Net income in the 1929 year was $711,000, or 34 cents per common share.

On May 31, 1933, current assets, including cash assets of $464,000, amounted to $2,459,000, and current liabilities were $878,000. Working capital was $1,581,000, against $3,001,000 on Oct. 31, 1932; $6,431,000 on Oct. 31, 1930, and $11,740,000 at the close of the 1928 year.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 2,091,100 shares of no par capital stock, on which nothing has been paid since 1929. A special meeting is scheduled for Jan. 17, at which time stockholders will vote on the proposition to place a par value of $1 on the capital stock and transfer the balance to capital surplus to make necessary chargeoffs, wipe out the balance sheet deficit, etc., and will vote on the proposed $5,000,000 three year 6 per cent first mortgage to be secured by all assets of the company.

Western Union.

Investors' Guide: Will you please advise me the quotation on Western Union stock as of March 4, 1933?—S. E.

Answer: There was no quotation on this stock on March 4, 1933, inauguration day. All securities markets were closed. On March 3, 1933, the stock was quoted at a high of 20⅞ and a low of 18¼. It closed at 20.

Correction.

On Jan. 1 an item stated that no dividend had been paid on stock of Chicago Flexible Shaft company since Oct. 1, 1931. A dividend of 25 cents a share was paid Dec. 30 to stock of record Dec. 12, 1933.

STOCKS DECLINE ON QUESTIONS OF FEDERAL PLANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 3.—Speculative Wall street was disappointed with the President's message to congress today and said so with a rather spectacular outburst of selling orders on the stock exchange just before market closing time. Prices were driven down 1 to 2 points throughout the list and the tape fell several jumps behind at the height of the flurry.

The main cause of the upset seemed to be the chief magistrate's pointed reference to speculation with other people's money and the implications read into it by some the more agile minded "interpreters" of the trading fraternity. Many thought they foresaw possible White House backing for some of the stock market regulation suggestions which have been agitating the financial district on account of late.

Money Doubts Big Factor.

Another source of concern was the message's lack of a statement clarifying the administration's monetary policy, just now the big problem of the hour from Wall street's viewpoint. Many had hoped the President might see fit to take the country into his confidence on this all important matter with the opening of congress.

Uncertainty over the tenor of the message had kept the market idling within a comparatively narrow range for some days. During the early hours today trading almost came to a standstill as all hands "stood by" to await the big event.

Operations came to a complete halt as the President arrived at the capitol and prepared to deliver his address and dragged along on a few dribbling orders as the text of the speech came over the air. Specially installed radios carried the words into brokerage board rooms throughout the financial district, and each one was the center of a cluster of keenly interested traders while the message was being read.

Slight Rally at Close.

With the conclusion of the address the market began to gather momentum and trading continued at a swift pace from then on to the close, with prices gradually easing off in all departments. A few minutes before the final gong some support appeared for the leaders, however, enabling most of them to finish the session slightly above their lows of the day.

The proposals of Gov. Herbert H. Lehman in his opening speech to the New York legislature for municipal ownership of utilities in this state brought a veritable storm of selling orders into the power and light shares and this helped to weigh down the whole market. American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Brooklyn Union Gas, and other utility issues affected by the proposal sold off 1 to 2 points.

The motor shares, which have been going along so nicely, suffered with the rest, Chrysler and General Motors dropping nearly a point each from their highs of the day.

Railroad and rail equipment descriptions eased a point or so.

SECURITY MART STUDY REPORTED NEARLY FINISHED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 3.—The Twentieth Century fund, which is financed by Edward A. Filene of Boston, announces that the survey of the security markets, which it has been preparing for several months, was nearing completion.

While the text of the final report will not be published for several weeks, a summary of facts revealed by the study and a program of recommendations for action based upon them will probably be available soon, it was stated. The work is being rushed so that the conclusions and recommendations will be at hand when and if congress takes up legislation to regulate the security markets or the brokers.

The objects of the survey are widely different from those sought in the investigation of the security markets that has been undertaken by the senate committee on banking and currency. Its work differs also from that of the interdepartmental committee headed by John Dickins, assistant secretary of commerce, which is studying proposals for regulating the markets, it was stated.

Brokers' Collateral Loans Show Increase at New York

EARLY BULGE IN GRAINS IS LOST; CLOSE IS LOWER

Selling Movement Follows President's Address.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Failure of President Roosevelt in his message to congress to present a concrete monetary policy started a selling movement in grains late yesterday that sent wheat down 2¼ to 2⅜ cents from the early high. Corn dropped 1⅝ to 1⅞ cents from the top.

The message was construed as negative as far as immediate effect on the market was concerned. Many local professionals had bought early in anticipation of radical suggestions, and when they turned to the selling side they found a somewhat oversold condition.

Wheat Sharply Lower.

May wheat, which had touched 86¼ cents early, dropped to 83¾ cents, uncovering stop loss orders on the way down. May corn after being a fraction higher at 52¾ cents declined to 50⅝ cents. A moderate rally came from the inside figures, but the close was ¾ to 1⅝ cents lower on wheat, with May 84¼ to 84¼ cents and July 82⅝ to 82¾ cents.

Corn was off 1⅛ to 1¼ cents, oats lost ⅛ to ½ cent, while rye was 1 to 1¼ cents lower. Trade in barley was light and the close was 1⅞ to 2 cents lower.

Technical position of the market was regarded as having been weakened by the early advance Wednesday, and much long wheat came out on the way down. A majority of operators were said to have well evened up by closing. Trade during the fore part of the session was extremely slow and the markets easily influenced.

Winnipeg Moves Higher.

A better export demand for Canadian cash wheat had considerable influence on the Winnipeg market, which gained ⅛ to ¼ cent in Canadian funds, with sales abroad estimated at 500,000 bushels or more. Liverpool was ⅛ to ⅝ cent higher at the last.

Arrivals of corn were only 27 cars, while primary points had 425,000 bushels, compared with 370,000 bushels a year ago when one of the greatest holding movements was under way.

Marked improvement was reported in eastern demand for cash corn Wednesday, local handlers selling 207,000 bushels. Purchases to arrive were 12,000 bushels, the largest in nearly three weeks.

Wheat More than Double Price Level of Year Ago

The average price paid to United States farmers for wheat for the week ended Jan. 1, was 67.9 cents a bushel compared with 69.7 cents a month ago and 30.6 cents a year ago, Nat C. Murray, Clement Curtis & Co., statistician, reported yesterday. Corn averaged 41.1 cents against 38.9 cents a month ago and 17.2 cents a year ago. Oats averaged 31.2 cents compared with 29.7 cents a month ago and 11.6 cents a year ago.

Terra Cotta Reorganization to Care for Unpaid Taxes

Hearing on the reorganization plans for the Northwestern Terra Cotta company were continued until Jan. 9 by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today. The judge instructed the attorneys to make provision in the plan for payment of $140,000 of back taxes. The plan contemplates the formation of a new company and an exchange of securities with stockholders of the old company which has been in receivership for two years.

American-Japanese Trade Council Is Formed in U. S.

New York, Jan. 3.—Formation of the American-Japanese trade council, composed of representatives of American and Japanese business interests in New York and other large cities, is announced by the national foreign trade council.

BUTTER AND EGG FUTURES EASE; POTATOES HIGHER

Butter withdrawals were somewhat less than expected. The movement out was only 1,500 lbs more than last year. Prices were lower on the opening sales, and the market was under moderate pressure most of the day.

RAILWAY FREIGHT VOLUME EXCEEDS 1932 LAST WEEK

Declines Suffered from Preceding Week.

Car loadings for the week ended Dec. 30 are sharply ahead of the total for the corresponding week of 1932, reports from a number of railroads show. It was indicated that the total for the week will be close to that reported for the corresponding week of 1931 if it does not exceed the figure of two years ago.

Loadings for the week were behind those of the preceding week due to the decline immediately preceding the holidays.

The New York Central handled 73,541 cars, compared with 66,497 in the parallel week of 1932 and with 88,539 in the preceding week of this year. Southern Pacific handled 14,281 cars, compared with 12,169 and 17,584, respectively.

Cars hauled by the Missouri Pacific totaled 15,710, compared with 14,608 in the like week of 1932 and with 18,398 in the preceding week. The Missouri-Kansas-Texas handled 5,567, compared with 5,009 and 6,609.

Wabash loadings totaled 9,172 cars, compared with 8,630 a year ago and 31,395 in the preceding week. The Nickel Plate handled 9,109, compared with 11,031 and 8,031.

The Illinois Central was one of the few roads to report a gain over both the preceding week and the parallel week of last year. This record was attributed to the recent cold spell and the consequent demand for coal. The road handled 22,535 cars in the week ended Dec. 30, compared with 22,392 cars in the preceding week and with 19,001 cars a year ago.

North Western Has Advance.

The North Western handled 16,490 cars in the week ended Dec. 30 compared with 14,516 in the like period of 1932 and with 19,783 in the preceding week of this year. The road handled 84,062 cars during December compared with 78,987 during the same month of 1932.

Cars handled by the Milwaukee road totaled 17,752 compared with 20,793 in the preceding week and with 16,113 in the like week of 1932. For December the road's total was 89,049 compared with 88,879 in December, 1932, and 94,537 in November, 1933.

The Santa Fe reported 16,665 cars in the week ended Dec. 30 compared with 20,595 in the like week of 1932, Chesapeake and Ohio freight loadings last week totaled 20,018 cars against 23,903 the previous week and 19,141 a year ago.

NATION'S STAKE ABROAD AMOUNTS TO 16½ BILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 3.—America's stake abroad, exclusive of so-called political commitments, at the beginning of 1934 amounts to $16,715,427,500, compared with 17 billion 164 million dollars on Jan. 1, 1933; with 17 billion 968 million dollars on Jan. 1, 1932, and with 2 billion 625 million dollars on Jan. 1, 1914, according to a study by Max Winkler of the stock exchange firm of Bernard, Winkler & Co.

Computations are made after allowing for refunding operations in respect to foreign loans already outstanding in the American market, for retirement of bonds through sinking fund operations, for the repurchase of existing commitments by foreign debtors, and for the repatriation of issues by foreign obligors either directly or through intermediaries.

In the current estimate the stake in Europe is given at 4 billion 882 million dollars; Canada, 4 billion, 537 million dollars; South America, 3 billion 27 million dollars; Australia, 824 million dollars, and miscellaneous, 440 million dollars.
